

READING THE AFRICAN NOVEL

Simon Gilman

What is the history of the African novel? What is the history of the novel?

Of course, there is no such thing as a neutral and objective historical methodology. However, what is the history of the novel?

Reading the African novel is a complex and often painful experience. It is a journey into the heart of the continent of Africa, a journey into the heart of the continent

of Africa, a journey into the heart of the continent

The African Novel in English M. Keith Booker,1998 In this volume Keith Booker provides an introduction to eight African novels written in English Bantu Studies and General South African Anthropology ,1929 Includes music The Psychic Hold of Slavery Soyica Diggs Colbert,Robert J. Patterson,Aida Levy-Hussen,2016-07-20 What would it mean to get over slavery Is such a thing possible Is it even desirable Should we perceive the psychic hold of slavery as a set of mental manacles that hold us back from imagining a postracist America Or could the psychic hold of slavery be understood as a tool helping us get a grip on the systemic racial inequalities and restricted liberties that persist in the present day Featuring original essays from an array of established and emerging scholars in the interdisciplinary field of African American studies The Psychic Hold of Slavery offers a nuanced dialogue upon these questions With a painful awareness that our understanding of the past informs our understanding of the present and vice versa the contributors place slavery s historical legacies in conversation with twenty first century manifestations of antiblack violence dehumanization and social death Through an exploration of film drama fiction performance art graphic novels and philosophical discourse this volume considers how artists grapple with questions of representation as they ask whether slavery can ever be accurately depicted trace the scars that slavery has left on a traumatized body politic or debate how to best convey that black lives matter The Psychic Hold of Slavery thus raises provocative questions about how we behold the historically distinct event of African diasporic enslavement and how we might hold off the transhistorical force of antiblack domination

China in Twentieth- and Twenty-First-Century African Literature Duncan M. Yoon,2023-06-15 China in Twentieth and Twenty First Century African Literature unpacks the long standing complexity of exchanges between Africans and Chinese as far back as the Cold War and beyond This scope encompasses how China which emerged as a main engine of the world economy by the end of the twentieth century has transformed patterns of globalization across the continent In this ground breaking work on cultural representations Duncan M Yoon examines the controversial symbol of China in African literature He reads acclaimed authors like Kofi Awoonor Henri Lopes and Bessie Head as well as contemporary writers including Ufrieda Ho Kwei Quartey and Yvonne Adhiambo Owuor Each chapter focuses on a genre such as poetry detective fiction memoir and the novel drawing out themes like resource extraction diaspora gender and race Yoon demonstrates how African creative voices grapple with and make meaning out of the possibilities and limitations of globalization in an increasingly multipolar world

The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean Since 1950 Simon Gikandi, 2016 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 examines the institutional and social peculiarities that make fiction produced in Africa and the Atlantic World since 1950 important to the history of the novel in English

Print Culture in Southern Africa Caroline Davis, Archie Dick, Elizabeth le Roux, Dennis Walder, 2021-07-29 Print Culture in Southern Africa is concerned with the institutions and processes informing textual production circulation and consumption in the region over a broad historical period from the late 18th century to the present day The book is organised around three closely related themes Firstly it presents original research into the formation of reading publics and the impact of reading cultures by uncovering obscure but important reading communities and circuits of book distribution and reception A second theme is the relationship between print and politics with a particular focus on the networks of power how control over the production and circulation of printed books has shaped literary and cultural development The third theme is transnational print culture and how the control exercised by publishers in Europe and America has shaped literature and society in southern Africa Drawing together interdisciplinary research and diverse methodologies the collection encompasses a range of perspectives including literary studies anthropology publishing studies the history of the book and art history and many of the chapters are based on previously unexamined archives and collections The volume contributes to current debates and opens up new and exciting ways of furthering the study of postcolonial literature and African book history The chapters included in this book were originally published in the Journal of Southern African Studies

African Ecomedia Cajetan Iheka, 2021-08-23 In African Ecomedia Cajetan Iheka examines the ecological footprint of media in Africa alongside the representation of environmental issues in visual culture Iheka shows how through visual media such as film photography and sculpture African artists deliver a unique perspective on the socioecological costs of media production from mineral and oil extraction to the politics of animal conservation Among other works he examines Pieter Hugo's photography of electronic waste recycling in Ghana and Idrissou Mora Kpai's documentary on the deleterious consequences of uranium mining in Niger These works highlight not only the exploitation of African workers and the vast scope of environmental degradation but also the resourcefulness and creativity of African media makers They point to the unsustainability of current practices while acknowledging our planet's finite natural resources In foregrounding Africa's centrality to the production and disposal of media technology Iheka shows the important place visual media has in raising awareness of and documenting ecological disaster even as it remains complicit in it
