Society Verse by American Writers Ernest De Lancey Pierson, 1887 21st-Century TV Dramas Amy M. Damico, Sara E. Quay, 2016-02-12 In its exploration of some of the most influential popular or critically acclaimed television dramas since the year 2000 this book documents how modern television dramas reflect our society through their complex narratives about prevailing economic political security and social issues Television dramas have changed since the turn of the 21st century for the good many would say as a result of changes in technology the rise of cable networks and increased creative freedom This book approaches the new golden age of television dramas by examining the programs that define the first 15 years of the new century through their complex narratives high production value star power popularity and enthusiastic fan culture After an introduction that sets the stage for the book's content thematic sections present concise chapters that explore key connections between television dramas and elements of 21st century culture The authors explore Downton Abbey as a distraction from contemporary class struggles patriarchy and the past in Game of Thrones and Mad Men and portrayals of the dark hero protagonist in The Sopranos Dexter and Breaking Bad as a few examples of the book's coverage With its multidisciplinary perspectives on a variety of themes terrorism race class gender family dynamics and sociopolitical and socioeconomic topics this book will be relevant across the social sciences and cultural and media studies courses

Hope and Kinship in Contemporary Fiction Gero Bauer, 2024-01-11 Explores the emphasis that contemporary novels films and television series place on the present arguing that hope emerges from the potentiality of the here and now rather than the future and as intimately entangled with negotiations of structures of belonging Taking its cue from an understanding of hope as connoting an organizing temporality one which is often presumed to be projecting into a future Hope and Kinship in Contemporary Fiction challenges this understanding arguing that hope emerges in practices of relationality in the present disentangling hope from a necessary correlation with futurity Through close readings of contemporary works including The Road The Walking Dead Cloud Atlas Sense8 The People in the Trees and A Little Life Gero Bauer investigates how these texts explore structures of kinship as creative and affective practices of belonging and care that claim spaces beyond the heterosexual reproductive nuclear family In this context fictional figurations of the child often considered the bearer of the future are of particular interest Through these interventions into definitions of and reflections on fictional manifestations of hope and kinship Bauer's analyses intersect with queer theory new materialism and postcritical approaches to literature and cultural studies moving towards counterintuitively hopeful readings of the present moment
