Major Power Relations in Northeast Asia; Win-Win or Zero-Sum Game David M. Lampton, 2001-10 Three countries China Japan and the United States and relations among them are likely to have a disproportionate impact on prospects for peace and prosperity in Asia Pacific in the twenty first century If the differences among these major actors are managed successfully the prospects for the region are bright indeed Conversely if the three fail to manage their relationship successfully or if relations between any two of the parties are seen to threaten the third the risks for the region and beyond will increase dramatically The Economy-security Nexus in Northeast Asia T. J. Pempel, 2013 The dynamics of Northeast Asia have traditionally been considered primarily in military and hard security terms or alternatively along their economic dimensions This book argues that relations among the states of Northeast Asia are far more comprehensible when the mutually shaping interactions between economics and security are considered simultaneously It examines these interactions and some of the key empirical questions they pose the answers to which have important lessons for international relations beyond Northeast Asia Contributors to this volume analyze how the states of the region define their security and how bilateral relations in hard security issues and economic linkages play out among Japan China and the two Koreas Further the chapters interrogate how different patterns of techno nationalist development affect regional security ties and the extent to which closer economic connections enhance or detract from a nation's self perceived security The book concludes by discussing scenarios for the future and the conditions that will shape relations between economics and security in the region This book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Asian politics Asian economics security studies and political economy
