Salons, History, and the Creation of Seventeenth-century France Faith Evelyn Beasley, 2006 The first half of the book is a detailed study of how the salons influenced the development of literature Beasley argues that many women were not only writers they also served as critics for the literary sphere as a whole In the second half of the book Beasley examines how historians and literary critics subsequently portrayed the seventeenth century literary realm which became identified with the great reign of Louis XIV and designated the official canon of French literature Beasley argues that in a rewriting of this past the salons were reconfigured in order to advance an alternative view of this premier moment of French culture and of the literary masterpieces that developed out of it Through her analysis of how the seventeenth century salon has been defined and transmitted to posterity Beasley illuminates facets of France's collective memory and the powers that constituted it in the past and that are still working to define it today

The Other Rise of the Novel in Eighteenth-Century French Fiction Olivier Delers, 2015-09-01 The rise of the novel paradigm and the underlying homology between the rise of a bourgeois middle class and the coming of age of a new literary genre continues to influence the way we analyze economic discourse in the eighteenth century French novel Characters are often seen as portraying bourgeois values even when historiographical evidence points to the virtual absence of a self conscious and coherent bourgeoisie in France in the early modern period Likewise the fact that the nobility was a dynamic and diverse group whose members had learned to think in individualistic and meritocratic terms as a result of courtly politics is often ignored The Other Rise of the Novel calls for a radical revision of how realism the language of self interest and commercial exchanges and idealized noble values interact in the early modern novel It focuses on two novels from the seventeenth century Furetiere's Roman bourgeois and Lafayette's Princesse de Clèves and four novels from the eighteenth century Prevost's Manon Lescaut Graffigny's Lettres d'une Pruvienne Rousseau's La Nouvelle Héloïse and Sade's Les infortunes de la vertu It argues that eighteenth century French fiction does not reflect material culture mimetically and that character action is best analyzed by focusing on the social and discursive exchanges staged by the text rather than by trying to create parallels between specific behavior and actual historical changes The novel produces its own reality by transforming characters and their stories into alternative social models different articulations of how individuals should define their economic relations to others The representation of interpersonal relations often highlights personal conceptions of private interest that cannot be easily reconciled with the traditional narrative of a transition towards economic modernity Realism then is not only about verisimilar storytelling and psychological depth it is an epistemological questioning about the type of access to reality that a particular genre can give its readers

Generally Speaking Eviatar Zerubavel, 2021 In this invitation to concept driven sociology defying the conventional split between theory and methodology as well as between quantitative and qualitative research Eviatar Zerubavel introduces a yet unarticulated Simmelian method of theorizing specifically designed to reveal fundamental often hidden social patterns Insisting that it can actually be taught he examines the theoretico methodological process revolving around the epistemic and analytical acts of focusing generalizing exemplifying and analogizing by which concept driven researchers can distill generic social patterns from the culturally historically and domain specific contexts in which they encounter them empirically Disregarding conventionally noted substantive variability in order to uncover conventionally disregarded formal commonalities Generally Speaking draws on cross cultural cross historical cross domain and cross level analogies in an effort to reveal formal parallels across disparate contexts Using numerous examples from culturally and historically diverse contexts and a wide range of social domains while also disregarding scale Zerubavel thus introduces a pronouncedly transcontextual generic sociology

Social and Cultural Dynamics

Pitirim Sorokin, 2017-09-29 This classic work is a revised and abridged version in a single volume of the work which more than any other catapulted Pitirim Sorokin into being one of the most famed figures of twentieth century sociology Its original publication occurred before World War II This revised version written some twenty years later reflects a postwar environment Earlier than most Sorokin took the consequences of the breakdown of colonialism into account in discussing the renaissance of the great cultures of African and Asian civilization Other than perhaps F S C Northrop no individual better incorporated the new role of the Indian Chinese Japanese and Arabic peoples in this postwar world Sorokin came to view social and cultural dynamics in terms of three major processes a major shift of mankind's creative center from Europe to the Pacific a progressive disintegration of the sensate culture and finally the first blush of the emergence and growth of a new idealistic sociocultural order This volume is perhaps most famous for revealing Sorokin's remarkable efforts to understand the relationship of war and peace to the process of social and political change Contrary to received wisdom he shows that the magnitude and depth of war grows in periods of social cultural and territorial expansion by the nation In short war is just as often a function of development as it is of social decay This long unavailable volume remains one of the major touchstones by which we can judge efforts to create an international social science There are few areas of social or cultural life that are not covered from painting art and music to the ethos of universalism and particularism These are terms which Sorokin introduced into the literature long before the rise of functional doctrines For all those interested in cultural and historical processes this volume provides the essence of Sorokin's remarkably prescient effort to achieve sociological transcendence by taking Report of the Commissioner of Education concept of cultural history has in the last few decades come to the fore of historical research into early modern Europe Due in no small part to the pioneering work of Peter Burke the tools of the cultural historian are now routinely brought to bear on every aspect of history and have transformed our understanding of the past First published in 1978 this study examines the broad sweep of pre industrial Europe's popular culture From the world of the professional entertainer to the songs stories rituals and plays of ordinary people it shows how the attitudes and values of the otherwise inarticulate shaped and were shaped by the shifting social religious and political conditions of European society between 1500 and 1800 This third edition of Peter Burke's groundbreaking study has been published to mark the thirtieth anniversary of the book's publication in 1978 It provides a new introduction reflecting the growth of cultural history and its increasing influence on mainstream history as well as an extensive supplementary bibliography which further adds to the information about new research in the area

Convents and Nuns in Eighteenth-Century French Politics and Culture Mita Choudhury,2018-07-05 Representations of convents and nuns assumed power and urgency within the volatile political culture of eighteenth century France Drawing from a range of literary cultural and legal material Mita Choudhury analyzes how between 1730 and 1789 lawyers religious pamphleteers and men of letters repeatedly asked Who should control the female convent and women religious These sources chronicled the conflicts between nuns and the male clergy among nuns themselves and between nuns and their families conflicts that were presented to the public in the context of potent issues such as despotism citizenship female education and sexuality The cloister operated as a symbol of despotism the equivalent of the Sultan's seraglio or the King's Bastille Before 1770 lawyers and magistrates praised nuns as the personification of virtuous Christian women often victims vulnerable to those who would use them to further their own political ends After 1770 men of letters evaluated nuns according to more secular norms and concluded that the convent had no purpose in society except as a reminder of the problems inherent in the Old Regime Choudhury elaborates on how nuns were not always passive entities mere objects to be shaped by the political needs of others But because they relied on men in order to make their voices heard the place of women religious in the public sphere was a complex one based on negotiations between female action and male subjectivity During the French Revolution whatever support they had enjoyed was lost as republicans and moderates began to see nuns as potentially disruptive to the social order family life and revolutionary values
