Out of the Shadows Kate Bruce, Liz Shercliff, 2024-05-30 The story of the Bible us most often told as the story of men from patriarchs to prophets kings disciples and apostles But women are there sometimes in the background sometimes striding powerfully onto the stage Their stories are frequently moving prophetic and often good news Sometimes they experience appalling violence and abuse which needs to be named In some examples their behaviour is less than appealing and power is misused which needs acknowledgement and exploration In this volume Bruce and Shercliff continue to explore the stories of the women of the bible offering exegesis and comment enabling preachers and readers with a more general interest to encounter and appreciate more of the female characters in scripture Again they seek to inspire imaginative approaches in preachers combining commentary and homiletic textbook

Narrative Ethics in the Hebrew Bible Eryl W. Davies, 2021-08-12 How can the stories of the Hebrew Bible be read for their ethical value Eryl W Davies uses the narratives of King David in order to explore this basing his argument on Martha Nussbaum's notion that a sensitive and informed commentary can unpack the complexity of fictional accounts Davies discusses David and Michal in 1 Sam 19 11 17 David and Jonathan in 1 Sam 20 David and Bathsheba in 2 Sam 11 Nathan's parable in 2 Sam 12 and the rape of Tamar in 2 Sam 13 By examining these narratives Davies shows that a fruitful and constructive dialogue is possible between biblical ethics and modern philosophy He also emphasizes the ethical accountability of biblical scholars and their responsibility to evaluate the moral teaching that the biblical narratives have to offer

Women and Power in the Middle Ages Mary Erler, Maryanne Kowaleski, 1988 Power in medieval society has traditionally been ascribed to figures of public authority violent knights and conflicting sovereigns who altered the surface of civic life through the exercise of law and force The wives and consorts of these powerful men have generally been viewed as decorative attendants while common women were presumed to have had no power or consequence Reassessing the conventional definition of power that has shaped such portrayals Women and Power in the Middle Ages reveals the varied manifestations of female power in the medieval household and community from the cultural power wielded by the wives of Venetian patriarchs to the economic power of English peasant women and the religious power of female saints Among the specific topics addresses are Griselda's manipulation of silence as power in Chaucer's The Clerk's Tale the extensive networks of influence devised by Lady Honor Lisle and the role of medieval women book owners as arbiters of lay piety and ambassadors of culture In every case the essays seek to transcend simple polarities of public and private male and female in order to provide a more realistic analysis of the workings of power in feudal society

Goldthwaite, 2017-06-19 Inspired by the need for interpretations and critiques of the varied messages surrounding what and how we eat Food Feminisms Rhetorics collects eighteen essays that demonstrate the importance of food and food related practices as sites of scholarly study particularly from feminist rhetorical perspectives Contributors analyze messages about food and bodies from what a person watches and reads to where that person shops taken from sources mundane and literary personal and cultural This collection begins with analyses of the historical cultural and political implications of cookbooks and recipes explores definitions of feminist food writing and ends with a focus on bodies and cultures both self representations and representations of others for particular rhetorical purposes The genres objects and practices contributors study are varied from cookbooks to genre fiction from blogs to food systems from product packaging to paintings but the overall message is the same food and its associated practices are worthy of scholarly attention

Power, Politics and Exclusion in Organization and Management Robert McMurray, Alison Pullen, 2019-05-24 There is a long tradition of research on politics power and exclusion in areas such as sociology social policy politics women's studies and philosophy While power has received considerable attention in mainstream management research and teaching it is rarely considered in terms of politics and exclusion particularly where the work of women writers is concerned This second book in the Routledge Series on Women Writers in Organization Studies analyses the ways in which women have theorised and embodied relations of power Women like Edith Garrud who trained in the Japanese art of jujutsu confronted the power of the state to champion feminist politics Others such as Beatrice Webb and Alva Myrdal are shown to have been at the heart of welfare reforms and social justice movements that responded to the worst excesses of industrialisation based on considerations of class and gender The writing of bell hooks provides a necessarily uncomfortable account of the ways in which imperialism white supremacy and patriarchy inflict unspoken harm while Hannah Arendt's work considers the ways in which different modes of organizing restrict the ability of people to live freely Taken together such writings dispel the myth that work or business can be separated from the rest of life a point driven home by Rosabeth Moss Kanter's observations on the ways in which power and inequality differentially structure life chances These writers challenge us to think again about power politics and exclusion in organizational contexts They provide provocative thinking which opens up new avenues for organization theory practice and social activism Each woman writer is introduced and analysed by experts in organization studies Further reading and accessible resources are also identified for those interested in knowing thinking more This book
