

An aerial photograph of a residential area at night. A large group of cars, appearing as bright white shapes, is parked along a curved street in the center-right of the image. To the left of the cars, there is a small, light-colored building with two windows. Further to the left, there is a small, irregularly shaped pond or pool of water. In the upper left corner, there is a larger, multi-story building. In the upper right corner, there is another multi-story building. The overall scene is dark, with the cars and buildings providing the main sources of light.
