Mind John R. Searle, 2004-11-01 The philosophy of mind is unique among contemporary philosophical subjects writes John Searle in that all of the most famous and influential theories are false In Mind Searle dismantles these famous and influential theories as he presents a vividly written comprehensive introduction to the mind Here readers will find one of the world's most eminent thinkers shedding light on the central concern of modern philosophy Searle begins with a look at the twelve problems of philosophy of mind which he calls Descartes and Other Disasters problems which he returns to throughout the volume as he illuminates such topics as the freedom of the will the actual operation of mental causation the nature and functioning of the unconscious the analysis of perception and the concept of the self One of the key chapters is on the mind body problem which Searle analyzes brilliantly He argues that all forms of consciousness from feeling thirsty to wondering how to translate Mallarmé are caused by the behavior of neurons and are realized in the brain system which is itself composed of neurons But this does not mean that consciousness is nothing but neuronal behavior The main point of having the concept of consciousness Searle points out is to capture the first person subjective features of the phenomenon and this point is lost if we redefine consciousness in third person objective terms Described as a dragonslayer by temperament John Searle offers here a refreshingly direct and open discussion of philosophy one that skewers accepted wisdom even as it offers striking new insights into the nature of consciousness and the mind

The Oxford Handbook of Free Will Robert Kane, 2011-07-27 This second edition of the Oxford Handbook of Free Will is intended to be a sourcebook and guide to current work on free will and related subjects. Its focus is on writings of the past forty years in which there has been a resurgence of interest in traditional issues about the freedom of the will in the light of new developments in the sciences, philosophy and humanistic studies. Special attention is given to research on free will of the first decade of the twenty first century since the publication of the first edition of the Handbook. All the essays have been newly written or rewritten for this volume. In addition there are new essayists and essays surveying topics that have become prominent in debates about free will in the past decade including new work on the relation of free will to physics, the neurosciences, cognitive science, psychology and empirical philosophy, new versions of traditional views, compatibilist, incompatibilist, libertarian etc. and new views e.g. revisionism that have emerged. The twenty eight essays by prominent international scholars and younger scholars cover a host of free will related issues such as moral agency and responsibility, accountability and blameworthiness in ethics, autonomy, coercion and control in social theory, criminal liability, responsibility and punishment in legal theory, issues about the relation of mind to body, consciousness and the nature of action in philosophy of mind and the cognitive and neurosciences, questions about divine foreknowledge, providence and human freedom in philosophy of religion and general metaphysical questions about necessity and possibility, determinism, time and chance, quantum reality, causation and explanation.

Epistemology Michael Huemer, 2002. This is a comprehensive anthology that draws together leading philosophers writing on major themes in epistemology. Each section is prefaced by an introductory essay which guides students gently into each topic.

Feminist Philosophy of Mind Keya Maitra, Jennifer McWeeny, 2022. This is the first collection of essays to focus on feminist philosophy of mind. It brings the theoretical insights from feminist philosophy to issues in philosophy of mind and vice versa. Feminist Philosophy of Mind thus promises to challenge and inform dominant theories in both of its parent fields thereby enlarging their rigor, scope and implications. In addition to engaging analytic and feminist philosophical traditions, essays draw upon resources in phenomenology, cross cultural philosophy, philosophy of race, disability studies, embodied cognition theory, neuroscience and psychology. The book's methods center on the collective consideration of three questions: What is the mind? Whose mind is the model for the theory? To whom is mind attributed? Topics considered with this lens include mental content, artificial intelligence, the first person perspective, personal identity, other minds, mental illness, perception, memory, attention, desire, trauma, agency, empathy, grief, love, gender, race, sexual orientation, materialism, panpsychism, enactivism and others. Each of the book's twenty chapters are organized according to five core themes: Mind and Gender, Self and Selves, Naturalism and Normativity, Body and Mind, and Memory and Emotion. The introduction traces the development of these themes with reference to the respective literatures in feminist philosophy and philosophy of mind. This context not only helps the reader see how the essays fit into existing disciplinary landscapes but also facilitates their use in teaching. Feminist Philosophy of Mind is designed to be used as a core text for courses in contemporary disciplines and as a supplemental text that facilitates the ready integration of diverse perspectives and women's voices      Philosophy of Mind Edward Feser, 2006-10-27 In this lively and entertaining introduction to the philosophy of mind Edward Feser explores the questions central to the discipline such as do computers think and what is consciousness and gives an account of all the most important and significant attempts that have been made to answer them
