Perverted Charles Patrick Ewing, 2011-03-16 Over the past quarter century Congress state legislatures and the courts have radically reshaped America's laws dealing with sex offenders in an effort to reduce the prevalence of sex offenses. Most convicted sex offenders must now register with the authorities who then make information about them available to the public. Possession of child pornography has been made an extremely serious crime often punishable by prison sentences that dwarf those meted out to child molesters rapists robbers and even killers. Federal law now imposes a minimum sentence of ten years in prison for those convicted of using the internet to attempt to lure minors for sex. And the federal government and 20 states have sexually violent predator laws that allow the indefinite civil commitment of convicted sex offenders to secure institutions for treatment after they have served their full criminal sentences. All of these changes in sex offender law as well as numerous others have been based at least in part on input from psychology psychiatry and the social sciences. Moreover enforcement and administration of many of these laws relies to a large extent on the efforts of mental health professionals. However many questions about this involvement remain largely unanswered. Are these laws supported by empirical evidence or even by well reasoned psychological theories? Do these laws actually work? Are mental health professionals capable of reliably determining an offender's future behavior and how best to manage it? Finally are experts capable of providing effective treatment for sex offenders i.e. treatment that actually reduces the likelihood that an identified sex offender will re-offend. In Justice Perverted Charles Patrick Ewing poses these difficult questions and others that few in either law or psychology have asked much less tried to answer. Drawing on research from across the social and behavioral sciences he weighs the evidence for the spectrum of sex offense laws to occasionally surprising results. A rational look at an intensely emotional subject Justice Perverted is an essential book for anyone interested in the science behind public practice. Dirty Sex Crime Carine Mapish, 2014-06-25 It's no secret nor should it be. We are all born with eyes to see so if you are able to see denounce your attacker without fear. When you were born you came out with a mouth and if you have the ability to use your mouth tell everyone loud and clear the name of your attacker without fear. By making this decision your heart will free itself of a heavy burden and this will be the beginning of a new life the beginning of your renaissance. How do you do it? Carine is a Canadian citizen originated from Kinshasa Democratic Republic of Congo. She was born in 1983 from a catholic family of four children. She is the first child and the only girl. With a heart of a lamb and her unconditional love and care for the others she has encountered numerous people that used her emotionally traumatized her bullied her ruined her reputation sexually assaulted her and physically abused her from the very young age of 4. As a result she has long have difficulties trusting friends bonding with people socializing few suicidal attempts fear for everything and low self esteem. Throughout intense pain from her past her dark side that she tried to run away from and she attempted to forget the past but she couldn't. Finally she did reveal all of her troubled past to her now husband Kuzi Mapish and her young brother Eric both of them helped her through encouragement to speak and spread the story that others could relate to perhaps help others in needs. Dirty Sex

Crime is a book written by Carine Mapish who relates her story to other victims The purpose of the book is to help others to come along and talk publicly about their trauma and speak the truth It doesn't matter the religion you take part of no matter your race and culture when you have been or you are a victim of rape sexual harassment molestation and all other subject related to such crime you have to talk about it

The Age of Sex Crime Jane Caputi, 1987 The sexualized serial murder of women by men is the subject of this provocative book Jane Caputi argues that the sensationalized murders by men such as Jack the Ripper Son of Sam Hillside Strangler and the Yorkshire Ripper represent a contemporary genre of sexually political crimes The awful deeds function as a form of patriarchal terrorism disappearing women at a rate of some four thousand annually in the United States alone Caputi asks us not only to name the phenomenon of sexually political murder but to recognize sex crime in all of its various interconnecting manifestations

Sex Crime, Offenders, and Society Christina Mancini, 2021 What works in preventing sex crime How can policymakers respond to threats of sexual victimization in a manner that is effective equitable and sustainable The second edition of Sex Crime Offenders and Society seeks to provide a knowledge base for addressing these questions Based on feedback from reviewers and readers the new edition retains the same structure as the first examining three critical dimensions the nature and extent of sex offending and explanations societal responses and sex crime policy and reform It now includes updated statistics and references to influential scholarship throughout a new chapter exploring sex crime in post secondary institutions and a concluding chapter that focuses on innovative policy and reform into the future

Crimewarps Georgette Bennett, 1989-03 Of value to anyone interested in understanding crime and trying to stop it Governor Mario M Cuomo This explosive and thought provoking investigation goes to the heart of America's fear of crime takes on the most common myths and sets them straight How safe are we Here are Crimewarp's startling conclusions The odds are twice as great that you will commit suicide this year than be murdered It is 32 times more likely that you will be involved in a car crash than become the victim of a violent street crime A woman is twice as likely to die of heart disease than be raped Criminologist Georgette Bennett uses the latest statistics to predict these and other dramatic changes in future of crime This highly regarded book analyzes the ripple effect of intersecting new social forces in changing the nature of crime and society's changing responses to crime The Washington Post A groundbreaking book solidly researched but easy to digest Kirkus Reviews

Sex Perversions and Sex Crimes, 1957

Rape Joanna Bourke, 2007 Joanna Bourke author of the critically acclaimed Fear unflinchingly and controversially moves away from looking at victims to look at the rapists She examines the nature of rape drawing together the work of criminologists sociologists and psychiatrists to analyse what drives the perpetrators of sexual violence Rape A History looks at the perception of rape both in the mass media and the wider public and considers the crucial questions of treatment and punishment Should sexual offenders be castrated Will Freud's couch or the behaviourists laboratory work most effectively Particular groups of offenders such as female abusers psychopaths and exhibitionists are given special attention here as are potentially dangerous environments including the home prison and the military By demystifying the category of the rapist and revealing the specificities of the past Joanna Bourke dares to consider a future in which sexual violence has been placed outside the human experience
