Philosophy And Human Geography An Introduction To Contemporary Approaches:

Philosophy and Human Geography Ronald John Johnston, 1983      Philosophy and Human Geography R. J. Johnston, 1995-04-11 Johnston traced the debates within human geography since 1945 over philosophical and methodological issues In the present book the aim is the complementary one of giving an introduction to the foundation of those discussions assuming no prior knowledge of philosophy      Approaches to Human Geography Stuart Aitken, Gill Valentine, 2006-01-27 Approaches to Human Geography is the essential student primer on theory and practice in Human Geography It is a systematic review of the key ideas and debates informing post war geography explaining how those ideas work in practice Avoiding jargon while attentive to the rigor and complexity of the ideas that underlie geographic knowledge the text is written for students who have not met philosophical or theoretical approaches before This is a beginning guide to geographic research and practice      Approaches to Human Geography Stuart C. Aitken, Gill Valentine, 2014-12-01 The book covers some of the traditionally most obtuse and difficult to grasp philosophical ideas that have influenced geographers geography The fact that these are presented in an inclusive and accessible manner is a key strength Many students have commented that the chapters they have read have encouraged them to read more in this field which is fantastic from a lecturer's perspective Richard White Sheffield Hallam University A new edition of the classic Approaches text for students organised in three sections which overviews and explains the history and philosophy of Human Geographies in all its applications by those who practise it Section One Philosophies Positivist Geography Humanism Feminist Geographies Marxisms Structuration Theory Human Animal Realism Postmodern Geographies Poststructuralist Theories Actor Network Theory Postcolonialism Geohumanities Technologies Section Two People Institutions and Cultures Places and Contexts Memories and Desires Understanding Place Personal and Political Becoming a Geographer Movement and Encounter Spaces and Flows Places as Thoughts Section Three Practices Mapping and Geovisualization Quantification Evidence and Positivism Geographic Information Systems Humanism Activism Feminist Geographies Poststructuralist Theories Psychoanalysis Environmental Inquiry Contested Geographies and Culture Wars Fully updated throughout and with eight brand new chapters this is the core text for modules on history theory and practice in Human Geography      Exploring New Methods for Teaching and Learning Human Geography Chao Ye, 2024-07-30 This book proposes a new and central teaching concept we are all makers and innovates the geographical teaching modes and methodology Geography teaching especially how to teach geographical thinking is important and related to the development of the discipline In this field the exploration of new teaching methods in non English speaking countries and regions still needs to grow Based on the author's experience of teaching geographical thinking and human cultural geography for more than ten years the book links geographical thinking to the realistic cases with new social media tools such as WeChat APP and blog Under the guidance of these new methods such as poem emotional couplet game keywords blog based teaching and the like students are transformed from passive recipients of knowledge to active learners and even creators in the end The book which focuses on and pioneers new teaching methodology or methods is used as a reference by scholars researchers practitioners and readers specialized in fields such as geography education and pedagogy

Geography and Ethics James D. Proctor,David M. Smith,2002-09-11 This book represents a landmark exploration of the common terrain of geography and ethics Drawing together specially commissioned contributions from distinguished geographers across the UK North America and Australasia the place of geography in ethics and of ethics in geography is examined through wide ranging thematic chapters Geography and Ethics is divided into four sections for discussion and exploration of ideas Ethics and Space Ethics and Place Ethics and Nature and Ethics and knowledge all of which point to the rich interplay between geography and moral philosophy or ethics

Economic Growth Versus the Environment J. Cherni,2002-04-19 Judith A Cherni presents a critical text of interdisciplinary research and a theoretical argued case for analyzing a physical social problem with a political economic approach The author identifies the convergence of global economic growth trends and the localization of environmental and health risks Backed by scientific findings she challenges the exclusive use of the natural sciences for explanation Drawing also on participatory knowledge of local residents she uses an original database of a large household survey in Houston US

Teleworking in the Countryside Michael Antony Clark,2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2000 Since the 1970s there has been widespread debate on the potential of information communication technologies on the organization of work and in particular the implications of and opportunities engendered through telework and the decentralization of the workplace However despite the possible spatial cultural social and economic implications much of the telework debate has been informed by anecdotal examples journalistic reporting and individual forecasts This book aims to further the debate by analyzing the scale nature and experience of telework in the countryside It examines how and by whom telework is set up and what policy and social changes are taking place to facilitate it in rural areas Individual teleworkers and the organizations using them are questioned to assess whether rural teleworking is proving as advantageous in practice as it is thought to be in theory Its conclusions suggest that teleworking may not yet be the solution to the many rural problems such as unemployment and depopulation and that businesses and local authorities still need to develop their policies and strategies to allow this type of working to reach its potential Environments in a Changing World John Huckle, Adrian

Martin, 2014-09-19 While there is no shortage of books on the environment there are few introductory texts that outline the social theory that informs human geographical approaches to the interactions between ecology and society Students arriving at university often lack the understanding of history economics politics sociology and philosophy that contemporary human geography requires Environments in a Changing World addresses this deficit providing foundation knowledge in a form that is accessible to first year students and applied to the understanding of both contemporary environmental issues and the challenge of sustainability Students are challenged to develop and defend their own ethical and political positions on sustainability and respond to the need for new forms of ecological citizenship Urban Geography in America,

1950-2000 Brian J.L Berry, James Wheeler, 2014-05-01 Urban Geography in America offers a comprehensive historiography of this major field Compiling the best essays from the flagship journal Urban Geography it shows the evolution of the field from the 1950s to 2000 as it shifted from data driven social science modeling in the 1960s to the more critical perspectives of the 1970s to postmodernism in the 1980s to feminism and globalization in the 1990s It covers all the major trends and figures and features some of the most important names in the field Ultimately this will be a necessary reference for all scholars in the field and all graduate students taking introductory courses and preparing for their comprehensive exams

Imagining the Turkish House Carel Bertram, 2013-05-01 Houses can become poetic expressions of longing for a lost past voices of a lived present and dreams of an ideal future Carel Bertram discovered this truth when she went to Turkey in the 1990s and began asking people about their memories of the Turkish house The fondness and nostalgia with which people recalled the distinctive wooden houses that were once ubiquitous throughout the Ottoman Empire made her realize that the Turkish house carries rich symbolic meaning In this delightfully readable book Bertram considers representations of the Turkish house in literature art and architecture to understand why the idea of the house has become such a potent signifier of Turkish identity Bertram's exploration of the Turkish house shows how this feature of Ottoman culture took on symbolic meaning in the Turkish imagination as Turkey became more Westernized and secular in the early decades of the twentieth century She shows how artists writers and architects all drew on the memory of the Turkish house as a space where changing notions of spirituality modernity and identity as well as the social roles of women and the family could be approached contested revised or embraced during this period of tumultuous change

Housing, Urban Renewal and Socio-Spatial Integration Xiaoxi Hui, 2013-02-07 This issue of A BE addresses two critical urban issues China faces today housing and urban renewal In the recent two decades the Chinese urban housing stock underwent a significant if not extreme transformation From 1949 to 1998 the urban housing stock in China largely depended on the public sector and a large amount of public housing areas were developed under the socialistic public housing system in Beijing and other Chinese cities Yet in 1998 a radical housing reform stopped this housing system Thus most of the public housing stock was privatized and the urban housing provision was conferred to the market The radical housing privatization and marketization did not really resolve but intensified the housing problem Along with the high speed urbanization the alienated capitalized and speculative housing stock caused a series of social and spatial problems The Chinese government therefore attempted to reestablish the social housing system in 2007 However the unbalanced structure of the Chinese urban housing stock has not been considerably optimized and the housing problem is still one of the most critical challenges in China

The Body and the City Steve Pile, 2013-02-01 Over the last century psychoanalysis has transformed the ways in which we think about our relationships with others Psychoanalytic concepts and methods such as the unconscious and dream analysis have greatly impacted on social cultural and political theory Reinterpreting the ways in which Geography has explored people's mental maps and their deepest feelings about places The Body and the City outlines a new cartography of the subject The author maps key coordinates of meaning identity and power across the sites of body and city Exploring a wide range of critical thinking particularly the work of Lefebvre Freud and Lacan he analyses the dialectic between the individual and the external world to present a pathbreaking psychoanalysis of space

Toward Spatial Humanities Ian N. Gregory, Alistair Geddes, 2014-04-14 The application of Geographic Information Systems GIS to issues in history is among the most exciting developments in both digital and spatial humanities Describing a wide variety of applications the essays in this volume highlight the methodological and substantive implications of a spatial approach to history They illustrate how the use of GIS is changing our understanding of the geographies of the past and has become the basis for new ways to study history Contributors focus on current developments in the use of historical sources and explore the insights gained by applying GIS to develop historiography Toward Spatial Humanities is a compelling demonstration of how GIS can contribute to our historical understanding

Sensuous Geographies Paul Rodaway, 2002-09-11 The contemporary challenge of postmodernity draws our attention to the nature of reality and the ways in which experience is constructed Sensuous Geographies explores our immediate sensuous experience of the world Touch smell hearing and sight the four senses chiefly relevant to geographical experience both receive and structure information The process is mediated by historical cultural and technological factors Issues of definition are illustrated through a variety of sensuous geographies Focusing on postmodern concerns with representation the book brings insights from individual perceptions and cultural observations to an analysis of the senses challenging us to reconsider the role of the sensuous as not merely the physical basis of understanding but as an integral part of the cultural definition of geographical knowledge     The Spatial Humanities David J. Bodenhamer, John Corrigan, Trevor M. Harris, 2010 Applying the analytical tools of GIS to new fields of research     The New Chinese City John Logan, 2011-07-18 Urbanisation and urban development issues are the focus of this comprehensive account which introduces readers to the far reaching changes now taking place in Chinese cities     Planning in Postmodern Times Philip Allmendinger, 2002-01-04 Postmodern social theory has provided significant insights into our understanding of society and its components Key thinkers including Foucault Baudrillard and Lyotard have challenged existing ideas about power and rationality in society This book analyses planning from a postmodern perspective and explores alternative conceptions based on a combination of postmodern thinking and other fields of social theory In doing so it exposes some of the limits of postmodern social theory while providing an alternative conception of planning in the twenty first century This title will appeal to anyone interested in how we think and act in relation to cities urban planning and governance
