of knowledge contend at the birth of modern science or better yet contend in our modern efforts to understand that birth. Related to this continuity and discontinuity so opposed to each other are interwoven in the interpretive writings ever since those striking works of Duhem in the first years of this century and the later studies of Annaliese Maier, Alexandre Koyre and E. A. Moody. Historiographer as well as philosopher, WaUace has critically supported the continuity of scientific development without abandoning the revolutionary transformative achievement of Galileo's labors. That continuity had its contemporary as well as developmental quality and we note that William Wallace's Prelude studies are complementary to Maurice A.

Contesting the Middle Ages John Aberth, 2018-10-03. Contesting the Middle Ages is a thorough exploration of recent arguments surrounding nine hotly debated topics: the decline and fall of Rome, the Viking invasions, the Crusades, the persecution of minorities, sexuality in the Middle Ages, women within medieval society, intellectual and environmental history, the Black Death, and lastly the waning of the Middle Ages. The historiography of the Middle Ages, a term in itself controversial amongst medieval historians, has been continuously debated and rewritten for centuries. In each chapter, John Aberth sets out key historiographical debates in an engaging and informative way, encouraging students to consider the process of writing about history and prompting them to ask questions even of already thoroughly debated subjects such as why the Roman Empire fell or what significance the Black Death had both in the late Middle Ages and beyond. Sparking discussion and inspiring examination of the past and its ongoing significance in modern life, Contesting the Middle Ages is essential reading for students of medieval history and historiography.

Bonaventure's Aesthetics Thomas J. McKenna, 2020-12-10. The authors of the standard approach to Bonaventure's aesthetics established the broad themes that continue to inform the current interpretation of his philosophy, theology, and mysticism: of beauty, his definition of beauty and its status as a transcendental, of being, his description of the aesthetic experience and the role of that experience in the soul's ascent into God. Nevertheless, they also introduced a series of pointed questions that the current literature has not adequately resolved. In Bonaventure's Aesthetics: The Delight of the Soul in Its Ascent into God, Thomas J. McKenna provides a comprehensive analysis of Bonaventure's aesthetics, the first to appear since Balthasar's Herrlichkeit, and argues for a resolution to these questions in the context of his principal aesthetic text, the Itinerarium mentis in Deum.

Renaissance Syntax and Subjectivity John C. Leeds, 2017-03-02. The relationship between Latin and the Scots vernacular in the chronicle literature of 16th-century Scotland provides the topic for this study. John Leeds here shows how the disposition of grammatical subjects in the radically dissimilar syntactic systems of humanist neo-Latin and Scots conditions the way in which the subject, i.e. the human individual and its actions, are conceived in the writing of history. In doing so, he extends the boundaries of existing critical literature on early modern subjectivity to include the subject of grammar, analyzing its incorporation into narrative sentences and illuminating the ideological contents of different systems for its deployment Though focused on the chronicles of Renaissance Scotland the argument can in principle be applied to the entire range of Latin vernacular relations during the early modern period While examining the intellectual culture of early modernity Leeds also takes aim at every stage of his argument at the semiotic and social constructionist orthodoxies that dominate the humanities today Against the notion that human subjects are discursive constructs he argues for the subordination of discourse to realities both material and immaterial that are external to language As part of this argument he proposes a view of neo Latin humanism as a resistance to the onset of modernity arguing that Latin prose provides options at once syntactic ideological and ontological that vernacular culture has to its considerable detriment foreclosed In sum Leeds advocates a renewed and theoretically informed commitment to the humanism that the humanities themselves have been at such pains during the last scholarly generation to depreciate
