Love Over Gold The Story Of The Gold Blend Couple:

The Adman in the Parlor Ellen Gruber Garvey, 1996-06-06 How did advertising come to seem natural and ordinary to magazine readers by the end of the nineteenth century The Adman in the Parlor explores readers interactions with advertising during a period when not only consumption but advertising itself became established as a pleasure Garvey argues that readers participation in advertising rather than top down dictation by advertisers made advertising a central part of American culture Garvey s analysis interweaves such texts and artifacts as advertising trade journals magazines addressed to elite middle class and poorer readerships scrapbooks medical articles paper dolls chromolithographed trade cards and contest rules She tracks new forms of fictional realism that contained brand name references courtship stories and other fictional forms As magazines became dependant on advertising rather than sales for their revenues women s magazines led the way in making consumers of readers through the interplay of fiction editorials and advertising General magazines too saw little conflict between these different interests Instead advertising and fiction came to act on one another in complex unexpected ways Magazine stories illustrated the multiple desires and social meanings embodied in the purchase of a product Garvey takes the bicycle as a case study and tracks how magazines mediated among competing medical commercial and feminist discourses to produce an alluring and unthreatening model of women bicycling in their stories Advertising formed the national vocabulary At once invisible familiar and intrusive advertising both shaped fiction of the period and was shaped by it The Adman in the Parlor unearths the lively conversations among writers and advertisers about the new prevalence of advertising for mass produced nationally distributed products

Storytelling Klaus Fog, Christian Budtz, Philip Munch, Stephen Blanchette, 2011-05-09 As a business concept storytelling has had a significant impact on how companies can build strong corporate cultures and credible brands Yet many corporations are still confused as to how exactly storytelling can make a difference Why should we tell stories at all What makes a good story And how do we tell it in a way that advances our company both culturally and fiscally while strengthening our brand The second edition of this successful book presents ten new case studies Written by practitioners for practitioners and students and filled with simple tools for putting corporate storytelling into practice it provides knowledge and inspiration for using storytelling as a strategic tool for releasing your company s potential

Notes from a Wayward Son Andrew G. Walker, 2020-01-01 Andrew Walker is one of the most remarkable scholars I have met across the years William J Abraham This miscellany puts readers around the table with a teacher who has provided the church with wisdom and passion and introduces a new voice to the ongoing conversation about the relationship between the gospel and culture Andrew Walker s ecclesial intelligence and broad interdisciplinary approach to theology and sociology will undoubtedly capture the imagination of many who are curious about the church s mission in the modern West Notes from a Wayward Son represents a broad sampling of Walker s writings from a distinguished forty five year career from explorations of Pentecostalism and Charismatic Renewal to Eastern Orthodoxy C S

Lewis and Deep Church from the impact of modernity on the ecclesia to mission and ecumenism in the West today In a world and a church often driven by the latest fashions Walker's is a voice to which we will want to listen Murder on Deck! Rosemary Herbert,1998 Twenty five stories on crime at sea They range from George Simenon's Two Bodies on a Barge to Honeymoon Cruise by Saho Sasazawa The period covered is from the 1890s to the 1990s Mrs Slocombe's Pussy Stuart Jeffries,2000 For most of us sitting in our living rooms looking for an excuse not to talk to each other of a Thursday night a million million miles away from moon landings and Cold War tension and Third World famine it is the addiction to a little flickering box in the corner that has shaped our lives since the late 1950s Literature and Culture in Modern Britain: Volume Three Clive Bloom,Gary Day,2014-06-11 British culture has changed almost beyond recognition since 1956 Angry young men have been displaced by Yuppies Elvis by the Spice Girls and meat and two veg by continental cuisine What is more as the death of Diana Princess of Wales showed the British are now more famous for a trembling lower lip than a stiff upper one This volume the last in the series examines the transformations in literature and culture over the last forty years An introductory essay provides a context for the following chapters by arguing that although there have been significant changes in British life there are also profound continuities It also discusses the rise of theory and its impact on the humanities Each essay in the volume concentrates on a facet of British culture over the last half century from painting to poetry from the seriousness of the novel to the postmodern ironies of the computing age What we get from this selection is not only an informed history of the relations between literature and culture but also a lively sense of cultural change not least of which is the new found relationship between literature and other arts which ushers us into the new millennium

Telling the Story Andrew Walker,1996 The Joy of Publishing Nat G. Bodian,1996 In the bestselling tradition of The Joy of Sex and The Joy of Cooking now comes The Joy of Publishing an anecdotal history of book publishing in America

The Mammoth Encyclopedia of Modern Crime Fiction Michael Ashley,2002 A reference and overview of the genre of crime fiction primarily covering the 1950s onwards although major earlier writers such as Agatha Christie and Raymond Chandler also have entries Brainjacking Brian Clegg,2024-11-07 Brainjacking takes us on a journey through advertising and marketing's attempts to understand and influence our thoughts and desires from the earliest billboards to the technologies of the future To discover how science intersects with our desires and decisions the book pulls together three strands that have a huge impact on our lives advertising how much privacy we can and should have in the new electronic world and how to draw the line between information and influence With Brian Clegg as your guide this is a book that will help you unpick the insidious world of brainjacking Expertly pulling together different strands on disparate topics including AI Big Data subliminal advertising and more this essential investigation shows how new and old technology and science can be combined to influence human behaviour and beliefs Make me not me Ingemar Fredriksson,2020-09-28 Do we really need more consumer stuff While most everyone will answer No we still see thousands of new products and services launched every day These compete for our attention with already inundated markets filled with existing products in the midst of the most intense information flows in history Traditional adverts are not a cost effective solution and like much more So how can you successfully catch consumers interest This book provides the answer It s all about adapting to the demands of entertainment which means product stories that are simultaneously sales driving and identity building The book presents volumes of examples including how one of the most wide spread breakfast cereals was originally developed as a way to counteract masturbation It also fully explains concepts like Business mindfulness the Happy Valley phenomenon and Copperfield rhetoric Moreover you read about how a single word is used to encourage consumers to buy eggs from chickens that are less healthy and how consumers were led to pay 12 times more for their bowl of oatmeal porridge Before concluding the book provides a simple model for how to build quality product stories using four cornerstones five elements that sell stories and the ICE you need Ingemar Fredriksson has over 40 years experience in business development and marketing while holding senior management positions in many Swedish and international companies His previous books have all reached best seller listings several for many years having received many positive reviews and wide media attention The Mix ,1999
