Users Guide to Lowtran 7 F. X. Kneizys, 1988 LOWTRAN 7 is a low resolution propagation model and computer code for predicting atmospheric transmittance and background radiance from 0 to 50 000 cm⁻¹ at a resolution of 20 cm⁻¹. The code is based on the LOWTRAN 6 1983 model. Multiple scattered radiation has been added to the model as well as new molecular band model parameters and new ozone and molecular oxygen absorption parameters for the UV. Other modifications include a wind dependent desert model, new cirrus cloud models and new cloud and rain models. The code also includes new representative geographical and seasonal atmospheric models and updated aerosol models with options to replace them with user derived values. An improved extra terrestrial solar source function is also included. Six modes of program execution are allowed with the new model and computer code for a given slant path geometry. This report contains a description to users for operating the LOWTRAN 7 computer code. It summarizes the capabilities of the new code, provides complete operating instructions as well as input and output from test cases for user validation. Also included are operating instructions for three programs that utilize LOWTRAN 7 output plot filter and scanning function programs. Fields of Revolution Carmen Soliz,2021-04-20 Fields of Revolution examines the second largest case of peasant land redistribution in Latin America and agrarian reform arguably the most important policy to arise out of Bolivia s 1952 revolution Competing understandings of agrarian reform shaped ideas of property productivity welfare and justice Peasants embraced the nationalist slogan of land for those who work it and rehabilitated national union structures Indigenous communities proclaimed instead land to its original owners and sought to link the ruling party discourse on nationalism with their own long standing demands for restitution Landowners for their part embraced the principle of land for those who improve it to protect at least portions of their former properties from expropriation Carmen Soliz combines analysis of governmental policies and national discourse with everyday local actors struggles and interactions with the state to draw out the deep connections between land and people as a material reality and as the object of political contention in the period surrounding the revolution

Shaping the Metropolis Zack Taylor, 2019-05-23 Rising income inequality and concentrated poverty threaten the social sustainability of North American cities Suburban growth endangers sensitive ecosystems water supplies and food security Existing urban infrastructure is crumbling while governments struggle to pay for new and expanded services Can our inherited urban governance institutions and policies effectively respond to these problems In Shaping the Metropolis Zack Taylor compares the historical development of American and Canadian urban governance both at the national level and through specific metropolitan case studies Examining Minneapolis St Paul and Portland Oregon in the United States and Toronto and Vancouver in Canada Taylor shows how differences in the structure of governing institutions in American states and Canadian provinces cumulatively produced different forms of urban governance Arguing that since the nineteenth century American state governments have responded less effectively to rapid urban growth than Canadian provinces he shows that the concentration of authority in Canadian provincial governments enabled the rapid adoption of coherent urban policies after the Second World War while dispersed authority in American state governments fostered indecision and catered to parochial interests Most contemporary policy problems and their solutions are to be found in cities Shaping the Metropolis shows that urban governance encompasses far more than local government and that states and provinces have always played a central role in responding to urban policy challenges and will continue to do so in the future
