The Mirror and the Palette Jennifer Higgie, 2021-10-05. A dazzlingly original and ambitious book on the history of female self-portraiture by one of today's most well-respected art critics. Her story weaves in and out of time and place. She's Frida Kahlo. Lo's Mailou Jones and Amrita Sher-Gil en route to Mexico City. Paris or Bombay. She's Suzanne Valadon and Gwen John craving city lights, the sea, and solitude. She's Artemisia Gentileschi striding through the streets of Naples and Paula Modersohn-Becker in Worpswede. She's haunting museums in her paint-stained dress, scrutinising how El Greco or Titian or Van Dyck or Cézanne solved the problems that she too is facing. She's railing against her corsets, her chaperones, her husband and her brothers. She's hammering on doors, dreaming in her bedroom, working day and night in her studio. Despite the immense hurdles that have been placed in her way, she sits at her easel, picks up a mirror, and paints a self-portrait because as a subject, she is always available. Until the twentieth century, art history was in the main written by white men who tended to write about other white men. The idea that women in the West have always made art was rarely cited as a possibility. Yet they have, and of course continue to do so, often against tremendous odds, from laws and religion to the pressures of family and public disapproval. In The Mirror and the Palette, Jennifer Higgie introduces us to a cross-section of women artists who embody the fact that there is more than one way to understand our planet, more than one way to live in it, and more than one way to make art about it. Spanning 500 years, biography and cultural history intertwine in a narrative packed with tales of rebellion, adventure, revolution, travel, and tragedy enacted by women who turned their back on convention and lived lives of great resilience, creativity, and bravery.

At the Edges of Vision Renée van de Vall, 2017-07-05. In At the Edges of Vision, Renée van de Vall re-examines the aesthetics of spectatorship in terms of new media art and visual culture. The aesthetic experience of visual art has traditionally been described in terms of the distanced contemplation and critical interpretation of the work's form and representational content. Recent developments in installation, video, and computer art have foregrounded the bodily and affective engagement of the spectator, and in retrospect throw into question the model of spectatorial distance for more traditional art forms as well But what does this development entail for art's potential for reflective imaginative and experiential depth Is art still capable of providing a critical counterpoint to the ubiquitous presence of sensational yet short lived media imagery when it speaks to the senses rather than to the mind In a thorough examination of examples from painting film installation art and interactive video and computer art Van de Vall argues for a tactile and affective conception of reflection linking philosophy and art Looking at a Rembrandt self portrait and navigating through an internet art work have in common that both types of work rely on a playful rhythmically structured sensuous and embodied reflexivity for the articulation of meaning This sensuous dimension of playful reflexivity is just as important in philosophical thought however as the transcendental condition for genuine open ended reflection Drawing on the philosophy of Merleau Ponty Levinas Lyotard and Deleuze on the one hand and on new media theory on the other Van de Vall develops a performative phenomenology of aesthetic reflection visuality and visual art in order to rethink art's ethical and political relevance in present day digital media culture

Charting Thoughts Low Sze Wee, Patrick Flores, 2017-12-31 A constellation of thoughts by 25 established and emerging scholars who plot the indices of modernity and locate new coordinates within the shifting landscape of art These newly commissioned essays are accompanied by close to 200 full colour image plates

The Social Context of James Ensor's Art Practice Susan M. Canning, 2022-10-20 Vive la Sociale This rousing revolutionary statement written on a bright red banner across the top of James Ensor's Christ's Entry into Brussels in 1889 served as a visual manifesto and call to action by the Belgian artist 1860-1949 one that announced with an insistent public voice the centrality of his art practice to the cultural discourse of modern Belgium This provocative declaration serves as the title for this new study of Ensor's art focusing on its social discourse and the artist's interaction with and at times satirical encounter with his contemporary milieu. Rather than the alienated and traumatized Expressionist given preference in modern art history, Ensor is presented here as an artist of agency and purpose whose art practice engaged the issues and concerns of middle class Belgian life, society and politics and was informed by the values and class, race and gendered perspectives of his time. Ensor's radical vision and oppositional strategy of resistance, self-fashioning and performance remains relevant. This book with its timely nuanced reading of the art and career of this often misunderstood artist's artist invites a re-evaluation not only of Ensor's social context and expressive critique but also his unique contribution to modernist art practice.
