Sex Roles Population And Development In West Africa:

Sex Roles, Population and Development in West Africa Christine Oppong, 1987 Gender, Livelihoods and Migration in Africa Justina Dugbah, 2012-01-12 This book presents an in depth discussion within diverse contexts and a range of conceptual and methodological offerings which interrogate not only issues concerning the migration discourse but of gender theory and practice as well. It explores the gendered patterns of migration including how gender impacts on decisions to migrate in terms of who goes and why. Furthermore it examines how this affects the benefits and risks of migration for women and men including impact on gender relations. The book's empirical analysis is expertly crafted and executed and the author shows an impressive state of the art qualitative research analysis. This book provides an invaluable up to date and refreshing discussion of key development issues in sub Saharan Africa. The book will be of particular interest to those working in disciplines and interdisciplinary fields such as development studies agricultural studies rural development migration studies gender studies African studies anthropology political science political economy social work economics geography and sociology African Families in a Global Context Göran Therborn, 2004 The family is one of the most important institutions of African societies. Where is it going today? How is it affected by global processes cultural and political as well as economic? How does it compare with family developments in other parts of the world? These are questions which this book addresses. The contributors deal with the African family in a comparative global context focusing on patriarchy sexuality and marriage and fertility biological and social reproduction in Ghana under conditions of globalization and structural adjustment Nigerian marriage relations under the impact of current conditions and family changes in the North Britain from a family perspective of the South South Africa Rural Development International Labour Office, 1991 Entries in English and various other languages Polygamy Miriam Kjekshus Zeitzen, 2020-06-15 Forms of plural marriage or polygamy are practiced within most of the world's cultures and religions. The amazing variation versatility and adaptability of polygamy underscore that it is not just an exotic non Western practice but also exists in modern Western societies. Polygamy: A Cross cultural Analysis provides an examination and analysis of historical and contemporary polygamy. It outlines polygamy's place in anthropological theory and its rich sociocultural diversity in countries ranging from the USA and UK to Malaysia India regions of Africa and Tibet. Polygamy also addresses often difficult and controversial issues facing modern polygamists such as prejudice HIV AIDS and women's emancipation. Polygamy: A Cross cultural Analysis offers an anthropological overview of the fascinating yet often misunderstood institution of polygamy Globalizing the Postcolony Claire H. Griffiths, 2010-12-18 Globalizing the Postcolony: Contesting Discourses of Gender and Development in Francophone Africa is a study of development in the former French colonies of West Africa. It takes as its starting point the international community's reporting on human and social development and gender in the developing areas which began systematically in 1990 and which has provided a framework for policy making in this field. International reports suggest that the francophone African countries have been experiencing low levels of social development throughout the past two decades. These levels fall dramatically when the factor of gender is introduced to the point where statistically speaking francophone African women have had less access to social development than any other population in the world. This study analyzes current thinking on the challenges facing gender and development in Africa before moving on to examine the historical factors marking the gender and development profile of the francophone West African region. Through an analysis of gender politics in the region from pre colonial to postcolonial times the book examines the gradual incursion of exogenous gender policies into the region throughout the 20th century. The discussion concludes by arguing that despite the tendency of the international community and their colonial administrative forebears to pursue one size fits all solutions to what they identified as the main development challenges of the day the impact of standardized solutions remains subject to the unique historical and cultural context in which they are implemented. Adapting formula driven policies to unique cultural contexts constitutes a major challenge for gender and development politics in the second decade of the new century. Meanwhile the book coincides with the introduction of a new international development agenda in Africa articulated around issues of security and globalization. While civil unrest continues to destabilize vast regions of the continent making the prospect of development uncertain.

Micro-Approaches to Demographic Research John Caldwell, Allan Hill, Valerie J. Hull, 2023-10-02 Originally published in 1988 this collection of essays was the first attempt by population scientists to incorporate some of the methods and materials of anthropologists into their work. The essays bridge the gap in the conceptualisation and organisation of field research by 2 sets of social scientists demographers and social anthropologists who share an interest in the explanation of particular patterns of population composition and change.

Entrepreneurship in Africa Moses E. Ochonu, 2018-02-05 A tapestry of innovation ideas and commerce Africa and its entrepreneurial hubs are deeply connected to those of the past. Moses E. Ochonu and an international group of contributors explore the lived experiences of African innovators who have created value for themselves and their communities. Profiles of vendors farmers craftspeople healers spiritual consultants warriors musicians technological innovators political mobilizers and laborers featured in this volume show African models of entrepreneurship in action. As a whole the essays consider the history of entrepreneurship in Africa illustrating its multiple origins and showing how it differs from the Western capitalist experience. As they establish historical patterns of business creativity these explorations open new avenues for understanding indigenous enterprise and homegrown commerce and their relationship to social economic and political debates in Africa today.

Generations in Africa Erdmute Alber, Sjaak van der Geest, Susan Reynolds Whyte, 2008 Though long neglected in anthropological research the connections and conflicts between generations are at the heart of social processes. In this book sixteen studies examine relations between generations of kin and between historical and political generations. The topics range from grandmother's cooking migrant remittances youth unemployment teenage pregnancy Valentine's Day and hip hop music to respect religious virtue gerontocracy memory wisdom complaint.

and the meaning of tradition Together they reinvigorate and expand the old anthropological interest in generation showing how necessary it is to understanding contemporary African societies      The Continuum Complete International Encyclopedia of Sexuality Robert T. Historical Dictionary of Sierra Leone Magbaily C. Fyle, 2006-03-27 Sierra Leone was founded albeit under British control with the highest hopes of being a refuge for liberated Africans and freed slaves When the country received its independence hopes for the future grew even stronger Alas its expectations came crashing down when the country s situation grew steadily worse after repeated military interventions and a devastating ten year civil war that raged throughout the 1990s Now that the war is over there is once again renewed cause for optimism about the country s future as Sierra Leone becomes an active participant in African and world affairs This new edition is based primarily on recent research on the country but covers the earliest known inhabitants the colonial era and the period of independence including the very confusing turmoil of the recent past The chronology briefly traces its history and the introduction provides an essential overview of all the recent developments in the country Hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries describe significant leaders events political parties and movements ethnic groups and related political economic and social aspects A bibliography is included to facilitate further research      Factors Affecting Contraceptive Use in Sub-Saharan Africa National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Working Group on Factors Affecting Contraceptive Use, 1993-02-01 This book discusses current trends in contraceptive use socioeconomic and program variables that affect the demand for and supply of children and the relationship of increased contraceptive use to recent fertility declines      Negotiating Power and Privilege Philomina Ezeagbor Okeke-Ihejirika, 2004 Annotation Philomina Okeke Ihejirika recorded life history interviews and discussions during the 1990s with educated women of differing ages and professions Her interviews bring up both familiar and surprising aspects of the women's experiences their victories and compromises within their families marriages and workplaces

Women, Work, and Gender Relations in Developing Countries Claire Bélanger, Parvin Ghorayshi, 1996-10-21 The chapters in this collection are based on qualitative fieldwork studies and collectively offer the reader a perspective on women work and gender relations that is at once multidisciplinary and feminist Women's work in the household agriculture industry and in the so called informal sector is explored with a concern for the ways in which gender class and ethnicity are constructed by the larger socioeconomic structures in which women live By taking concrete analyses of women's lives as their point of departure the contributors to this volume strive to bridge the gap between socio economic structure of the society and the actual circumstances in which women find themselves In this way readers and scholars alike are better able to untangle the complex dynamics of gender relations and to develop strategies for social change      A Place to Live Ann Schlyter, 1996 Be it a house or a makeshift a shared or rented room or a home of one's own a place to live is central in the survival strategies of all urban households In this volume the above authors explore the gendered experiences of housing and housing rights in African countries The collection begins with articles on conceptual and methodological problems in gender aware research The following articles present cases showing a wide variety in housing experiences a variety which depends on urban setting tenure forms stage in the life cycle or other factors There are many differences but also many similarities in the pattern of women not having the same access and control over housing as men have While women are often the main bread winners they are also the home makers in the literal sense that it is women who put intense efforts into making a place home      The Experiences of Ghanaian Live-in Caregivers in the United States Martha Donkor, 2017-11-15 Using the convergence of the impact of globalization and political turmoil in Ghana on Ghanaian women as a backdrop this book examines the migration of the women to the US and their decisions to care for upper middle class white seniors who elected to stay in their homes to be cared for by private caregivers The book explores the attraction of domestic care work the women's perceptions of their job their relationships with their clients and the dynamics of their relationships with their immediate families and families left behind in Ghana It also analyzes the women's interactions with the immigrant community from their remote work sites The book examines widely held beliefs about domestic work as undervalued under remunerated and relegated to marginalized immigrant women of color While admitting that these problems exist the women whose stories are told in the book did not believe that their brand of care work which they called private practice was undervalued or underpaid They also did not think that racism played a role in the concentration of immigrant women of color in domestic care work as widely believed although again the women admitted that there was racism in American society By doing so the women symbolically placed themselves beyond the institutional barriers that constrain the lives of women of color in American society And while it addresses common themes like exploitation abuse restriction of movement etc that other studies of immigrant live in caregiving address this book stands out in two major ways First is its truly transnational character It links the women s background in Ghana to their immigration history and how these two influenced their choice as well as perceptions of care work and then loops their experience of care work back to expectations in Ghana Second the book validates the women s voices as a product of their cultural background thus making the case that the women s choices and experiences were informed by conditions in the US and the cultural baggage the women brought with them The book argues that private care work satisfied women s financial expectations and with that leverage in their families      Women Workers International Labour Office, 1995 Produced from the LABORDOC database lists 953 English language publications technical reports working papers and other documents produced at ILO headquarters or in ILO field offices or prepared in connection with ILO programmes
