Settlement And Social Organization The Merovingian Region Of Metz:

Settlement and Social Organization Guy Halsall, 2002-09-05 This book examines one region of north eastern Gaul around Metz in the period between the end of the Roman Empire and the accession of Charlemagne It adopts a new multi disciplinary approach using all available evidence both documentary and archaeological It deals with a broad range of historical themes and by looking at the reasons behind the creation of different forms of evidence it examines how the different facets of social organisation ethnicity gender age and social hierarchy were related intimately to each other and to contemporary settlement patterns of the region As a result it is argued that the Merovingian period was not one of slow transformation from Roman to medieval but was one of constant dynamic social change and diversity even between the recognised periods of dramatic upheaval

The Dark Queens Shelley Puhak, 2022-02-22 National Bestseller A well researched and well told epic history The Dark Queens brings these courageous flawed and ruthless rulers and their distant times back to life Margot Lee Shetterly New York Times bestselling author of Hidden Figures The remarkable little known story of two trailblazing women in the Early Middle Ages who wielded immense power only to be vilified for daring to rule Brunhild was a foreign princess raised to be married off for the sake of alliance building Her sister in law Fredegund started out as a lowly palace slave And yet in sixth century Merovingian France where women were excluded from noble succession and royal politics was a blood sport these two iron willed strategists reigned over vast realms changing the face of Europe The two queens commanded armies and negotiated with kings and popes They formed coalitions and broke them mothered children and lost them They fought a decades long civil war against each other With ingenuity and skill they battled to stay alive in the game of statecraft and in the process laid the foundations of what would one day be Charlemagne s empire Yet after the queens deaths one gentle the other horrific their stories were rewritten their names consigned to slander and legend In The Dark Queens award winning writer Shelley Puhak sets the record straight She resurrects two very real women in all their complexity painting a richly detailed portrait of an unfamiliar time and striking at the roots of some of our culture s stubbornest myths about female power The Dark Queens offers proof that the relationships between women can transform the world

From Roman Provinces to Medieval Kingdoms Thomas F. X. Noble, 2006 This prestigious collection of essays by leading scholars provides a thorough reassessment of the medieval era which questions how when and why the Middle Ages began and how abruptly the shift from the Roman Empire to Barbarian Europe happened Presenting the most current work including newly available material such as translations of French and German essays From Roman Provinces to Medieval Kingdoms gathers the key thinkers in the field together in one easy to use volume Examining a wealth of material on the origins of the Barbarian people and their tribes Thomas F X Noble studies the characteristics of the tribes and debates whether they were blood tied clans or units bound by social political and economic objectives Highly readable and student friendly From Roman Provinces to Medieval Kingdoms includes a general introduction clear prologues to each section and makes the key debates of the subject accessible to students Warfare, Crusade and Conquest in the Middle Ages John France, 2023-04-21 This volume brings together a series of articles by John France published over a span of more than forty years covering a number of aspects of the military and crusading history of the Middle Ages both in Europe and the Near East An interest in understanding how war worked and why informs a first group of articles ranging from Carolingian armies to the organisation of war in the 13th century The focus then turns to the Crusades the most ambitious conquests of the era with a set of studies on the First Crusade and others on the manner and conduct of warfare in the territories of the Latin East The volume also includes a major unpublished analysis co authored with Nicholas Morton of the problems faced by the local Islamic powers in the early Crusading period reminding us that an army is only as strong as its enemies permit and suggesting that the crusaders should be seen in this light Thinking through the Body Yannis Hamilakis, Mark Pluciennik, Sarah Tarlow, 2002 What is the archaeology of the body and how can it change the way we experience the past This book one of the first to appear on the subject records and evaluates the emergence of this new direction of cross disciplinary research and examines the potential of incorporating some of its insights into archaeology It will be of interest to students researchers and teachers in archaeology as well as in cognate disciplines such as anthropology and history

Archaeology at the Millennium Gary M. Feinman, T. Douglas Price, 2007-09-27 In this book internationally distinguished contributors consider hot topics in turn of the millennium archaeology and chart an ambitious agenda for the future Frankish History Paul Fouracre, 2024-10-28 The volume consists of sixteen papers on the history of Francia between the seventh and eleventh centuries Originally published between 1979 and 2009 the papers are arranged around three interlinking themes the relationship between History and Hagiography the history of Francia under the respective regimes of the Merovingian and Carolingian kings and the problem of how states with weak governing institutions were able to exercise power over large areas The history of Francia has been one of the most productive areas of early medieval history over the past two generations Models of European development have been based on its rich materials and the fact that the polity lasted for half a millennium makes it a prime area for the study of the dialectic between continuity and change The papers collected here all have this big history as their background It is to be hoped that keying into such questions makes them both accessible and useful for students and teachers alike A Companion to the Early Middle Ages Pauline Stafford, 2013-03-26 Drawing on 28 original essays A Companion to the Early Middle Ages takes an inclusive approach to the history of Britain and Ireland from c 500 to c 1100 to overcome artificial distinctions of modern national boundaries A collaborative history from leading scholars covering the key debates and issues Surveys the building blocks of political society and considers whether there were fundamental differences across Britain and Ireland Considers potential factors for change including the economy Christianisation and the Vikings Warfare and Society in the Barbarian West 450-900 Guy Halsall, 2008-01-28 Guy Halsall relates warfare to many aspects of medieval life economy society and politics This book recovers its distinctiveness looking at warfare in a rounded context in the British Isles and Western Europe between the end of the Roman Empire and the break up of the Carolingian Empire Examining the raising and organization of early medieval armies and looks at the conduct of campaigns the survey also includes a study of the equipment of warriors and the horrific experience of battle as well as an analysis of medieval fortifications and siege warfare Warfare and Society in the Barbarian West uses historical and archaeological evidence in a rigorous and sophisticated fashion It stresses regional variations but also places Anglo Saxon England in the mainstream of the military developments in this era and in the process provides an outstanding resource for students of all levels

Wills and Will-making in Anglo-Saxon England Linda Tollerton, 2011 A study of the implications and practices of wills and will making in Anglo Saxon society and of the varieties of inheritance strategies and commemorative arrangements adopted A remarkable series of Anglo Saxon wills have survived spanning the period from the beginning of the ninth century to the years immediately following the Norman Conquest Written in Old English they reflect the significance of the vernacular not only in royal administration during this period but in the recording of a range of individual transactions They show wealthy laymen and women and clerics from kings and bishops to those of thegns status disposing of land and chattels and recognising ties of kinship friendship lordship and service through their bequests and whilst land is of prime importance the mention in some wills of such valuable items as tableware furnishings clothing jewellery and weapons provides an insight into lifestyle at the time Despite their importance no study has hitherto been specifically devoted to Anglo Saxon wills in their social and historical context a gap which this book aims to fill While the wills themselves can be vague and allusive by establishing patterns of bequeathing and by drawing on other resources the author sheds light on the factors which influenced men and women in making appropriate provision for their property Linda Tollerton gained her PhD from the University of York

Early Medieval Settlements Helena Hamerow, 2004 This is an overview and synthesis of the extensive and rapidly growing body of archaeological evidence for early medieval buildings settlements farming craft production and trade among the rural communities of north west Europe

Tongeren during the Late Roman Period and Early Middle Ages, c. 300-750 CE Steven Vandewal, 2024-12-16 The traditional picture is that there is little information about Tongeren the capital of the civitas Tungrorum in Roman times from Late Antiquity onwards In the last twenty years or so very cautiously voices have been raised to nuance the story of the general decline of Tongeren from the beginning of the fifth century A recurring question is whether Tongeren remained inhabited and what its function might have been A key site is the Roman basilica the predecessor of an early medieval church A key figure is the bishop whose seat was moved to neighbouring Maastricht in the sixth century Based on an extensive database a picture of late Roman Tongeren is drawn with its public and private buildings cemeteries and material finds While the number of finds is decreasing more historical sources are becoming available for the early Middle Ages For this period not only the re Christianisation is discussed but also the political religious and economic role that the former capital of the civitas could have played Due to its location one could state that in the civitas Tungrorum the Middle Ages started earlier than elsewhere because of the emergence of a Franko Roman society The Politics of Making Kinship Erdmute Alber, David Warren Sabeau, Simon Teuscher, Tatjana Thelen, 2022-12-09 The long tradition of Western political thought included kinship in models of public order but the social sciences excised it from theories of the state public sphere and democratic order Kinship has however neither completely disappeared from the political cultures of the West nor played the determining social and political role ascribed to it elsewhere Exploring the issues that arise once the divide between kinship and politics is no longer taken for granted The Politics of Making Kinship demonstrates how political processes have shaped concepts of kinship over time and conversely how political projects have been shaped by specific understandings idioms and uses of kinship Taking vantage points from the post Roman era to early modernity and from colonial imperialism to the fall of the Berlin Wall and beyond this international set of scholars place kinship centerstage and reintegrate it with political theory

Empires of Faith Peter Sarris, 2011-10-27 A panoramic account of the history of Europe the Mediterranean and the Near East from the fall of Rome to the rise of Islam Masculinity in Medieval Europe Dawn Hadley, 2015-12-14 An original and highly accessible collection of essays which is based on a huge range of historical sources to reveal the realities of mens lives in the Middle Ages It covers an impressive geographical range including essays on Italy France Germany and Byzantium and will span the entire medieval period from the fourth to the fifteenth century The collection is divided into four main sections attaining masculinity lay men and churchmen sources of tension sexuality and the construction of masculinity and written relationships and social reality The contributors are Dawn Hadley Jenny Moore William M Aird Jeremy Goldberg Matthew Bennet Janet Nelson Conrad Leyser Robert Swanson Patricia Cullum Ross Balzaretta Shaun Tougher Julian Haseldine Marianne Ailes and Mark Chinca Mercenaries and Paid Men John France, 2008-01-01 Why were mercenaries such a commonplace of war in the medieval and early modern periods and why have they traditionally been so poorly regarded Who were mercenaries and how were they distinguished from other soldiers The contributors to this volume attempt to cast light on these questions The Age of Charles Martel Paul Fouracre, 2016-09-17 First glorified as the Saviour of Christendom and then vilified as an enemy of the Church Charles Martel s career has been written and rewritten from the time of his descendents This important new study draws on strictly contemporary sources to assess his real achievements and offers new insights into a fascinating period Topographies of Power in the Early Middle Ages Mayke de Jong, Frans Theuvs, 2001-06-28 The 19 papers presented in this volume by North American and European historians and archaeologists discuss how early medieval political and religious elites constructed places of power and how such places in turn created powerful people They also examine how the high level power exercised by elites was transformed in the post Roman kingdoms of Europe as Roman cities gave way as central stages for rituals of power to a multitude of places and spaces where political and religious power were represented Although the Frankish kingdoms receive a large share of attention contributions also focus on the changing topography of power in the old centres of the Roman world Rome and Constantinople to what centres of power may have meant in the steppes of Inner Asia Scandinavia or the lower Vistula where political power was even more mobile and decentralised than in the post Roman kingdoms as well as to monasteries and their integration into early medieval topographies of power Early Carolingian Warfare Bernard S. Bachrach, 2011-03-08

Without the complex military machine that his forebears had built up over the course of the eighth century it would have been impossible for Charlemagne to revive the Roman empire in the West Early Carolingian Warfare is the first book length study of how the Frankish dynasty beginning with Pippin II established its power and cultivated its military expertise in order to reestablish the regnum Francorum a geographical area of the late Roman period that includes much of present day France and western Germany Bernard Bachrach has thoroughly examined contemporary sources including court chronicles military handbooks and late Roman histories and manuals to establish how the early Carolingians used their legacy of political and military techniques and strategies forged in imperial Rome to regain control in the West Pippin II and his successors were not diverted by opportunities for financial enrichment in the short term through raids and campaigns outside of the regnum Francorum they focused on conquest with sagacious sensibilities preferring bloodless diplomatic solutions to unnecessarily destructive warfare and disdained military glory for its own sake But when they had to deploy their military forces their operations were brutal and efficient Their training was exceptionally well developed and their techniques included hand to hand combat regimented troop movements fighting on horseback with specialized mounted soldiers and the execution of lengthy sieges employing artillery In order to sustain their long term strategy the early Carolingians relied on a late Roman model whereby soldiers were recruited from among the militarized population who were required by law to serve outside their immediate communities The ability to mass and train large armies from among farmers and urban dwellers gave the Carolingians the necessary power to lay siege to the old Roman fortress cities that dominated the military topography of the West Bachrach includes fresh accounts of Charles Martel's defeat of the Muslims at Poitiers in 732 and Pippin's successful siege of Bourges in 762 demonstrating that in the matter of warfare there never was a western European Dark Age that ultimately was enlightened by some later Renaissance The early Carolingians built upon surviving military institutions adopted late antique technology and effectively utilized their classical intellectual inheritance to prepare the way militarily for Charlemagne's empire Law and Authority in the Early Middle Ages Thomas Faulkner, 2016-02-15 The barbarian law codes compiled between the sixth and eighth centuries were copied remarkably frequently in the Carolingian ninth century They provide crucial evidence for early medieval society including the settlement of disputes the nature of political authority literacy and the construction of ethnic identities Yet it has proved extremely difficult to establish why the codes were copied in the ninth century how they were read and how their rich evidence should be used Thomas Faulkner tackles these questions more systematically than ever before proposing new understandings of the relationship between the making of law and royal power and the reading of law and the maintenance of ethnic identities Faulkner suggests major reinterpretations of central texts including the Carolingian law codes the capitularies adding to the laws and Carolingian revisions of earlier barbarian and Roman laws He also provides detailed analysis of legal manuscripts especially those associated with the leges scriptorium
