Seventh Elephant:

The Seventh Elephant Alexis Stamatis, 2013-07-25 Clutching his vodka and his memories he seeks refuge on an island in the Cyclades There by chance he meets a young woman who reactivates love s vocabulary His survival instinct faintly reappears through the distorting mirror of alcohol Yet the craving is an irresistible clever adversary that shows no mercy He is drawn by his love to places that affect his emotional world ever more forcefully Moving from Paris and Munich to London and a mountain village in central Greece he meets a young woman and it becomes clear that the greatest magic is to be found in reality not the bottle

Seven Elephants Igor Patanin, 2025-04-09 When a sixteen year old girl disappears the investigation uncovers a sinister global conspiracy Seven Elephants plunges readers into a dark world where the boundaries between mind control and free will blur dangerously As questions about identity take on frightening new dimensions this psychological thriller explores the resilience of the human spirit against those who believe they can rewrite destinies and collect human souls for their own perfect collection

Large Mammals And A Brave People, The Valley Bisa people inhabit the Luangwa Valley in central Zambia. Among them, the hunter who tracks such large game as the lion, elephant, and buffalo commands great respect and esteem from the other members of the lineage who traditionally rely on him for their subsistence and protection. Although the social organization and technology of the Bisa people have undergone tremendous change in the last one hundred years, the role of the hunter retains its social importance, and the legitimizing hunting rituals have their roots in local history. Drawing on data collected during his fieldwork among the Bisa, continuing since the 1960s, Stuart Marks describes the changes that have occurred in hunting patterns, the sociological variables that govern an individual's decision to become a hunter, and the common cosmological convictions that hunters bring to their profession. Available for the first time in paperback, the new introduction and afterword to this edition reflect on methodological and ideological changes in the anthropological study of African peoples, as well as updating the circumstances of the Bisa people since the book's first appearance in 1976. Through the interventions of the larger national society, the Bisa have lost much of their land and access to important portions of their resources while experiencing repression in their struggles to maintain livelihoods with what local assets are left. Nevertheless, Marks notes that they face their hardships with tolerance, integrity, persistence, and humility. The general reader, as well as prehistorians and anthropologists concerned with human evolution and hunting societies, will find this volume useful. It will also be of interest to wildlife managers and ecologists. Stuart A. Marks is actively involved in conservation and development work at the local, national, and international levels. Currently, he is an independent scholar and consultant and was a Research Professor of Anthropology at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill from 1997 to 2002. He is the author of the award-winning Southern Hunting in Black and White: Nature History and Ritual in a Carolina Community, The Imperial Lion: Human Dimensions to Wildlife Management in Central Africa, and a forthcoming volume Wild Animals and Rural African Livelihoods.
