Victorian Culture and Experiential Learning Kevin A. Morrison, 2022-03-14 This book is a crucial resource for instructors interested in bringing the past alive for their students through hands on immersive educational experiences While sharing a common historical field the contributors hail from multiple disciplines including art history human biology biological anthropology and English literature Ranging from assignments that involve students editing and annotating a primary work to producing an array of digital projects and from participating in study abroad programs to taking part in service learning initiatives the chapters will furnish readers with strategies for creating engaged and dynamic classrooms Although the focus of the book is on Victorian Britain the pedagogical approaches outlined in each chapter will be useful to instructors of any historical field

Reading the Thread Lesley Millar, Alice Kettle, 2024-12-26 Reading the Thread brings together artists theorists and designers to explore the nature and use of cloth as a means of record and communication Cloth is constructed from threads and in acknowledging its qualities of recording or communicating a story we are reading the threads the read thread There is also however an East Asian myth that when you are born you are linked by an invisible red thread to your soul mate no matter what you do this red thread connects you to your fate and although the thread may become tangled or infinitely long it will never break Exploring histories of making and cultural practices a multidisciplinary team of international scholars use the metaphorical thread to link the experiences of cloth production lineage practices contemporary challenges and sustainable futures and to explore through imagery and ideas the agency of cloth to shape and communicate the sensations and emotions connected with human experience Divided into four sections on reading cloth challenging the stories it tells following the thread of its narrative and finally anticipating its future The Read Thread allows a variety of viewpoints and a diversity of voices without favouring theory or specific cultural approaches to interrogate cloth as a record of experience within its social historical psychological and cultural context the authors explore our encounters with cloth and its role in the exploration of identity and biography representative of passage exchange life and death Provocative and timely and beautifully illustrated with over 50 color images it is vital reading for students and scholars of textiles fashion material culture art and anthropology

Eating the Ocean Brian Payne, 2022-12-02 During the first half of the twentieth century Canadian fisheries regularly produced more fish than markets could absorb driving down profits and wages To address this both industry and government sought to stimulate domestic consumption via increased advertising In Eating the Ocean Brian Payne explores how government funded marketing called upon Canadian housewives to prepare more seafood meals to improve family health and aid an industry central to Canadian identity and heritage The goal was first to make seafood a central element of a wholesome diet as a solution to a perceived nutritional crisis and second to aid industry recovery and growth while decreasing Canadian fisheries dependency on foreign markets But fishery managers and policymakers fundamentally miscalculated consumer demand wrongly assuming that Canadians could and would eat more seafood Fisheries continued to extract more fish than the environment and the market could sustain and the collapse of the nation's fisheries that we are now seeing has as much to do with failed assessments of market demand as it does with faulty extraction practices Using internal communications between industry leaders and Ottawa bureaucrats as well as advertising and promotional material published in the nation's leading magazines national and local newspapers and radio programming Eating the Ocean traces the flawed understanding of not only supply but demand a misguided gamble that caused fisheries to become the most mismanaged resource economy in early twentieth century Canada

Preserving Family Recipes Valerie J. Frey,2015-11-01 Heirloom dishes and family food traditions are rich sources of nostalgia and provide vivid ways to learn about our families past yet they can be problematic Many family recipes and food traditions are never documented in written or photographic form existing only as unwritten know how and lore that vanishes when a cook dies Even when recipes are written down they often fail to give the tricks and tips that would allow another cook to accurately replicate the dish Unfortunately recipes are also often damaged as we plunk Grandma s handwritten cards on the countertop next to a steaming pot or a splattering mixer shortening their lives This book is a guide for gathering adjusting supplementing and safely preserving family recipes and for interviewing relatives collecting oral histories and conducting kitchen visits to document family food traditions from the everyday to special occasions It blends commonsense tips with sound archival principles helping you achieve effective results while avoiding unnecessary pitfalls Chapters are also dedicated to unfamiliar regional or ethnic cooking challenges as well as to working with recipes that are orphans surrogates or terribly outdated Whether you simply want to save a few accurate recipes help yesterday s foodways evolve so they are relevant for today s table or create an extensive family cookbook this guidebook will help you to savor your memories

Gift Upon Gift Dr. Sherri Brown,2010-08-11 This study builds upon recent scholarship exploring the significance of the Old Testament covenant metaphor in the Johannine writings By examining the Gospel of John as a whole through a narrative lens and focusing on several key dialogues the author sheds light on the dialogical nature of the revelatory process and the central role of covenant for the Fourth Evangelist Also incorporating recent scholarship that suggests the evangelist understood himself to be writing Scripture based upon fulfillment language present in summary statements across the Gospel and demonstrating a relationship between the Fourth Gospel and ancient drama that renders speech as action this work attempts to construct a new paradigm for reading John against the background of the Old Testament covenant metaphor The claim is twofold the Johannine story of Jesus Christ is a carefully crafted literary treatise theologically underpinned by discourse on covenant and Scripture and the Fourth Evangelist provides catechesis to a believing community on the nature of its faith in the God of Israel s ongoing covenant with the created order By grasping the theological fabric of the evangelist the richness of the dialogue and imagery of his Gospel is allowed to have its full voice in terms of covenant fulfillment and the ongoing commitment of God to a believing people

Doing Research/Reading Research Paul Dowling,Andrew Brown,2012-12-06 This bestselling text enables beginning researchers to organise and evaluate the research they read and to plan and implement small scale research projects of their own It gives structured practical guidance on the development of a research question techniques of data collection qualitative and quantitative forms of analysis the writing and dissemination of research

The authors present research as a principled activity that begins with the establishing and structuring of theoretical and empirical fields and research findings as serving to ask questions of educational practice rather than directing it. This revised and updated second edition includes a new chapter dealing with the complex issue of research ethics. It also includes consideration of digital technologies and new media both as settings of research and research tools. The chapters on qualitative and quantitative analysis have been expanded and the annotated bibliography updated. The authors have been active researchers in educational studies for more than twenty years. They have also supervised numerous doctoral and masters dissertations and taught research methods programmes in various higher education institutions around the world as well as in the Institute of Education University of London.

Hear Her Voice Christine Redwood, 2024-08-01 How does our gender impact our preaching? Can women express anger in a sermon? Why use a first person narrative sermon structure? After preaching for several years, Christine Redwood realized both her preaching role models and her theology had come predominantly from men, so she spent the next six years researching feminist scholars and their readings of stories from the book of Judges. In this accessible book, she shares what she has learnt, including sample sermons and exercises for preachers wanting to grow in their craft. This is essential reading for preachers wanting to amplify marginal voices. Tasteful Domesticity Sarah Walden, 2018-04-25 Tasteful Domesticity demonstrates how women marginalized by gender, race, ethnicity, and class used the cookbook as a rhetorical space in which to conduct public discussions of taste and domesticity. Taste discourse engages cultural values as well as physical constraints and thus serves as a bridge between the contested space of the self and the body, particularly for women in the nineteenth century. Cookbooks represent important contact zones of social philosophies, cultural beliefs, and rhetorical traditions, and through their rhetoric, we witness women's roles as republican mothers, sentimental evangelists, wartime fundraisers, home economists, and social reformers. Beginning in the early republic and tracing the cookbook through the publishing boom of the nineteenth century, the Civil War and Reconstruction, the Progressive era, and rising racial tensions of the early twentieth century, Sarah W. Walden examines the role of taste as an evolving rhetorical strategy that allowed diverse women to engage in public discourse through published domestic texts.

The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Food J. Michelle Coghlan, 2020-03-19 This Companion provides an engaging and expansive overview of gustation, gastronomy, agriculture, and alimentary activism in literature from the medieval period to the present day, as well as an illuminating introduction to cookbooks as literature. Bringing together sixteen original essays by leading scholars, the collection rethinks literary food from a variety of critical angles, including gender and sexuality, critical race studies, postcolonial studies, eco-criticism, and children's literature. Topics covered include mealtime decorum in Chaucer, Milton's culinary metaphors, early American taste, Romantic gastronomy, Victorian eating, African American women's culinary writing, modernist food experiments, Julia Child, and cold war cooking, industrialized food in children's literature, agricultural horror, and farmworker activism, queer cookbooks, hunger as protest, and postcolonial legacy and dude food in contemporary food blogs Featuring a chronology of key publication and historical dates and a comprehensive bibliography of further reading this Companion is an indispensable guide to an exciting field for students and instructors
