Public And Situated Displays Social And Interactional Aspects Of Shared Display:

Public and Situated Displays K. O'Hara, M. Perry, E. Churchill, D. Russell, 2013-03-09 Public and situated display technologies can have an important impact on individual and social behaviour and present us with particular interesting new design considerations and challenges While there is a growing body of research exploring these design considerations and social impact this work remains somewhat disparate making it difficult to assimilate in a coherent manner This book brings together the perspectives of key researchers in the area of public and situated display technology The chapters detail research representing the social technical and interactional aspects of public and situated display technologies The underlying concern common to these chapters is how these displays can be best designed for collaboration coordination community building and mobility Presenting them together allows the reader to examine everyday display activities within the context of emerging technological possibilities

Ubiquitous Display Environments Antonio Krüger, Tsvi Kuflik, 2012-06-12 Our increasingly smart environments will sense track and model users and provide them with personalized services We can already embed computers in everyday objects such as shirt buttons and pencils objects of all sizes from wristwatches to billboards will soon incorporate high quality flexible displays we have improved access to wireless Internet communication and we are now transitioning from traditional linear to targeted interactive media The convergence of these factors miniaturization display technologies wireless communication and interactive media will allow us to leave our desktop computers and move to a radical computing paradigm the ubiquitous display environment where media and visual content will support a rich variety of display devices that enable users to interact with information artifacts in a seamless manner This is one of the most exciting and important areas of technology development and this book addresses the challenge within the context of an educational and cultural experience This is inherently a multidisciplinary field and the contributions span the related research aspects including system architecture and communications issues and intelligent user interface aspects such as aesthetics and privacy On the scientific side the authors integrate artificial intelligence user modeling temporal and spatial reasoning intelligent user interfaces and user centric design methodologies in their work while on the technological side they integrate mobile and wireless networking infrastructures interfaces group displays and context driven adaptive presentations This book is of value to researchers and practitioners working on all aspects of ubiquitous display environments and we hope it leads to innovations in human education cultural heritage appreciation and scientific development MEDIACITY. Situations, Practices and Encounters Frank Eckardt, 2008-01-01 MEDIACITY Situations Practices and Encounters investigates how the social settings and spaces of the city are created experienced and practiced through the use and presence of new media It takes the position that new media enables different settings practices and behaviours to occur in urban space Contributions from academics practitioners and activists from disciplines such as Media Studies Architecture Urban Studies Cultural and Urban Geography and Sociology present a critical reflection on the processes methods and impacts of technologies in urban space Cities of Opportunities Jason Pomeroy, 2020-01-31 Culture refers to not only the arts but also other manifestations of human intellectual achievement regarded collectively It similarly refers to the customs institutions and achievements of a social group a people or a nation Innovation refers to the action or process of change alteration or revolution a new method of idea creation or product that may bring about change It is easy to assume that innovation may be juxtaposed to the preservation of culture and time tested rituals Yet as human settlements grew and as streets and squares evolved through the diverse exchanges of people trading celebrating rallying and socially interacting it should come as little surprise that cities and its places would become and continue to be centres of culture and innovation that can be inextricably linked Culture and Innovation in cities can potentially take on different complexions if viewed through the lens of academics and practitioners drawn from different geographies disciplines or fields of expertise when addressing particular urban challenges It is through this complexity of views that this book seeks to provide a broad perspective on culture and innovation in the context of global cities today and a rich cornucopia of insights from thought leaders within their respective fields to shape the cities of tomorrow From Snapshots to Social Media - The Changing Picture of Domestic Photography Risto Sarvas, David M. Frohlich, 2011-02-09 From Snapshots to Social Media describes the history and future of domestic photography as mediated by technological change Domestic photography refers to the culture of ordinary people capturing sharing and using photographs and is in a particular state of flux today as photos go digital The book argues that this digital era is the third major chapter in the 170 year history of the area following the portrait and Kodak eras of the past History shows that despite huge changes in photographic technology and the way it has been sold people continue to use photographs to improve memory support communication and reinforce identity The future will involve a shift in the balance of these core activities and a replacement of the family album with various multimedia archives for individuals families and communities This raises a number of issues that should be taken into account when designing new technologies and business services in this area including the ownership and privacy of content multimedia standards home ICT infrastructure and younger and older users of images The book is a must for designers and engineers of imaging technology and social media who want a better understanding of the history of domestic photography in order to shape its future It will also be of value to students and researchers in science and technology studies and visual culture as a fascinating case study of the evolving use of photographs and photographic technology in Western society

Proxemic Interactions Nicolai Marquardt, Saul Greenberg, 2022-05-31 In the everyday world much of what we do as social beings is dictated by how we perceive and manage our interpersonal space This is called proxemics At its simplest people naturally correlate physical distance to social distance We believe that people's expectations of proxemics can be exploited in interaction design to mediate their interactions with devices phones tablets computers appliances large displays contained within a small ubiquitous computing ecology Just as people expect increasing engagement and intimacy as they approach others so should they naturally expect increasing connectivity and interaction possibilities as they bring themselves and their devices in close proximity to one another This is called Proxemic Interactions This book concerns the design of proxemic interactions within such future proxemic aware ecologies It imagines a world of devices that have fine grained knowledge of nearby people and other devices how they move into range their precise distance their identity and even their orientation and how such knowledge can be exploited to design interaction techniques The first part of this book concerns theory After introducing proxemics we operationalize proxemics for ubicomp interaction via the Proxemic Interactions framework that designers can use to mediate people's interactions with digital devices The framework in part identifies five key dimensions of proxemic measures distance orientation movement identity and location to consider when designing proxemic aware ubicomp systems The second part of this book applies this theory to practice via three case studies of proxemic aware systems that react continuously to people s and devices proxemic relationships The case studies explore the application of proxemics in small space ubicomp ecologies by considering first person to device then device to device and finally person to person and device to device proxemic relationships We also offer a critical perspective on proxemic interactions in the form of dark patterns where knowledge of proxemics may and likely will be easily exploited to the detriment of the user Table of Contents Acknowledgments Videos Figure Credits Introduction Part I Ubicomp in Brief Proxemic Interactions Theory Operationalizing Proxemics for Ubicomp Interaction Exploiting Proxemics to Address Challenges in Ubicomp Ecologies Part II Exploiting Proxemics in Ubicomp Ecologies Person Person to Device Proxemic Interactions Device to Device Proxemic Interactions Considering Person to Person and Device to Device Proxemics Dark Patterns Conclusion References Author Biographies

UbiComp 2007: Ubiquitous Computing John Krumm, Gregory D. Abowd, Aruna Seneviratne, Thomas Strang, 2007-09-14 The Ubiquitous Computing conference series provides the premier forum in which to present original research results in all areas relating to the design implementation application and evaluation of ubiquitous computing technologies It is a well established platform to introduce and discuss research that enables new capabilities appropriate security and privacy improved user experiences and simplified and powerful development and deployment practices These proceedings contain the papers presented at the Ninth International Conference on Ubiquitous Computing UbiComp 2007 in Innsbruck Austria in September 2007 Our call for papers resulted in 150 submissions each of which was assigned to a primary and a secondary member of our Program Committee Every primary and secondary member was responsible for assigning one or more additional qualified reviewers with specific expertise in the field After double blind reviews and an online discussion we had a two day face to face meeting with 38 of the 40 Program Committee members attending the PC meeting held just before the Pervasive 2007 conference in Toronto Canada in May 2007 We are grateful to Khai Truong Jeremy Knight and Alex Varshavsky of the University of Toronto for providing facilities and support for this meeting At the PC meeting about 80 of the submissions were invidually and extensively discussed in one of the three subgroups sensors experiences and systems as well as in the calibration and decision panels The PC finally selected 29 papers for publication in these proceedings urban and media studies the book gathers and reviews fast developing knowledge on specific emergent phenomena such as reading the city as symbol and text understanding urban infrastructures as media and vice versa the rise of global cities urban and suburban media cultures newspapers cinema radio television and the mobile phone changing spaces and practices of urban consumption the mediation of the neighbourhood community and diaspora the centrality of culture to urban regeneration communicative responses to urban crises such as racism poverty and pollution the role of street art in the negotiation of the right to the city city competition and urban branding outdoor advertising moving image architecture smart cyber urbanism the emergence of Media City production spaces and clusters Charting key debates and neglected connections between cities and media this book challenges what we know about contemporary urban living and introduces innovative frameworks for understanding cities media and their futures As such it will be an essential resource for students and scholars of media and communication studies urban communication urban sociology urban planning and design architecture visual cultures urban geography art history politics cultural studies anthropology and cultural policy studies as well as those working with governmental agencies cultural foundations and institutes and policy think tanks

A Design Space for Pervasive Advertising on Public Displays Florian Alt, 2013-03-01 Today people living in cities see up to 5000 ads per day many on public displays More and more of these public displays are networked and equipped with sensors making them part of a global infrastructure that is currently emerging Such displays provide the opportunity to create a benefit for society in the form of immersive experiences and relevant content In this way they can overcome the display blindness that evolved over the years Two main reasons prevent this vision from coming true first public displays are stuck with traditional advertising as the driving business model Second no common ground exists for researchers or advertisers that outline important challenges The main contribution of this thesis is presenting a design space for advertising on public displays that identifies important challenges mainly from an HCI perspective The results are envisioned to provide a basis for future research and for practitioners to shape future advertisements on public displays in a positive way

Smart Things Mike Kuniavsky, 2010-09-14 The world of smart shoes appliances and phones is already here but the practice of user experience UX design for ubiquitous computing is still relatively new Design companies like IDEO and frogdesign are regularly asked to design products that unify software interaction device design and service design which are all the key components of ubiquitous computing UX and practicing designers need a way to tackle practical challenges of design Theory is not enough for them luckily the industry is now mature enough to have tried and tested best practices and case studies from the field Smart Things presents a problem solving approach to addressing designers needs and concentrates on process rather than technological detail to keep from being quickly outdated It pays close attention to the capabilities and limitations of the medium in question and discusses the tradeoffs and challenges of design in a commercial environment Divided into two sections frameworks and techniques the book discusses broad design methods and case studies that reflect key aspects of these approaches The book then presents a set of techniques highly valuable to a practicing designer It is intentionally not a comprehensive tutorial of user centered design as that is covered in many other books but it is a handful of techniques useful when designing ubiquitous computing user experiences In short Smart Things gives its readers both the why of this kind of design and the how in well defined chunks Tackles design of products in the post Web world where computers no longer have to be monolithic expensive general purpose devices Features broad frameworks and processes practical advice to help approach specifics and techniques for the unique design challenges Presents case studies that describe in detail how others have solved problems managed trade offs and met successes
