On the Scale of the World Musab Younis, 2022-11-15 This expansive history of Black political thought shows us the origins and the echoes of anticolonial liberation on a global scale On the Scale of the World examines the reverberations of anticolonial ideas that spread across the Atlantic between the two world wars From the 1920s to the 1940s Black intellectuals in Europe Africa and the Caribbean established theories of colonialism and racism as structures that must be understood and resisted on a global scale In this richly textured book Musab Younis gathers the work of writers and poets journalists and editors historians and political theorists whose insights speak urgently to contemporary movements for liberation Bringing together literary and political texts from Nigeria Ghana Sierra Leone France the United States and elsewhere Younis excavates a vibrant and understudied tradition of international political thought From the British and French colonial occupations of West Africa to the struggles of African Americans the hypocrisy of French promises of assimilation and the many sided attacks on the sovereignties of Haiti Liberia and Ethiopia On the Scale of the World shows how racialized imperialism provoked critical responses across the interwar Black Atlantic By transcending the boundaries of any single imperial system these counternarratives of global order enabled new ways of thinking about race nation and empire

Settler Society in the Australian Colonies Angela Woollacott, 2015-03-05 The 1820s to the 1860s were a foundational period in Australian history arguably at least as important as Federation Industrialization was transforming Britain but the southern colonies were pre industrial with economies driven by pastoralism agriculture mining whaling and sealing commerce and the construction trades Convict transportation provided the labour on which the first settlements depended before it was brought to a staggered end first in New South Wales in 1840 and last in Western Australia in 1868 The numbers of free settlers rose dramatically surging from the 1820s and again during the 1850s gold rushes The convict system increasingly included assignment to private masters and mistresses thus offering settlers the inducement of unpaid labourers as well as the availability of land on a scale that both defied and excited the British imagination By the 1830s schemes for new kinds of colonies based on Edward Gibbon Wakefield's systematic colonization gained attention and support The pivotal development of the 1840s 1850s and the political events which form the backbone of this story were the Australian colonies gradual attainment of representative and then responsible government Through political struggle and negotiation in which Australians looked to Canada for their model of political progress settlers slowly became self governing But these political developments were linked to the frontier violence that shaped settlers lives and became accepted as part of respectable manhood With narratives of individual lives Settler Society shows that women's exclusion from political citizenship was vigorously debated and that settlers were well aware of their place in an empire based on racial hierarchies and threatened by revolts Angela Woollacott particularly focuses on settlers dependence in these decades on intertwined categories of unfree labour including poorly compensated Aborigines and indentured Indian and Chinese labourers alongside convicts

Decolonisation, Identity and Nation in Rhodesia, 1964-1979 David Kenrick, 2019-11-02 This book explores concepts of decolonisation identity and nation in the white settler society of Rhodesia now Zimbabwe between 1964 and 1979 It considers how white settlers used the past to make claims of authority in the present It investigates the white Rhodesian state's attempts to assert its independence from Britain and develop a Rhodesian national identity by changing Rhodesia's old colonial symbols and examines how the meaning of these national symbols changed over time Finally the book offers insights into the role of race in Rhodesian national identity showing how portrayals of a timeless black population were highly dependent upon circumstance and reflective of white settler anxieties Using a comparative approach the book shows parallels between Rhodesia and other settler societies as well as other post colonial nation states and even metropolises as themes and narratives of decolonisation travelled around the world

Nineteenth-Century Victoria Leigh Boucher, Lynette Russell, 2015-04-29 This collection represents a serious re examination of existing work on the Aboriginal history of nineteenth century Victoria deploying the insights of postcolonial thought to wrench open the inner workings of territorial expropriation and its historically tenacious variability Colonial historians have frequently asserted that the management and control of Aboriginal people in colonial Victoria was historically exceptional by the end of the century colonies across mainland Australia looked to Victoria as a model for how to manage the problem of Aboriginal survival This collection carefully traces the emergence and enactment of this model in the years after colonial separation the idiosyncrasies of its application and the impact it had on Aboriginal lives It is no exaggeration to say that the work on colonial Victoria represented here is in the vanguard of what we might see as a new Australian colonial history This is a quite distinctive development shaped by the aftermath of the history wars within Australia and through engagement with the new imperial history of Britain and its empire It is characterised by an awareness of colonial Australia s positioning within broader imperial circuits through which key personnel ideas and practices flowed and also by local settler society s impact upon and entanglements with Aboriginal Australia The volume heralds a new spatially aware movement within Australian history writing Alan Lester This is a timely astutely assembled and well nuanced collection that combines theoretical sophistication with empirical solidity Theoretically it engages knowledgeably but not uncritically with a broad range of influences including postcolonialism the new imperial history settler colonial studies and critical Indigenous studies Empirically contributors have trawled an impressive array of archival sources both standard and relatively unknown bringing a fresh eye to bear on what we thought we knew but would now benefit from reconsidering Though the collection wears its politics openly it does so lightly and without jeopardising fidelity to its sources Patrick Wolfe

Re-Orienting Whiteness

K. Ellinghaus, J. Carey, L. Boucher, 2009-10-26 This book brings together historians from the United States Canada Australia New Zealand and Europe to historicize constructions of whiteness as a colonial formation Confronting the privilege inherent in the invisibility of contemporary whiteness requires that the historical roots of racial power be interrogated and the history of European colonialism is of much more than passing significance to this task This collection functions to read the colonial back into whiteness by demonstrating how this racial category traveled around the routes of empire It shows how a transnational focus can bring historical and spatial specificity to the study of whiteness and thus re orients the frames of whiteness for American and non American scholars alike
