Phylogenetic Fantasy Overview Of The Transference Neuroses:

A Phylogenetic Fantasy Sigmund Freud, 1987 This volume heralds the appearance for the first time in many years of a totally new document by Sigmund Freud It is the draft of a lost metapsychological paper one of twelve essays written during World War I at the peak of the master's powers Freud intended to publish all twelve in book form under the title Preliminaries to a Metapsychology and thereby set out the theoretical foundations of psychoanalysis Scholars have long lamented the disappearance without a trace of seven of these important essays Only in 1983 did Ilse Grubrich-Simitis happen upon this draft in Freud's handwriting in an old trunk containing papers and documents of his Hungarian collaborator Sándor Ferenczi With the help of a brief letter Freud had written on the back of the last page she soon realized that the manuscript she had found was the draft of the final paper in the series That draft is published here in facsimile together with a transcription in German of the facsimile and the English translation In the first part of the draft which is written in a kind of shorthand Freud contrasts the three classic transference neuroses anxiety hysteria conversion hysteria and obsessional neurosis In the second part which is written in complete sentences Freud undertakes a daringly speculative phylogenetic fantasy He explores whether the debilitating illnesses of the neurotic and the psychotic today might have originated long ago as adaptive responses of the entire species to threatening environmental changes or to traumatic events in the prehistory of mankind In the draft Fantasy Freud modifies and expands the line of reasoning he began in Totem and Taboo 1912-13 after an intensely productive exchange with Ferenczi about Lamarckian concepts making this recovered draft of major significance to students not only of psychoanalysis but also of the social sciences humanities and natural sciences Ilse Grubrich-Simitis has contributed a detailed essay setting the overview in the context of Freud's life his work and his historical and scientific prominence She quotes from relevant letters of Freud and Ferenczi some published here for the first time

Psychopathologies of the Living Patrick ffrench, Nigel Saint, 2025-09-17 Psychopathologies of the Living makes the work of the French psychoanalyst Pierre F. de la 1934-2002 available in English for the first time Patrick ffrench and Nigel Saint present key essays selected from F. de la's extensive oeuvre The book directs attention to two salient dimensions of F. de la's writing his attention to the pathologies of the body considered as both a psychic and somatic entity and his insistence on the relevance of psychoanalytic thought to the sciences of life The chapters included in this collection detail F. de la's creative use of aesthetic sources in his psychoanalytic work his distinctive and creative manipulation and revision of central psychoanalytic concepts and his precise attention to the texts of Freud Ferenczi and Winnicott among others This selection of F. de la's essays also shows his avoidance of thematisation or explicit theorisation for F. de la the theory of psychoanalysis must arise out of the specific interplay of language and the space of the session Psychopathologies of the Living will be of great interest to psychoanalysts in practice and in training and to academics and scholars of philosophy aesthetics and literary studies

Maladapting Minds Pieter R. Adriaens,Andreas De Block,2011-03-10 Ever since Darwin psychiatrists have been tempted to put evolutionary theory to use in their efforts to understand and explain mental disorders Varying in success scope and scientific rigour these attempts have often caught the attention of philosophers There are many studies about how the philosophy of psychiatry has been informed by twentieth century continental philosophy in focusing on topics such as embodiment narrativity and gender as well as analytic philosophy in focusing on more conceptual issues Thus far however there are simply no studies about how philosophical issues in psychiatric theory and practice can be and have been informed by evolutionary theory Maladapted Minds explores the relationship between evolutionary theory and philosophy of psychiatry In particular it discusses a number of reasons why philosophers of psychiatry should take an interest in evolutionary explanations of mental disorders and more generally in evolutionary thinking The many chapters deal with evolutionary accounts of various mental disorders including phobias fetishism developmental disorders depression autism spectrum disorders and schizophrenia Written by both world class philosophers psychologists and evolutionary psychiatrists this volume illustrates that many debates in contemporary philosophy of psychiatry are profoundly influenced by evolutionary approaches to mental disorders In doing so it represents the very first attempts to critically explore the interface between evolutionary theory and philosophy of psychiatry It is important reading for psychiatrists philosophers of mind and evolutionary psychologists Storytracking Sam D. Gill, 1998-02-12

Storytracking is a work of theory and application It is both a study of history and culture and the academic issues accompanying the interpretation and observation of other peoples Sam Gill writes about Central Australia but more importantly he writes about the business of trying to live responsibly and decisively in a postmodern world faced with irreconcilable diversity and complexity with undeniable ambiguity and uncertainty Storytracking includes engaging accounts of many of the colorful figures involved in the nineteenth century development of Central Australia and it is an argument for a multiperspectival theory of history It presents descriptions of an important aboriginal culture the Arrernte and it critically examines ethnography It exposes the colonialist underbelly of all modern academic culture study yet it embraces the situation as one of creative potential outlining an interactivist epistemology with which to negotiate the classical alternatives of objectivism and subjectivism Gill presents an examination of the emergent academic study of religion focused on two exemplary scholars Mircea Eliade and Jonathan Smith offering a play theory of religion as the basis for innovative critical discussions of text comparison interpretation the definition of religion academic writing style and the role of the other Based on painstakingly detailed research Gill exposes disturbing and confounding dimensions of the modern world particularly academia Yet beyond the pessimism that often characterizes postmodernity he charts an optimistic and creative course framed in the terms of play

Death and Mastery Benjamin Y. Fong, 2016-11-08 The first philosophers of the Frankfurt School famously turned to the psychoanalytic theories of Sigmund Freud to supplement their Marxist analyses of ideological subjectification Since the collapse of their proposed marriage of Marx and Freud psychology and social theory have grown apart to the impoverishment of both Returning to this union Benjamin Y Fong reconstructs the psychoanalytic foundation stone of critical theory in an effort to once again think together the possibility of psychic and social transformation Drawing on the work of Hans Loewald and Jacques Lacan Fong complicates the famous antagonism between Eros and the death drive in reference to a third term the woefully undertheorized drive to mastery Rejuvenating Freudian metapsychology through the lens of this pivotal concept he then provides fresh perspective on Theodor Adorno Max Horkheimer and Herbert Marcuse's critiques of psychic life under the influence of modern cultural and technological change The result is a novel vision of critical theory that rearticulates the nature of subjection in late capitalism and renews an old project of resistance

The Maternalists Shaul Bar-Haim, 2021-08-06 The Maternalists is a study of the hitherto unexplored significance of utopian visions of the state as a maternal entity in mid twentieth century Britain Demonstrating the affinities between welfarism maternalism and psychoanalysis Shaul Bar Haim suggests a new reading of the British welfare state as a political project After the First World War British doctors social thinkers educators and policy makers became increasingly interested in the contemporary turn being made in psychoanalytic theory toward the role of motherhood in child development These public figures used new notions of the maternal to criticize modern European culture and especially its patriarchal domestic structure This strand of thought was pioneered by figures who were well placed to disseminate their ideas into the higher echelons of British culture education and medical care Figures such as the anthropologists Bronislaw Malinowski and Geza R heim and the psychiatrist Ian Suttie to mention only a few of the maternalists discussed in the book used psychoanalytic vocabulary to promote both imagined perceptions of motherhood and their idea of the real essence of the maternal In the 1930s as European fascism took hold the maternal became a cultural discourse of both collective social anxieties and fantasies as well as a central concept in many strands of radical and even utopian political thinking During the Second World War and even more so in the postwar era psychoanalysts such as D W Winnicott and Michael Balint responded to the horrors of the war by drawing on interwar maternalistic thought making a demand to maternalize British society and providing postwar Britain with a new political idiom for defining the welfare state as a project of collective care

Lacan and the Biblical Ethics of Psychoanalysis Itzhak Benyamini, 2023-12-08 In this fascinating and ground breaking book Itzhak Benyamini uses discourse analysis to lay out the way Lacan constructed his own intellectual discourse informed by Judeo Christianity Offering an understanding of Lacan s emergence and intellectual struggles with significant contemporary intellectuals the author builds a panoramic view of the entire psychoanalytic discourse at the time of the foundational post Freudian generation By engaging in close reading of texts and seminars given by Lacan between the 1930s and 50s Benyamini uncovers the coming into being of Lacan s key concepts The Mirror Stage the Imaginary the Real the Symbolic the Name of the Father the Other jouissance and das Ding The author argues that Lacan wished to regulate this process of conceptualization by connecting the concepts of the Father and the Other with themes from the Judeo Christian tradition especially the Biblical one to create a clinical ethic that does not reflect a worldview or ideology and is guided solely by the analyzand s unconscious desire

Freud and Culture Eric Smadja, 2018-05-08 In this book Eric Smadja explores the representations of society and culture that Freud developed in the course of his work Distinct from contemporary sociological and anthropological conceptions they led to his construction of a personal socio anthropology that was virulently criticised by the social sciences But what exactly is meant here by culture and society Do we mean Freud s own Viennese society or Western civilised society in general In addition Freud was interested in historical and primitive societies from the evolutionist perspective of the British anthropologists of his time This book considers the interrelationship between these different societies and cultures and raises many questions What constitutes a culture What are its essential traits its functions its relationships with society with nature and with other aspects of reality or of the external world How did Freud construct the idea of culture What roles does culture play in the development of the individual in the construction and functioning of his or her psyche

A Geography of Victorian Gothic Fiction Robert Mighall, 2003 This is the first major full length study of Victorian Gothic fiction Combining original readings of familiar texts with a rich store of historical sources A Geography of Victorian Gothic Fiction is an historicist survey of nineteenth century Gothic writing from Dickens to Stoker Wilkie Collins to Conan Doyle through European travelogues sexological textbooks ecclesiastic histories and pamphlets on the perils of self abuse Critics have thus far tended to concentrate on specific angles of Gothic writing gender or race or the belief that the Gothic returned at the so called fin de siècle Robert Mighall by contrast demonstrates how the Gothic mode was active throughout the Victorian period and provides historical explanations for its development from late eighteenth century through the Urban Gothic fictions of the mid Victorian period the Suburban Gothic of the Sensation vogue through to the somatic horrors of Stevenson Machen Stoker and Doyle at the century's close Mighall challenges the psychological approach to Gothic fiction which currently prevails demonstrating the importance of geographical historical and discursive factors that have been largely neglected by critics and employing a variety of original sources to demonstrate the contexts of Gothic fiction and explain its development in the Victorian period
