American Museum of Natural History, 1902 Sexual Violence Against Men in Global Politics Marysia Zalewski, Paula Drumond, Elisabeth Prugl, Maria Stern, 2018-05-11 Sexual violence against men is an under theorised and under noticed topic though it is becoming increasingly apparent that this form of violence is widespread Yet despite emerging evidence documenting its incidence especially in conflict and post conflict zones efforts to understand its causes and develop strategies to reduce it are hampered by a dearth of theoretical engagement One of the reasons that might explain its empirical invisibility and theoretical vacuity is its complicated relationship with sexual violence against women The latter is evident empirically theoretically and politically but the relationship between these violences conjures a range of complex and controversial questions about the ways they might be different and why and how these differences matter It is the case that sexual violence when noticed at all has historically been understood to happen largely if not only to women allegedly because of their gender and their ensuing place in gender orders This begs important questions regarding the impact of increasing knowledge about sexual violence against men including the impact on resources on understandings about and experiences of masculinity and whether the idea and practice of gender hierarchy is outdated This book engages this diverse set of questions and offers fresh analysis on the incidences of sexual violence against men using both new and existing data Additionally the authors pay close attention to some of the controversial debates in the context of sexual violence against men revisiting and asking new questions about the vexed issue of masculinities and related theories of gender hierarchy The book will be of great interest to students and scholars of sex gender masculinities corporeality violence and global politics as well as to practitioners and activists Classification Library of Congress, 1921 The National Sediment Quality Survey, 1996 Advances in Artificial Life Jozef Kelemen, Petr Sosík, 2001-08-29 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 6th European Conference on Artificial Life ECAL 2001 held in Prague Czech Republic in September 2001 The 54 revised papers and 25 posters presented together with five invited papers were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions The book reflects the state of the art in ALife It is divided into topical sections on agents in environments artificial chemistry
