Martin Maiden, 2018-09-05 First published in 1991 The existence of morphonology had been the subject of intense debate in twentieth century linguistic theory Attempts to identify putatively morphonological phenomena had often foundered on the widespread assumption of a rigid dichotomy between synchronic morphological structures and the phonetic processes which historically shared them With the difficulties of establishing any role for morphonology clearly identified the author introduces a comparative and historical survey of the morphologization of metaphony in Italian dialects On the basis of this the existence is argued of authentic synchronic morphonological interaction between morphological structures and phonetic processes such that inflectional paradigms serve to specify phonetic details of implementation of incipient sound changes The circumstances under which such interaction may be expected to occur are discussed This book is an important contribution to our understanding of both morphology and phonology taking seriously the implications of abandoning a rigid distinction between synchronic morphology and diachronic phonology It successfully integrates linguistic theory with the analysis of philological data and indicates the direction for future research on morphonology This detailed study of Italian dialects also constitutes a valuable addition to the study of Romance dialectology Phonological Explorations Bert Botma, Roland Noske, 2012-10-30 The 16 papers contained in this volume address a variety of phonological topics from different theoretical perspectives Combined they provide an excellent showcase for the diversity of the field Topics considered include the place of allomorphy in grammar Dutch clippings the status of recursion in phonology the role of contrast preservation in the Grimm Verner push chain the phonological specification of Dutch tense and lax monophthongs the distribution of English vowels in a Strict CV framework a dependency based analysis of Germanic vowel shifts a Radical CV Phonology approach to vowel harmony emergentist vs universalist perspectives on frequency effects in vowel harmony the representation of Limburgian tonal accents durational enhancement in Maastricht Limburgish high vowels constraint conjunction in Mandarin Chinese lexical tone association in Harmonic Serialism a constraint based account of the McGurk effect a case study of the acquisition of liquids in early L1 Dutch and the learnability of segmentation in Tibetan numerals English in the Middle Ages Tim William Machan, 2003-06-05 Professor Machan explores for the first time fully a new dimension in the understanding of the role of the English language in medieval England He is rigorous and sceptical in his examination of assumptions that have come to be too easily accepted about the rise of standard English about linguistic nationalism about the role of Lollardy in fostering the vernacular about the intrinsic funniness of regional dialects He uses literary texts well and offers from his particular linguistic vantage point new and compelling interpretations of the dialect northernisms in Chaucer's Reeve's Tale and of the subtleties of the sociolect of courtly love conversation in Sir Gawain and the Green Knight Derek Pearsall Harvard University What did people in England in the Middle Ages think about language What was their view of English French and Latin and how did this influence the way they communicated This book uses these questions as a basis for a ground breaking investigation into the use and status of the English language in medieval England Professor Machan suggests that many linguistic literary and historical considerations of medieval statements on language have significantly failed to take into account the social and linguistic contexts of their production In this volume he explores not only medieval ideas about language but also the discursive traditions which generated them English in the Middle Ages draws upon a wide range of documentary evidence including most notably the royal letters issued in 1258 prior to the Barons War The author also analyses the language spoken by Chaucer's pilgrims the conversations in Sir Gawain and the Green Knight and many other chronicles poems and commentaries The book concludes with a consideration of the post medieval history of the status of English in law literature and education The book will interest scholars from a range of disciplines particularly linguistics literature and history and is written in clear non technical language

Allan R. Bomhard, 1984-01-01 This book represents the culmination of the author's work to date it incorporates and updates previous articles and adds much new material This book is not nor was it ever intended to be a comparative grammar of either the Indo European or the Afroasiatic language families It is rather a comparison of Proto Indo European with Proto Afroasiatic While this is not the first attempt to demonstrate that Proto Indo European and Proto Afroasiatic are genetically related it is the first to use the radical revision of the Proto Indo European consonantal system proposed by Thomas V Gamkrelidze Paul J Hopper and Vja eslav V Ivanov Moreover unlike previous endeavors this is the first to make extensive use of data from the non Semitic branches of Afroasiatic The assumptions underlying this investigation of the possibility of the common genetic origin of Proto Indo European and Proto Afroasiatic differ considerably from the assumptions made in other works on Nostratic the methodological approach followed in this monograph has been one of rigorous adherence to the time honored principles of comparative reconstruction
