Serving God Not Babel:

Serving God Not Babel David C. Blackman, 2005-06-01 This book was started about five years ago following a debate with a Jehovah Witness and the words David said to that person At the time that person made excuses and left David realised he had received a revelation It was the answer to questions he had asked and prayed about If there is one God then why did many nations once believe in more than one God If all the ancient religions are false then how can we be sure that what we now believe is true and not also false Why is religion to some a dirty word which can turn people away from God rather than bring them to God In this book David provides answers to these questions He examines the importance of belief and language in our civilizations How language and belief is the essence of our culture He suggests that a certain event in our distant past lead to the creation of many different religions and caused us to believe in many different Gods David explains how God choose one individual whose descendents would become a nation of priests A nation destined to be ruled by God via his son He examines what has gone wrong and is wrong with all religions since the birth of Jesus and how we all continue to serve Babel and not God

BOOK JACKET Christian Existence Today Stanley Hauerwas,2010-09-01 Stanley Hauerwas begins this volume with a vigorous response to the charge of sectarianism leveled against his work by James Gustafson among others Show me where I am wrong about God Jesus the limits of liberalism the nature of the virtues or the doctrine of the church Hauerwas replies to his critics but do not shortcut that task by calling me a sectarian The essays that follow explore in a lucid compelling firm and provocative way the church s nature message and ministry in the world Hauerwas writes on the church as God s new language on clerical character on the pastor as prophet on the ministry of the local congregation on grace and public virtue and on the relation of church and university Underlying Hauerwas's argument is his conviction that the most important knowledge Christians involve and there is much worth knowing for which Christians have no special claim requires a transformation of the self Christianity is no world view not a form of primitive metaphysics that can be assessed in comparison to alternative world views Rather Christians are people who remain convinced that the truthfulness of their beliefs must be demonstrated in their lives There is a sense in which Christian convictions are self-referential but the reference is not to propositions but to lives
