Men in Color Josep M. Armengol, 2011-01-18 Comprising seven different chapters the collection Men in Color attempts to analyze and revisit the representation of ethnic masculinities both white and non white in and through contemporary U.S. literature and cinema. If most of the existing studies on masculinity and race have centered on one specific model of racialized masculinities Men in Color attempts to provide an introductory perspective on different racialized masculinities simultaneously including African American Asian American Chicano Arab American and also white masculinity which is analyzed as another ethnic and gendered construct rather than as a paradigm of normalcy and universality. By exploring several ethnic masculinities in relation to each other the present volume aims to highlight both the differences and the similarities between different patterns of masculinity showing how even as gender is inflected by race certain aspects or features of masculinity remain unchanged across the ethnic board. Ultimately the volume as a whole illustrates both the changing nature of masculinities as well as the recurrence of certain stereotypes such as the hypersexualization and or the feminization of ethnic males which recur in and across several ethnicities. The constant tension and intersection between gender and race is the subject of this book which hopes to contribute some notes and reflections on ethnic masculinities to the much more complex and larger discussion about gender and racial identities in our increasingly multicultural and globalized 21st century world

The Chronicles of Panchita Villa and Other Guerrilleras Tey Diana Rebolledo, 2005 Although there have been substantial contributions to Chicana literature and criticism over the past few decades Chicanas are still underrepresented and underappreciated in the mainstream literary world and virtually nonexistent in the canon Writers like Sandra Cisneros Ana Castillo and Gloria Anzaldá have managed to find larger audiences and critical respect but there are legions of Chicana writers and artists who have been marginalized and ignored despite their talent. Even in Chicano anthologies the focus has tended to be more on male writers. Chicanas have often found themselves without a real home in the academic world. Tey Diana Rebolledo has been writing about Chicana Latina identity, literature, discrimination, and feminism for more than two decades. In this collection of essays she brings together both old and new works to give a state-of-the-moment look at the still largely unanswered questions raised by vigilant women of color throughout the last half of the twentieth century. An intimate introductory essay about Rebolledo's personal experiences as the daughter of a Mexican mother and a Peruvian father serves to lay the groundwork for the rest of the volume. The essays delve into the historical development of Chicana writing and its early narratives, the representation of Chicanas as seen on book covers, Chicana feminism, being a Chicana critic in the academy, Chicana art history, and Chicana creativity. Rebolledo encourages guerrillera warfare against academia in order to open up the literary canon to Chicana Latina writers who deserve validation.

Rethinking Chicana/o Literature through Food Nieves Pascual Soler, M. Abarca, 2013-12-18. As Food Studies has grown into a well-established field, literary scholars have not fully addressed the prevalent themes of food, eating, and consumption in Chicana/o literature. Here contributors propose food consciousness as a paradigm to examine the literary discourses of Chicana/o authors as they shift from the nation to the postnation.
