Learning through Others Emiliano Loria, 2020-05-29 The theory of natural pedagogy provides a model of social learning based on the direct communicative ostensive relation and aimed to the transfer of generic cultural knowledge The pedagogical transmission of information originates from an explicit manifestation of teaching made by knowledgeable adults who are naturally inclined to manifestly provide their cultural baggage to naïve conspecifics The domain of transferable knowledge encompasses artifact functions novel means actions first words gestural symbols social practices and rituals This teaching process can be fast and efficient in virtue of a natural inclination possessed by infants to seek information and decode signals of ostensive communication In this sense the natural pedagogy represents as the two proponents Gyrgy Gergely and Gergely Csibra claim a communicative system of mutual design specialized for the fast and efficient transfer of new and relevant cultural knowledge from knowledgeable to ignorant conspecifics This book suggests that natural pedagogy utilises early belief attribution competences which are employed by infants in a variety of contexts to approach and navigate the social world Therefore the natural pedagogy in cooperation with the early mindreading system may represent one of the most efficient adaptive strategies to firmly create that deep wittgensteinian nest of propositions which build cultural shared

On Learning David Scott, 2021-05-20 This is a philosophical work that develops a general theory of ontological objects and object relations It does this by examining concepts as acquired dispositions and then focuses on perhaps the most important of these the concept of learning This concept is important because everything that we know and do in the world is predicated on a prior act of learning A concept can have many meanings and can be used in a number of different ways and this creates difficulty when considering the nature of objects and the relationships between them To enable this David Scott answers a series of questions about concepts in general and the concept of learning in particular Some of these questions are What is learning What different meanings can be given to the notion of learning How does the concept of learning relate to other concepts such as innatism development and progression The book offers a counter argument to empiricist conceptions of learning to the propagation of simple messages about learning knowledge curriculum and assessment and to the denial that values are central to understanding how we live It argues that values permeate everything our descriptions of the world the attempts we make at creating better futures and our relations with other people
