The Nature of Nebraska Paul A. Johnsgard,2005-01-01 Where the eastern and western currents of American life merge as smoothly as one river flows into another is a place called Nebraska There we find the Platte a river that gave sustenance to the countless migrants who once trudged westward along the Mormon and Oregon trails We find the Sandhills a vast region of sandy grassland that represents the largest area of dunes and the grandest and least disturbed region of mixed grass prairies in all the Western Hemisphere And below it all we find the Ogallala aquifer the largest potential source of unpolluted water anywhere These ecological treasures are all part of the nature of Nebraska With characteristic clarity energy and charm Paul A Johnsgard guides us through Nebraska s incredible biodiversity introducing us to each ecosystem and the flora and fauna it sustains and inviting us to contemplate the purpose and secrets of the natural world as we consider our own roles and responsibilities in our connection with it Journal of Agricultural Research ,1925 Croft's New Overland Tourist, and Pacific Coast Guide ... George A. Croft,1882 The present book describes more than four times the extent of country of any book heretofore published and is profusely illustrated by nearly 100 beautiful engravings most of which were photographed designed drawn and engraved expressly for the author of this work It also contains the best and most complete map in colors ever published The preface Mountains and Plains Dennis H. Knight,George P. Jones,William A. Reiners,William H. Romme,2014-01-01 Many changessome discouraging others hopefulhave occurred in the Rocky Mountain region since the first edition of this widely acclaimed book was published Wildlife habitat has become more fragmented once abundant sage grouse are now scarce and forest fires occur more frequently At the same time wolves have been successfully reintroduced and new approaches to conservation have been adopted For this updated and expanded Second Edition the authors provide a highly readable synthesis of research undertaken in the past two decades and address two important questions How can ecosystems be used so that future generations benefit from them as we have How can we anticipate and adapt to climate changes while conserving biological diversity Scribner's Magazine ... ,1925 Scribner's Magazine Edward Livermore Burlingame,Robert Bridges,Alfred Sheppard Dashiell,Harlan Logan,1925 This Fragile Land Paul A. Johnsgard,1995-01-01 The Nebraska Sandhills is the largest area of sand dunes in the western hemisphere covering an area about as large as Vermont New Hampshire and Rhode Island combined Unlike most dunes the Sandhills region supports an astonishing variety of wildlife Sixty million years ago the area lay submerged in a vast inland sea As the land lifted and the waters receded the sandhills were formed built upon a sandy floor above a sandy basement Paul A Johnsgard s appreciation for the region includes its evolution a process that continues today making a very special place patiently shaped by water wind and time Sometimes 450 feet higher than their sloping valleys the hills themselves are almost entirely covered with plants that manage to survive on an unstable substrate and in a climate of merciless heat and cold They provide homes and resting places for rare species and sustain the livelihoods of a remarkable variety of people Though firmly established in science this book is an extended love letter to the Sandhills region and its people plants and animals Johnsgard is now in his third decade of research in the Sandhills This Fragile Land lets others see what he sees a land with a fascinating range of geological biological and ecological vistas Paul A Johnsgard is Foundation Professor of the School of Biological Sciences at the University of Nebraska Lincoln Widely published throughout the English speaking world he has become a foremost authority on ornithology and bird behavior His thirty three books include Birds of the Great Plains The Platte Birds of the Rocky Mountains Those of the Gray Wind and Diving Birds of North America all available from the University of Nebraska
