Love, Reason and Morality Katrien Schaubroeck, Esther Kroeker, 2016-07-28 This book brings together new essays that explore the connection between love and reasons The observation that considerations of love carry significant weight in the deliberative process opens up new perspectives in the classic discussion about practical reasons and gives rise to many interesting questions about the nature of love's reasons about their source and legitimacy about their relation to moral and epistemic reasons and about the extent to which love is sensitive to reasons The contributors to this volume orient questions related to love within the broader context of the contemporary discussion on practical reasons and move forward the conversation about the normative dimensions of love Love Reason and Morality will be of interest to philosophers working on issues of normativity meta ethics and moral psychology and especially those

Love's Vision Troy Jollimore, 2011-07-05 Love often seems uncontrollable and irrational but we just as frequently appear to have reasons for loving the people we do In Love's Vision Troy Jollimore offers a new way of understanding love that accommodates both of these facts arguing that love is guided by reason even as it resists and sometimes eludes rationality At the same time he reconsiders love's moral status acknowledging its moral dangers while arguing that it is at heart a moral phenomenon an emotion that demands empathy and calls us away from excessive self concern Love is revealed as neither wholly moral nor deeply immoral neither purely rational nor profoundly irrational Rather as Diotima says in Plato's Symposium love is something in between Jollimore makes his case by proposing a vision view of love according to which loving is a way of seeing that involves bestowing charitable attention on a loved one This view recognizes the truth in the cliché love is blind but holds that love's blindness does not undermine the idea that love is guided by reason Reasons play an important role in love even if they rest on facts that are not themselves rationally justifiable Filled with illuminating examples from literature Love's Vision is an original examination of a subject of vital philosophical and human concern A

Frankfurt,2009-01-13 From the author of the 1 New York Times bestseller On Bullshit a profound meditation on how and why we love In The Reasons of Love leading moral philosopher and bestselling author Harry Frankfurt argues that the key to a fulfilled life is to pursue wholeheartedly what one cares about that love is the most authoritative form of caring and that the purest form of love is in a complicated way self love Through caring we infuse the world with meaning Caring provides us with stable ambitions and concerns and it shapes the framework of aims and interests within which we lead our lives Love is a nonvoluntary disinterested concern for the flourishing of what we love and self love as distinct from self indulgence is at heart of this concern The most elementary form of self love is no more than the desire to love and self love is simply a commitment to finding meaning in our lives The Cambridge Translations of Medieval Philosophical Texts: Volume 2, Ethics and Political

Philosophy Arthur Stephen McGrade,John Kilcullen,Matthew Kempshall,2000-10-30 The eagerly awaited second volume of The Cambridge Translations of Medieval Philosophical Texts will allow scholars and students access for the first time in English to major texts in ethics and political thought from one of the most fruitful periods of speculation and analysis in the history of western thought Beginning with Albert the Great who introduced the Latin west to the challenging moral
