Lucknow Violette Graff, 1999 This collection of pieces looks at 150 years of Lucknow's recent history from its rise to grandeur during the Nawabi days to its political preeminent position today

Negotiating Languages Walter N. Hakala, 2016-08-30 Prior to the nineteenth century South Asian dictionaries glossaries and vocabularies reflected a hierarchical vision of nature and human society By the turn of the twentieth century the modern dictionary had democratized and politicized language Compiled scientifically through historical principles the modern dictionary became a concrete symbol of a nation's arrival on the world stage Following this phenomenon from the late seventeenth century to the present Negotiating Languages casts lexicographers as key figures in the political realignment of South Asia under British rule and in the years after independence Their dictionaries document how a single mutually intelligible language evolved into two competing registers Urdu and Hindi and became associated with contrasting religious and nationalist goals Each chapter in this volume focuses on a key lexicographical work and its fateful political consequences Recovering texts by overlooked and even denigrated authors Negotiating Languages provides insight into the forces that turned intimate speech into a potent nationalist politics intensifying the passions that partitioned the Indian subcontinent

White Mughals William Dalrymple, 2004-04-27 White Mughals is the romantic and ultimately tragic tale of a passionate love affair that crossed and transcended all the cultural religious and political boundaries of its time James Achilles Kirkpatrick was the British Resident at the court of the Nizam of Hyderabad when in 1798 he glimpsed Kahir un Nissa Most excellent among Women the great niece of the Nizam's Prime Minister and a descendant of the Prophet Kirkpatrick had gone out to India as an ambitious soldier in the army of the East India Company eager to make his name in the conquest and subjection of the subcontinent Instead he fell in love with Khair and overcame many obstacles to marry her not least of which was the fact that she was locked away in purdah and engaged to a local nobleman Eventually while remaining Resident Kirkpatrick converted to Islam and according to Indian sources even became a double agent working for the Hyderabadis against the East India Company It is a remarkable story involving secret assignments court intrigue harem politics religious and family disputes But such things were not unknown from the early sixteenth century when the Inquisition banned the Portuguese in Goa from wearing the dhoti to the eve of the Indian mutiny the white Mughals who wore local dress and adopted Indian ways were a source of embarrassments to successive colonial administrations William Dalrymple unearths such colourful figures as Hindoo Stuart who travelled with his own team of Brahmins to maintain his temple of idols and who spent many years trying to persuade the memsahibs of Calcutta to adopt the sari and Sir David Ochterlony Kirkpatrick's counterpart in Delhi who took all thirteen of his wives out for evening promenades each on the back of their own elephant In White Mughals William Dalrymple discovers a world almost entirely unexplored by history and places at its centre a compelling tale of love seduction and betrayal It possesses all the sweep and resonance of a great nineteenth century novel set against a background of shifting alliances and the manoeuvring of the great powers the mercantile ambitions of the British and the imperial dreams of Napoleon White Mughals the product of five years writing and research triumphantly confirms Dalrymple's reputation as one of the finest writers at work today Shi'a Islam in Colonial India Justin Jones, 2011-10-24 Interest in Shi'a Islam has increased greatly in recent years although Shi'ism in the Indian subcontinent has remained largely underexplored Focusing on the influential Shi'a minority of Lucknow and the United Provinces a region that was largely under Shi'a rule until 1856 this book traces the history of Indian Shi'ism through the colonial period toward independence in 1947 Drawing on a range of new sources including religious writing polemical literature and clerical biography it assesses seminal developments including the growth of Shi'a religious activism madrasa education missionary activity ritual innovation and the politicization of the Shi'a community As a consequence of these significant religious and social transformations a Shi'a sectarian identity developed that existed in separation from rather than in interaction with its Sunni counterparts In this way the painful birth of modern sectarianism was initiated the consequences of which are very much alive in South Asia today The Shi'a in Modern South Asia Justin Jones, Ali Usman Qasmi, 2015-05-14 This book explores various Shi'i communities in the subcontinent as well as South Asian Shi'i diasporas in East Africa The Pakistan Paradox Christophe Jaffrelot, 2016-06-16 The idea of Pakistan stands riddled with tensions Initiated by a small group of select Urdu speaking Muslims who envisioned a unified Islamic state today Pakistan suffers the divisive forces of various separatist movements and religious fundamentalism A small entrenched elite continue to dominate the country's corridors of power and democratic forces and legal institutions remain weak But despite these seemingly insurmountable problems the Islamic Republic of Pakistan continues to endure The Pakistan Paradox is the definitive history of democracy in Pakistan and its survival despite ethnic strife Islamism and deepseated elitism This edition focuses on three kinds of tensions that are as old as Pakistan itself The tension between the unitary definition of the nation inherited from Jinnah and centrifugal ethnic forces between civilians and army officers who are not always in favour of or against democracy and between the Islamists and those who define Islam only as a cultural identity marker Dwelling in the Archive Antoinette Burton, 2003-01-30 Dwelling in the Archives uses the writing of three 20th century Indian women to interrogate the status of the traditional archive reading their memoirs fictions and histories as counter narratives of colonial modernity Janaki Majumdar was the daughter of the first president of the Indian National Congress Her unpublished Family History 1935 stages the story of her parents transnational marriage as a series of homes the family inhabited in Britain and India thereby providing a heretofore unavailable narrative of the domestic face of 19th century Indian nationalism Cornelia Sorabji was one of the first Indian women to qualify for the bar Her memoirs 1934 and 1936 demonstrate her determination to rescue the zenana women's quarters and purdahashin secluded women from the recesses of the orthodox home in order to counter the emancipationist claims of Gandhian nationalism Last but not least Attia Hosain's 1961 novel Sunlight on Broken Column represents the violence and trauma of partition through the biography of a young heroine called Laila and her family home Taken together their writings raise questions about what counts as an archive offering us new insights into the relationship of women to memory and history gender to fact and fiction and feminism to nationalism and postcolonialism

Flora's Empire Eugenia W. Herbert, 2012-01-31 Like their penchant for clubs cricket and hunting the planting of English gardens by the British in India reflected an understandable need on the part of expatriates to replicate home as much as possible in an alien environment In Flora's Empire Eugenia W Herbert argues that more than simple nostalgia or homesickness lay at the root of this garden imperialism however Drawing on a wealth of period illustrations and personal accounts many of them little known she traces the significance of gardens in the long history of British relations with the subcontinent To British eyes she demonstrates India was an untamed land that needed the visible stamp of civilization that gardens in their many guises could convey Colonial gardens changed over time from the garden houses of eighteenth century nabobs modeled on English country estates to the herbaceous borders gravel walks and well trimmed lawns of Victorian civil servants As the British extended their rule they found that hill stations like Simla offered an ideal retreat from the unbearable heat of the plains and a place to coax English flowers into bloom Furthermore India was part of the global network of botanical exploration and collecting that gathered up the world's plants for transport to great imperial centers such as Kew And it is through colonial gardens that one may track the evolution of imperial ideas of governance Every Government House and Residency was carefully landscaped to reflect current ideals of an ordered society At Independence in 1947 the British left behind a lasting legacy in their gardens one still reflected in the design of parks and information technology campuses and in the horticultural practices of home gardeners who continue to send away to England for seeds

The 1857 Indian Uprising and the Politics of Commemoration Sebastian Raj Pender, 2022-05-05 The Cawnpore Well Lucknow Residency and Delhi Ridge were sacred places within the British imagination of India Sanctified by the colonial administration in commemoration of victory over the Sepoy Mutiny of 1857 they were read as emblems of empire which embodied the central tenets of sacrifice fortitude and military prowess that underpinned Britain's imperial project Since independence however these sites have been rededicated in honour of the First War of Independence and are thus sacred to the memory of those who revolted against colonial rule rather than those who saved it The 1857 Indian Uprising and the Politics of Commemoration tells the story of these and other commemorative landscapes and uses them as prisms through which to view over 150 years of Indian history Based on extensive archival research from India and Britain Sebastian Raj Pender traces the ways in which commemoration responded to the demands of successive historical moments by shaping the events of 1857 from the perspective of the present By telling the history of

India through the transformation of mnemonic space this study shows that remembering the past is always a political act
