Handbook of Research on Educational Communications and Technology David H. Jonassen,2004 This edition of this handbook updates and expands its review of the research theory issues and methodology that constitute the field of educational communications and technology Organized into seven sectors it profiles and integrates the following elements of this rapidly changing field The Handbook of Internet Studies Mia Consalvo,Charles Ess,2012-12-17 The Handbook of Internet Studies HANDBOOKS IN COMMUNICATION AND MEDIA Highly recommended CHOICE A state of the art collection that represents and celebrates the diversity of theoretical and disciplinary approaches marking this brave new field A new must have reference book for Internet studies Caroline Haythornthwaite University of Illinois This indispensable volume reflects the complexity of Internet studies indeed the Internet itself by bringing together a diverse set of voices geographies disciplines and arguments It is not only an important resource for practitioners but will also spark the curiosity of those on the edges of the field including humanists social scientists and engineers alike Michael Zimmer University of Wisconsin A comprehensive and useful volume that will appeal to students teachers and researchers I highly recommend it to those who have been following the field since its emergence in the 1990s as well as to those new to the field Steve Jones University of Illinois at Chicago This handbook is landmark documenting that Internet studies have now come of age Niels Ole Finnemann Aarhus University To fully understand the impact and significance of the Internet it is essential to consider its historical societal and cultural contexts This handbook presents a wide range of original essays by established scholars in the field of Internet studies exploring the role of the Internet in modern societies and the continuing development of its academic study Letters, Postcards, Email Esther Milne,2012-02-27 In this original study Milne moves between close readings of letters postcards and emails and investigations of the material technological infrastructures of these forms to answer the question How does presence function as an aesthetic and rhetorical strategy within networked communication practices As her work reveals the relation between old and new communication systems is more complex than allowed in much contemporary media theory Although the correspondents of letters postcards and emails are not usually present to one another as they write and read their exchanges this does not necessarily inhibit affective communication Indeed this study demonstrates how physical absence may in some instances provide correspondents with intense intimacy and a spiritual almost telepathic sense of the other s presence While corresponding by letter postcard or email readers construe an imaginary incorporeal body for their correspondents that in turn reworks their interlocutor s self presentation In this regard the fantasy of presence reveals a key paradox of cultural communication namely that material signifiers can be used to produce the experience of incorporeal presence Handbook of Research in Educational Communications and Technology M. J. Bishop,Elizabeth Boling,Jan Elen,Vanessa Svihla,2020-09-21 The 5th edition of the prestigious AECT Handbook continues previous efforts to reach outside the traditional instructional design and technology community to the learning sciences and computer information systems communities toward developing a conceptualization of the field However given the pervasive and increasingly complex role technology now plays in education since the 1st edition of the Handbook in 1996 the editors have reorganized the research chapters in this edition to focus on the learning problems we are trying to solve with educational technologies rather than to focus on the things we are using to solve those problems Additionally for the first time this edition of the Handbook reflects our field s growing understanding of the importance of design scholarship to inform practice by including design case chapters These changes for this edition of the Handbook are intended to bring educational technology research into the broader framework of educational research by elaborating on the role instructional design and technology plays as a scholarly discipline in addressing education s increasingly complex issues Provides comprehensive reviews of new developments in educational technology research and design practice Includes concrete examples to guide future research and practice in the ways emerging technologies can be used to solve educational problems Contains extensive references furnished to guide readers to the most recent research and design practice in the field of instructional design and technology Breakcore Andrew Whelan,2009-05-27 Peer to peer music exchange sampling and digital distribution have garnered much attention in recent years notably in debates about authorship intellectual property media control and Web 2 However empirical scholarship on how these technologies are used creatively by musicians and fans is still sparse In this interdisciplinary ethnography of bedroom producer culture Andrew Whelan examines interaction and exchange within a specific online milieu peer to peer chatrooms dedicated to electronic music focusing on a genre known as breakcore The author draws on semantic anthropology ethnomethodology sociolinguistics and critical musicology to explore the activity afforded by this controversial and criminalised environment Through in depth analysis of often ritually vituperative text based interaction discussions of music and the samples used in that music Whelan describes the cultural politics and aesthetics of bedroom producer identity highlighting the roles gender and ethnicity play in the constitution of subcultural authenticity Empirically driven throughout this book also engages with a spectrum of social theory in doing so it highlights the intersections between gender interaction technology and music This book will prove valuable for students and scholars with interests in gender and language use computer mediated communication online subcultures and virtual community and the evolution production and distribution of electronic music Gender, Ethics and Information Technology A.
