Blaustein, 2013-06-29 This text is written for the obstetrician gynecologist pathologist and for residents training in these disciplines It is a multi authored book and the editor is aware of the problems this can create but the expansion of information in the field of gynecologic pathology renders single authorship obsolete The format is largely traditional but the contents include topics that have not appeared in past texts Clear cell adenocarcinoma of the vagina and vaginal and cervical adenoses are discussed in detail in a separate chapter A chapter on embryology and congenital anomalies is written by an embryologist and the advantage of its inclusion is self evident Ovarian neoplasms in childhood and adolescence are fortunately rare occurrences but information concerning them is generally not readily available in existing texts It is of sufficient importance to deserve a separate chapter Amniotic fluid analysis for fetal viability is now commonly used and for this reason a detailed discussion of this subject is presented A chapter is included on gross description and preparation of gynecologic specimens It contains the input and review of several directors of gynecologic pathology laboratories Sex Determination, Differentiation and Intersexuality in Placental Mammals R. H. F. Hunter, 1995-03-09 How do males become male and females become female And what are the consequences if the decision is not incisive Drawing upon interests in animal genetics and molecular biology the author endeavours to answer these difficult yet fascinating questions Originally published in 1995 this book describes the genetic determination of sex and examines how sexual organs are differentiated Using examples of intersexuality chimeras and asymmetries the book describes the underlying molecular basis of sex determination and sexual differentiation and focuses on the critical role of the rate of embryonic development in these vital processes Male precocity is a recurrent theme as is the involvement of Sertoli cells and their secretion of anti Mullerian hormone An invaluable book for reproductive physiologists geneticists and developmental biologists whose interests may extend from animal science through veterinary medicine to human clinical medicine Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, Library of Congress.
