Fluorescence Jennifer K. Dick, 2004 In Jennifer K Dick s first book Fluorescence very real places Paris Massachusetts Colorado Iowa Morocco mix into the imagined into Breughelian villages where there s a persimmon in the corner knitting These places are inhabited by varied but always very real bodies stretching outward from their own edges and encountering or engendering a certain luminescence in the process What happens when we exceed ourselves When fragments of dream are lifted to the surface and through to something beyond Clues keys indications all that once seemed certain slips off into code These poems use language to crack it

Zyzzyva ,2004 Dark Archive Laura Mullen, 2011-03-29 Dark archive The purpose of a dark archive is to function as a repository for information that can be used as a failsafe during disaster recovery Laura Mullen's fourth collection is a sequence of beautifully interrelated poems that explores how to accurately represent the reality of change and loss Mullen pinpoints what is at stake the possibility of communication and connection and the hope of intimacy Invoking Wordsworth s I wandered lonely as a cloud she pushes experiments in consciousness against their boundaries in an array of poetic forms Poetic tropes are measured against natural phenomena as Mullen examines what witness might mean in the context of the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina the failures of capitalism to effect social justice the murder of James Byrd in Texas the personal loss of a mother figure and a disintegrating love affair Virgil and the Mountain Cat David Lau, 2009-03-02 Virgil and the Mountain Cat David Lau s first book of poems evokes the shattering of Western civilization not its collapse but the tense apprehensive moment before the cracked vessel falls apart What commanded trust now provokes a nihilistic retaliatory mischief making poetic language in which the only redemptive element if there is one is what Alain Badiou calls the engine of excess in the greatest 20th century art excess of the kind that allows for change a revolution Lau s high voltage language is a measure of the passion of and for belief that has been lost Lau is a remarkable young poet Calvin Bedient author of Candy Necklace It's after the end of the world and David Lau is our last first poet of the future past When words have nowhere left to go they need a new Virgil to guide them sideways in time to where they can become ferociously fractal as the cry of a mountain cat The microtonal resistances of Lau s language both remove and remotivate meaning what the poet saw was raw war David Lau s work enacts a great refusal that lights fuses beneath the psycho political dome Andrew Joron author of The Sound Mirror The scary accomplishment of Virgil and the Mountain Cat is to remind a reader that poetry has the capacity to disturb rather than calm one s nervous system Lau s poems are knowing and proficient and care nothing for your feelings Punk in its spirit sure to prove alienating to most readers over thirty and spoken from a place deep inside the annotations this book is an unforgiving glimpse of the horizonless present Mark Levine author of The Wilds Green is the Orator Sarah Gridley, 2010-04-02 Green is the Orator follows on Sarah Gridley's brilliant first collection Weather Eye Open in addressing the challenge of representing nature through language Gridley's deftly original syntax arises from direct experience of the natural world and from encounters with other texts including the Egyptian Book of the Dead and the writings of Charles Darwin Peter Mark Roget William Morris William James and Henri Bergson Gridley's own idiom is compressed original and full of unexpected pleasures This unusual book at once austere and full of life reflects a penetrating mind at work one that is thinking through and re presenting romantic and modernist traditions of nature Subject Laura Mullen, 2005-04-01 Calvin Bedient calls the poetry in this volume solid and brave and relentlessly inventive Forrest Gander says The obsessive force of this poetry ruptured by caesura and stanza is remarkable Despite the considerable intellectual torque the poems concerned always with identity the borders of the I and the Here are quite funny in passages The drama of this work is gripping convulsive and intense Subject holds the mirror up to language attempting to find out and find ways out of the limits of the wor l ds we are sentenced to The lyric impulse exists but the surface is rough reflecting the violence of the effort to see into seeing itself the voice is ragged syntax is torn words have been broken into syllable and sound images dissolve the page holds out alternate visions and versions in double or triple columns leaving any would be univocal truth always in doubt
