Seven Studies of Life D. Marvin Glick, Myra M. Neimeier, Nancy C. Aiello, 1998 The Process of Science D. Marvin Glick, Myra Mergler Niemeier, Nancy C. Aiello, 2019 For more than twenty five years Seven Studies of Life has provided tens of thousands of biology majors and non majors with a one semester inquiry based laboratory course covering seven core topics in biology Each study is introduced from a historical perspective and contains simple yet elegant experiments that foster student collaboration and discovery but require individual accountability The use of several live organisms in multiple contexts makes this manual very cost effective Rather than memorizing facts students learn to formulate hypotheses collect and analyze data and draw conclusions Each study helps students to view the process of science as a practical approach to problem solving as they build a specific knowledge base The authors have given special attention to the clear presentation of difficult concepts while minimizing the use of technical language Each study spans one to five laboratory periods Twelve two hour and forty minute laboratory periods are required to complete all the studies in the manual but instructors can select specific exercises within each study to accommodate shorter periods The five week study on inheritance is designed to run concurrently with other studies Amazon com

Evaluating Critical Care William J. Sibbald, Julian F. Bion, 2012-12-06 Measuring the quality of a complex service like critical care that combines the highest technology with the most intimate caring is a challenge Recently consumers clinicians and payers have requested more formal assessments and comparisons of the quality and costs of medical care 2 Donabedian 1 proposed a framework for thinking about the quality of medical care that separates quality into three components structure process and outcome An instructive analogy for understanding this framework is to imagine a food critic evaluating the quality of a restaurant The critic might comment on the decoration and lighting of the restaurant how close the tables are to each other the extent of the wine list and where the chef trained These are all evaluations of the restaurant structure In addition the critic might comment on whether the service was courteous and timely measures of process Finally the critic might comment on outcomes like customer satisfaction or food poisoning Similarly to a health care critic structure is the physical and human resources used to deliver medical care Processes are the actual treatments offered to patients Finally outcomes are what happens to patients for example mortality quality of life and satisfaction with care

Table 1 There is a debate about which of these measurements is the most important measure of quality
