Environmental Health Perspectives ,2003-07 Social and Behavioral Foundations of Public Health Jeannine Coreil,2010 This book is intended as a core textbook for courses in public health that examines current issues in health from a social and behavioral science perspective It is a cross disciplinary course public health medical sociology health psychology medical anthropology and thus there are many ways to teach the course based on a particular instructor s perspective The authors wrote the book because they were dissatisfied with the way other texts apply social science to public health and found that many texts being used were from related fields such as medicine nursing or general health The authors are planning to do a major revision based on reviews they have collected and the reviews we have collected We believe the revised edition will essentially be a new text based on rich feedback They will include new theory new cases new research and a rich ancillary package They will also reduce the frameworks presented to make the book more readable to students

A Pragmatic Approach to Conceptualization of Health and Disease Maartje Schermer,Nicholas Binney,2024-07-18 This open access book is an integrated historical and philosophical investigation of several problematic situations that emerge from diverse areas of medical practice These include but are not limited to Paying less attention to patients who are suffering with symptoms because no identifiable pathological lesion or pathophysiological process can be found Paying too much attention to patients who are not suffering with symptoms because pathological lesions or pathophysiological processes have been found The tendency to understand patients at risk of developing pathology as being diseased The tendency to disregard the importance of wider societal consequences of definitions of disease and health The book shows that many of these problems are related to what disease and health are considered to be and argues that these problems can be addressed by reconsidering the concepts of health and disease employed in practice It argues for a pragmatic reconceptualization of health and disease that allows clinicians researchers and lay people to understand health and disease in many ways depending on the specific context in which they find themselves and the problems they are trying to solve In doing so authors are careful to show how this pragmatism does not endorse silly forms of relativism in which knowledge is reduced to belief or to whatever people find expedient to believe This work is relevant for philosophers and historians as well as for doctors health policy makers and other health professionals because it addresses problems sourced from medical practice albeit using philosophical and historical methods Louisiana Libraries ,2002 Annals of

Bioethics: Regional Perspectives in Bioethics Mark J. Cherry, John F. Peppin, 2005-08-10 Regional Perspectives in Bioethics illustrates the ways in which the national and international political landscape encompasses persons from diverse and often fragmented moral communities with widely varying moral intuitions premises evaluations and commitments

Relational Caring and Presence Theory in Health Care and Social Work Andries Baart, Guus Timmerman, 2024-12-18 Three decades of neoliberal efficiency thinking about caring and care systems have resulted in a greater need for relationality in healthcare and social work than ever before These support services extend beyond the giving of care and support to include the development of relationships between caregivers and their care recipients in their socio institutional contexts The culmination of over 30 years of research this book provides an extensive and critical introduction to relational working in care education and welfare It explains what relational work is and proposes a new human orientated theory beyond the simple needs provision model Demonstrating the kind of professionalism required for such work it explores why it is as important to be present with and for people especially those in precarious conditions as it is to give care This is essential reading for researchers educators quality officers policy makers students and practitioners interested in understanding the growing scholarship related to both care theory and presence theory Paradigm Freeze Harvey Lazar, Pierre-Gerlier Forest, John N. Lavis, John Church, 2013-10-24 Why has health care reform proved a stumbling block for provincial governments across Canada What efforts have been made to improve a struggling system and how have they succeeded or failed In Paradigm Freeze experts in the field answer these fundamental questions by examining and comparing six essential policy issues regionalization needs based funding alternative payment plans privatization waiting lists and prescription drug coverage in five provinces Noting hundreds of recommendations from dozens of reports commissioned by provincial governments over the last quarter century the great majority to little or no avail the book focuses on careful diagnosis rather than unplanned treatment of the problem Paradigm Freeze is based on thirty case studies of policy reform in Alberta Saskatchewan Ontario Quebec and Newfoundland and Labrador The contributors assess the nature and extent of healthcare reform in Canada since the beginning of the 1990s They account for the generally limited extent of reform that has occurred and identify the factors associated with the relatively few cases of large reform An insightful new perspective on a problem that has plagued Canadian governments for decades Paradigm Freeze is an important addition to the field of health policy Contributors include John Church University of Alberta Michael Ducie Alberta Health and Wellness Pierre Gerlier Forest Pierre Elliott Trudeau Foundation Stephen Tomblin Memorial University Jeff Braun Jackson Ontario Professional Firefighters Association Burlington ON Marie Pascale Pomey Universit de Montr al John N Lavis McMaster University Harvey Lazar Queen s University Elisabeth Martin Universit Laval Tom McIntosh University of Regina Dianna Pasic McMaster University Neale Smith University of British Columbia and Michael G Wilson McMaster University
