Nursery World Of Dr Blatz:

The Nursery World of Dr Blatz Jocelyn Motyer Raymond, 1991
Raymond, 1991-12-15 In 1925 Blatz established St George's school for child study associated with the University of Toronto. The school consisted of two divisions: one was Parent Education, a research program created to educate parents in the newest techniques of child rearing. Normalizing the Ideal Mona Lee Gleason, 1999-01-01 Postwar insecurity about the stability of family life became a platform to elevate the role of psychologists in society. Their ideal of normal as the healthy goal for society marginalizing and silencing those who did not fit the model. The Nurture of Nature Sharon Wall, 2010-01-01 Thousands of children attended summer camps in twentieth-century Ontario. Did parents simply want a break or were broader developments at play? The Nurture of Nature explores the history of summer camps and sheds light on a wider phenomenon: the divided consciousness that informs modern assumptions about nature, technology, and identity. Wall examines how two competing tendencies—antimodern nostalgia and modern sensibilities about the landscape—child rearing and identity played out in the camp's interaction with nature, its class and gendered dimensions, its engagement with emerging ideologies of childhood, and in the politics of race inherent in its Indian programming. The Nurture of Nature offers a fascinating discussion of the summer camp's contribution to modern social life that will appeal to students and practitioners of the history of childhood, the natural environment, and recreation, or anyone who has been packed off to camp and wants to explore why. Ring Around the Maple Cynthia R. Comacchio, Neil Sutherland, 2024-10-29 Ring Around the Maple is about the condition of children in Canada from roughly 1850 to 2000, a time during which the modern increasingly disrupted traditional ways. Authors Cynthia R. Comacchio and Neil Sutherland trace the lives of children over this long century with a view to synthesizing the rich interdisciplinary, often multi-disciplinary literature that has emerged since the 1970s. Integrated into this synthesis is the authors' new research into many often seemingly disparate archival and published primary sources. Emphasizing how the child and childhood are sociohistoric constructs and employing age analytically and relationally, they discuss the constants and the variants in their historic dimensions. While childhood tangibly modernized during these years, it remained a far from universal experience due to identifiers of race, gender, culture, region, and intergenerational adaptations that characterize the process of growing up. This work highlights children's perspectives through close critical readings of diaries, correspondence, memoirs, interviews, oral histories, and autobiographies, many buried in obscure archives. It is the only extant historical discussion of Canadian children that interweaves the experiences of First Nations, Métis, and Inuit children with those of children from a number of settler groups. Ring Around the Maple makes use of photographs, catalogues, advertisements, government publications, musical recordings, radio shows, television shows, material goods, documentary and feature films, and other such visual and aural testimony. Much of this evidence has not to date been used as historical testimony to uncover the lives of ordinary children. This book is generously illustrated with photographs and ephemera carefully selected to reflect children's lives, conditions, interests and obligations. It will be of special interest to historians and social scientists interested in children and the culture of childhood but will also appeal to readers who enjoy the little stories that together make up our collective history, especially when those are told by the children who lived them. Canadian Men and Masculinities Wayne Martino, Christopher John Greig, 2012

Canadian Men and Masculinities: Historical and Contemporary Perspectives is a provocative new volume that examines men and masculinity across Canadian history and culture and sets it against the broader context of neoliberal globalization. This edited collection adopts a multi-perspective social inquiry and interdisciplinary approach and takes into careful consideration the intersections of the social and historical construction of gender with race, social class, sexuality, bodily abilities and other social justice factors. The chief aim of this book is to examine from historical and contemporary perspectives the production and performance of men, boys and embodied masculinity within the Canadian context. Within this framework Canadian Men and Masculinities explores a range of issues including modern fatherhood, black male athleticism, indigenous masculinities, wrestling and body building. This volume will be a valuable resource for general readers and professionals in sociology, history, education and social and gender studies. National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1992

A Diversity of Women Joy Parr, 1995-01-01

Our perception of women's roles has changed dramatically since 1945. In this collection Joy Parr has brought together ten studies from a variety of disciplines examining changing ideas about women. Mariana Valverde writes about teenage girls in the immediate postwar years and finds that stereotypes of a supposedly simple, secure, politically quiescent and sexually conformist life do not really hold. Joy Parr follows women shoppers of the early 1950s in their sometimes comical encounters with male designers, manufacturers and retailers in search of the tools and totems of modernity for their homes. Increasingly these homes were in suburban subdivisions whose pleasures and possibilities for women. Veronica Strong-Boag reconsiders Joan Sangster reminds us that wage-earning mothers were numerous in the fifties and sixties and through a juxtaposition of their own stories with contemporary studies tells much about these self-denying women's lives. Franca Iacovetta discusses the experiences of immigrant and refugee women in northwestern and south-central Ontario experiences that were interpreted through their starkly different European wartime memories. Based upon her work among the rural women of southwestern Ontario, Nora Cebotarev charts the changes that transformed farm families and finances from the sixties to the eighties. Ester Reiter compares the recollections of women who had worked together during the 1960s in an auto parts plant in the Niagara Peninsula with contemporary newspaper accounts of a strike and leads us into a complex narrative of gender and militancy. Nancy Adamson reconsiders the diversity of feminist organizing within the province over the decades since second-wave feminism began; she tracks the different needs and paths that brought women to the women's liberation movement and the ways in which their feminist analysis arose from their experience as community activists. Linda Cardinal writes about Franco-Ontarian women charting

the ways in which feminist activists challenged and were challenged as they worked with traditional farm and church based women's groups in northern and eastern Ontario Marlene Brant Castellano and Janice Hill introduce us to four aboriginal women Edna Manitowabi Jeannette Corbiere Lavell Sylvia Maracle and Emily Faries whose work has been to reclaim and build upon the knowledge and responsibilities long entrusted to the women of Ontario's First Nations

Progressive Rhetoric and Curriculum Theodore Christou, 2017-10-20 Progressive Rhetoric Contested Visions of Public Education in Interwar Ontario considers the ways that progressivist ideas and rhetoric shaped early curriculum and structural changes to Ontario's public schools Through a series of case studies conceptual analyses and personal reflections from the field this volume shows how post WWI era debates around progressive education were firmly situated within political economic social and intellectual evolutions in the province and beyond By framing contemporary educational rhetoric in light of historical concepts and arguments Progressive Rhetoric adds to the ongoing historical examination of the meaning of progressive education in the modern age

Born at the Right Time Doug Owsen, 1997-12-15 It is rare in history for people to link their identity with their generation and even rarer when children and adolescents actually shape society and influence politics Both phenomena aptly describe the generation born in the decade following the Second World War These were the baby boomers viewed by some as the spoiled selfish generation that had it all and by others as a shock wave that made love and peace into tangible ideals In this book Doug Owsen brings us the untold story of this famous generation as it played out its first twenty five years in Canadian society Beginning with Dr Spock's dictate that this particular crop of babies must be treated gently Owsen explores the myth and history surrounding this group from its beginning at war's end to the close of the 1960s The baby boomers wielded extraordinary power right from birth Owsen points out and laid their claim on history while still in diapers He sees the generation's power and sense of self stemming from three factors its size its affluent circumstance and its connection with the 1960s the fabulous decade of free love flower power women's liberation drugs protest marches and rock n roll From Davy Crockett hats and Barbie dolls to the civil rights movement and the sexual revolution the concerns of this single generation became predominant themes for all of society Thus Owsen's history of the baby boomers is in many ways a history of the era Doug Owsen has written extensively on cultural icons Utopian hopes and the gap between realities and images all powerful themes in the story of this idealistic generation A well researched lucid and humorous book Born at the Right Time is the first Canadian history of the baby boomers and the society they helped to shape
