A Theory of Nonviolent Action Stellan Vinthagen, 2015-11-15 In this ground breaking and much needed book Stellan Vinthagen provides the first major systematic attempt to develop a theory of nonviolent action since Gene Sharp's seminal The Politics of Nonviolent Action in 1973 Employing a rich collection of historical and contemporary social movements from various parts of the world as examples from the civil rights movement in America to anti Apartheid protestors in South Africa to Gandhi and his followers in India and addressing core theoretical issues concerning nonviolent action in an innovative penetrating way Vinthagen argues for a repertoire of nonviolence that combines resistance and construction Contrary to earlier research this repertoire consisting of dialogue facilitation normative regulation power breaking and utopian enactment is shown to be both multidimensional and contradictory creating difficult contradictions within nonviolence while simultaneously providing its creative and transformative force An important contribution in the field A Theory of Nonviolent Action is essential for anyone involved with nonviolent action who wants to think about what they are doing

EXPLOITED, UNDERVALUED - AND ESSENTIAL: DOMESTIC WORKERS AND THE REALISATION OF THEIR RIGHTS Darcy du Toit, 2013-11-18 Millions of domestic workers experience exploitation in the privacy of their employers homes also in South Africa they are to a large extent beyond the reach of legal protection This book sums up four years of research on ways of realising their rights It highlights their essential role both as care givers and in enabling their employers to work outside the home Against the background of the Constitution and international law it examines ways of adapting the legal framework as well as alternative mechanisms including new forms of organisation for translating basic rights into effective regulation

The Women, Gender and Development Reader Nalini Visvanathan, Lynn Duggan, Nan Wiegersma, Laurie Nisonoff, 2011-11-25 The Women Gender and Development Reader II is the definitive volume of literature dedicated to women in the development process Now in a fully revised second edition the editors expertly present the impacts of social political and economic change by reviewing such topical issues as migration persistent structural discrimination the global recession and climate change Approached from a multidisciplinary perspective the theoretical debates are vividly illustrated by an array of global case studies This now classic book has been designed as a comprehensive reader presenting the best of the now vast body of literature The book is divided into five parts incorporating readings from the leading experts and authorities in each field The result is a unique and extensive discussion a guide to the evolution of the field and a vital point of reference for those studying or with a keen interest in women in the development process

The New Humanitarians in International Practice Zeynep Sezgin, Dennis Dijkzeul, 2015-12-14 As humanitarian needs continue to grow rapidly humanitarian action has become more contested with new actors entering the field to address

unmet needs but also challenging long held principles and precepts This volume provides detailed empirical comparisons between emerging and traditional humanitarian actors It sheds light on why and how the emerging actors engage in humanitarian crises and how their activities are carried out and perceived in their transnational organizational environment It develops and applies a conceptual framework that fosters research on humanitarian actors and the humanitarian principles In particular it simultaneously refers to theories of organizational sociology and international relations to identify both the structural and the situational factors that influence the motivations aims and activities of these actors and their different levels of commitment to the traditional humanitarian principles It thus elucidates the role of the humanitarian principles in promoting coherence and coordination in the crowded and diverse world of humanitarian action and discusses whether alternative principles and parallel humanitarian systems are in the making This volume will be of great interest to postgraduate students and scholars in humanitarian studies globalization and transnationalism research organizational sociology international relations development studies and migration and diaspora studies as well as policy makers and practitioners engaged in humanitarian action development cooperation and migration issues International Development Corinna R. Unger, 2018-09-06 International Development A Postwar History offers the first concise historical overview of international development policies and practices in the 20th century Embracing a longue dur e perspective the book describes the emergence of the development field at the intersection of late colonialism the Second World War the onset of decolonization and the Cold War It discusses the role of international organizations colonial administrations national governments and transnational actors in the making of the field and it analyzes how the political intellectual and economic changes over the course of the postwar period affected the understanding of and expectations toward development By drawing on examples of development projects in different parts of the world and in different fields Corinna R Unger shows how the plurality of development experiences shaped the notion of development as we know it today This book is ideal for scholars seeking to understand the history of development assistance and to gain new insight into the international history of the 20th century Flowing Upstream Sara Ahmed, 2005-01-13 Empowering Society Assets, Livelihoods, and Social Policy Anis A. Dani, Caroline Moser, 2008-05-14 Given the lack of adequate universal social welfare for those unable to find jobs in the salaried formal sector the livelihoods and well being of most poor people depends heavily on their asset base This includes their ability to access and accumulate assets obtain decent returns from these assets and use their asset base to manage risks Assets Livelihoods and Social Policy discusses the diverse strategies adopted by people in different contexts to accumulate assets through migration housing investments natural resources management and informal businesses An asset based social policy can strengthen asset accumulation strategies as well as help the poor overcome the constraints of unfavorable institutional environments To a considerable extent asset accumulation strategies depend on the agency exercised by people themselves through individual or collective action At the same time the status of policies and institutions can enable or hinder these strategies and affect livelihood outcomes In synthesis the case studies lead to the differentiation among three different types of policies policies that affect outcomes by directly influencing access to assets by the poor such as land housing natural resources or credit policies and public investments that change the nature of returns on assets such as investments in rural roads agricultural inputs and market development policies that transform the value of assets held by the poor by virtue of administrative decisions that increase or reduce value such as re classification of land from arable or pasture to protected lands land use regulations affecting resource use or modification in regulations governing labor rights or migration The chapters originally commissioned to re examine major gaps in knowledge and development practice ten years after the Copenhagen Summit on Social Development are authored by leading scholars from economics anthropology sociology geography and development studies This book is part of a new series New Frontiers in Social Policy which examines issues and approaches to extend the boundaries of social policy beyond conventional social services toward policies and institutions that improve equality of opportunity and social justice in developing countries Other titles in the series include Inclusive States Social Policy and Structural Inequalities and Institutional Pathways to Equity Addressing Inequality Traps

Historical Dictionary of India Surjit Mansingh, 2006-05-09 The Republic of India is the second most populous the seventh largest by geographical area and has the fourth largest economy in terms of purchasing power parity in the world While it has always been an important country it has often been neglected Of late however there has been much talk of the new India one with greater economic dynamism a more active foreign policy and the emergence of a huge middle class With over a hundred new cross referenced dictionary entries the majority of which pertain to the last decade and updating others the second edition of the Historical Dictionary of India illustrates the rapidly evolving situation without neglecting the country's ancient past The chronology has been brought up to date the introduction expanded and the bibliography includes numerous new titles

Livelihood Strategies in Southern India Seema Purushothaman, Rosa Abraham, 2013-12-04 This volume is a compilation of essays that focus on livelihood issues faced by forest communities of the southern Western Ghats region of India Communities living along the fringes of forests are more often than not overlooked in academic and policy discussions However they face considerable pressures being sandwiched between conservation endeavours and the forces of urbanization and commercialization The chapters in this book provide an insight into the kinds of livelihood issues these communities face and the potential means that can be adopted to sustain these livelihoods This volume provides a unique alternative perspective by locating livelihood issues within socio ecological economic narratives of communities living at the intersection of the three southern Indian states of Karnataka Kerala and Tamil Nadu and suggests directions for policies to address these challenges mediated through military civil and ecclesiastical servants and a marginal tradition of representative and responsible government through autonomous institutions The former tradition finds expression in hierarchically organized and ideologically legitimated continental bureaucratic states while the latter manifests itself in the state of laws In recent times the marginal tradition has gained in popularity and has led to continental bureaucratic states attempting to introduce democratic and constitutional reforms These attempts have rarely altered the actual manner in which power is exercised by the state and its elites given the deeper and historically rooted experience of arbitrary rule Far from being remote the arbitrary culture of power that emerged in many parts of the world continues to shape the fortunes of states To ignore this culture of power and the historical circumstances that have shaped it comes at a high price as indicated by the ongoing democratic recession and erosion of liberal norms within states that are democracies
