Love Letters Michelle Janning,2018-06-14 In today's world of Tinder and texting do we write and save love letters anymore Are we more likely to save a screenshot of a text exchange or a box of paper letters from a lover How might these different ways to store a love letter make us feel Sociologist Michelle Janning's Love Letters Saving Romance in the Digital Age offers a new twist on the study of love letters what people do with them and whether digital or paper format matters Through stories a rich review of past research and her own survey findings Janning uncovers whether and how people from different groups including gender and age approach their love letter curatorial practices in an era when digitization of communication is nearly ubiquitous She investigates the importance of space and time showing how our connection to the material world and our attraction to nostalgia matter in actions as seemingly small and private as saving storing stumbling upon or even burning a love letter Janning provides a framework for understanding why someone may prefer digital or paper love letters and what that preference says about a person's access and attachment to powerful cultural values such as individualization taking time in a hectic world longevity privacy and keeping cherished things in a safe place Ultimately Janning contends the cultural values that tell us how romantic love should be defined are more powerful than the format our love letters take

Queering Romantic Engagement in the Postal Age Pamela VanHaitsma,2019-09-18 2020 Winifred Bryan Horner Book Award Honorable Mention from the Coalition of Feminist Scholars in the History of Rhetoric and Composition Romantic letters are central to understanding queer history Debates about letters of romantic friendship however too often reduce them to unstudied expressions of heartfelt feeling In Queering Romantic Engagement in the Postal Age Pamela VanHaitsma shows how the genre should be understood as a learned form of rhetoric VanHaitsma argues that epistolary instruction in the nineteenth century United States shaped civic engagement in predictably heteronormative ways even as it opened up possibilities for queer rhetorical practices Her archival study draws on writings whose authors diverse by gender race class and education all developed ways of queering cultural norms and generic conventions in their same sex relationships VanHaitsma theorizes a new concept of rhetorical education for romantic engagement to account for the significant yet understudied role of such training in inventing both civic and romantic life
