Feminist Theology and the Challenge of Difference Margaret D. Kamitsuka, 2007-07-20 In the early years of contesting patriarchy in the academy and religious institutions feminist theology often presented itself as a unified front a sisterhood The term feminist theology however is misleading It suggests a singular feminist purpose driven by a unified female cultural identity that struggles as a cohesive whole against patriarchal dominance Upon closer inspection the voice of feminist theology is in fact a chorus of diverging perspectives each informed by a variety of individual and communal experiences and an embattled scholarly field marked by the effects of privilege and power imbalances This complexity raises an important question How can feminist theologians respect the irreducible diversity of women s experiences and unmask entrenched forms of privilege in feminist theological discourse In Feminist Theology and the Challenge of Difference Margaret D Kamitsuka urges the feminist theological community to examine critically its most deeply held commitments assumptions and goals especially those of feminist theologians writing from positions of privilege as white or heterosexual women Focusing on women s experience as portrayed in literature biblical narrative and ethnographic writing Kamitsuka examines the assumptions of feminist theology regarding race and sexuality She proposes theoretical tools that feminist theologians can employ to identify and hopefully avoid the imposition of racial or sexual hegemony thus providing invaluable complexity to the movement s identity and ultimately contributing to current and future Christian theological issues Blending poststructuralist and postcolonial theoretical resources with feminist and queer concerns Feminist Theology and the Challenge of Difference makes constructive theological proposals ranging from sin to christology The text calls feminist theologians to a more rigorous self critical approach as they continue to shape the changing face of Christian theological discourse

Divine Flesh, Embodied Word Anne-Claire Mulder,2006 What has Luce Irigaray s statement that women need a God to do with her thoughts on the relation between body and mind or the sensible and the intelligible Using the theological notion incarnation as a hermeneutical key Anne Claire Mulder brings together and illuminates the interrelations between these different themes in Luce Irigaray s work Seesawing between Luce Irigaray s critique of philosophical discourse and her constructive philosophy Mulder elucidates Irigaray s thoughts on the relations between becoming woman and becoming divine She shows that Luce Irigaray s restaging of the relation between the sensible and the intelligible between flesh and Word is key to her reinterpretation of the relation between woman and God In and through her interpretation of Luce Irigaray s thoughts on the flesh she argues that the relation between flesh and Word must be seen as a dialectical one instead of as a dualistic relation This means that incarnation is no longer seen as a one way process of Word becoming flesh but as a continuing process of flesh becoming word and word becoming flesh For all images and thoughts including those of God are produced by the flesh divine in its creativity inexhaustibility in response to the touch of the other And these images thoughts words in turn become embodied by touching and moving the flesh of the subject
