Language, the Singer and the Song Richard J. Watts, Franz Andres Morrissey, 2019-01-31 The relationship between language and music has much in common rhythm structure sound metaphor Exploring the phenomena of song and performance this book presents a sociolinguistic model for analysing them Based on ethnomusicologist John Blacking's contention that any song performed communally is a folk song regardless of its generic origins it argues that folk song to a far greater extent than other song genres displays communal or inclusive types of performance The defining feature of folk song as a multi modal instantiation of music and language is its participatory nature making it ideal for sociolinguistic analysis In this sense a folk song is the product of specific types of developing social interaction whose major purpose is the construction of a temporally and locally based community Through repeated instantiations this can lead to disparate communities of practice which over time develop sociocultural registers and a communal stance towards aspects of meaningful events in everyday lives that become typical of a discourse community Birds of Maine Peter D.

Vickery, Charles D. Duncan, Jeffrey V. Wells, William J. Sheehan, 2020-11-03 A comprehensive and beautifully illustrated overview to the birds of Maine The first comprehensive overview of Maine's incredibly rich birdlife in more than seven decades Birds of Maine is a detailed account of all 464 species recorded in the Pine Tree State It is also a thoroughly researched accessible portrait of a region undergoing rapid changes with southern birds pushing north northern birds expanding south and once absent natives like Atlantic Puffins brought back by innovative conservation techniques pioneered in Maine Written by the late Peter Vickery in cooperation with a team of leading ornithologists this guide offers a detailed look at the state's dynamic avifauna from the Wild Turkey to the Arctic Tern with information on migration patterns and timing current status and changes in bird abundance and distribution and how Maine's geography and shifting climate mold its birdlife It delves into the conservation status for Maine's birds as well as the state's unusually textured ornithological history involving such famous names as John James Audubon and Theodore Roosevelt and home grown experts like Cordelia Stanwood and Ralph Palmer Sidebars explore diverse topics including the Old Sow whirlpool that draws multitudes of seabirds and the famed Monhegan Island a mecca for migrant birds Gorgeously illustrated with watercolors by Lars Jonsson and scores of line drawings by Barry Van Dusen Birds of Maine is a remarkable guide that birders will rely on for decades to come Copublished with the Nuttall Ornithological Club Learning and Awareness Ference Marton, Shirley A. Booth, 1997 This book stems from more than 25 years of systematic research into the experience of learning undertaken by a research team trying to account for the obvious differences between more or less successful instances of learning in educational institutions The book offers an answer in terms of the discovery of critical differences in the structure of the learner's awareness and critical differences in the meaning of the learner's world The authors offer a detailed account of the empirical findings that give rise to theoretical insights and discuss the particular form of qualitative research that has been employed and developed The form of learning that is the object of study is considered to be the most fundamental form namely a change in the learner's way of seeing experiencing handling and understanding aspects of the world The need for rigorous analysis of learning of specific subject matter the individual construction of knowledge and its social and cultural embeddedness the defining features of rival approaches into research on learning are reconciled from the approach adopted here into an intertwined and whole experience of learning The learner's experience is always one of learning something in some way and in some context by holding the learner's experience of learning as the focus of study throughout and not studying the learning of the content and the acts and the context as separate and distinct focuses the content the act and the context remain united as constituents of the learner's experience By empirically revealing critical differences in the ways of experiencing these aspects of learning and by developing a theoretical framework for the dynamics through which change comes about in the learner's awareness this book gradually leads the reader to a powerful new view of learning. Equipped with the analytical tools and conceptual apparatus to be found in this book, the reader will be empowered to learn and to assist others to learn by creating environments conducive to the most fundamental form of learning: experiencing aspects of the world in new ways.
