Religion In South Asia:

Religions of South Asia Sushil Mittal, Gene Thursby, 2006-04-18 South Asia is home to many of the world's most vibrant religious faiths. It is also one of the most dynamic and historically rich regions on earth where changing political and social structures have caused religions to interact and hybridise in unique ways. This textbook introduces the contemporary religions of South Asia from the indigenous religions such as the Hindu, Jain, Buddhist and Sikh traditions to incoming influences such as Christianity, Judaism and Islam. In ten chapters it surveys the nine leading belief systems of South Asia and explains their history, practices, values and worldviews. A final chapter helps students relate what they have learnt to religious theory, paving the way for future study. Written by leading experts, Religions of South Asia combines solid scholarship with clear and lively writing to provide students with an accessible and comprehensive introduction. All chapters are specially designed to aid cross-religious comparison following a standard format covering set topics and issues; the book reveals to students the core principles of each faith, compares it to neighbouring traditions and its particular place in South Asian history and society. It is a perfect resource for all students of South Asia's diverse and fascinating faiths. South Asian Religions

Karen Pechilis, Selva J. Raj, 2012-11-27 The religious landscape of South Asia is complex and fascinating. While existing literature tends to focus on the majority religions of Hinduism and Buddhism, much less attention is given to Jainism, Sikhism, Islam or Christianity. While not neglecting the majority traditions, this valuable resource also explores the important role which the minority traditions play in the religious life of the subcontinent, covering popular as well as elite expressions of religious faith. By examining the realities of religious life and the ways in which the traditions are practised on the ground, this book provides an illuminating introduction to religion in South Asia. South Asian Religions on Display

Knut A. Jacobsen, 2008-03-03 Religious procession is a significant dimension of religion in South Asia. Processions are central not only in Hinduism but also in Islam, Christianity, Jainism and Sikhism, which have large procession rituals. The last years have seen an increase in processions and ritualizations of space both in South Asia and in the South Asian Diaspora. Processions are religious display events and the increase in processions are functions of religious pluralism and competition about public space as well as economic prosperity and a revival of religious identities. Processions often bring together religion and politics since they are about public space domination and contestation. Written by leading specialists on religious processions and ritualization of public space in South Asia and in the Diaspora, this volume presents current research on the interpretations of the role of processions, the recent increase in processions and changes in the procession traditions. South Asian Religions on Display will appeal to students and scholars of Asian studies, anthropology, religion and political science.

Media and the Transformation of Religion in South Asia Lawrence A. Babb, Susan S. Wadley, 2016-11-11 This volume explores the effects of the religious transformation taking place in India as sacred symbols assume the shapes of media images. Lifted from their traditional forms and contexts, many religious symbols, beliefs and practices are increasingly refracted through such media as god posters comic books audio recordings and video programs The ten original essays here examine the impact on India's traditional social and cultural structures of printed images audio recordings film and video Contributors Lawrence A Babb Steve Dern John Stratton Hawley Stephen R Inglis John T Little Philip Lutgendorf Scott L Marcus Frances W Pritchett Regula Burckhardt Qureshi H Daniel Smith and Susan S Wadley Religion in South Asia Asghar Ali Engineer, 2005 Though Liberation Theology has yet not struck its roots in South Asia some scholars have however started taking deep interest in it As a result we have begun to see the liberation content in every religion in the region The present book offers the researches of some of these enterprising scholars All the major religions in South Asia namely Hinduism Islam Buddhism and Christianity have been covered here Their liberative content which was hardly discernible stands exposed for people to make use of it The generalists and scholars will it is hoped find the work instructive and inspiring Objects of Worship in South Asian Religions Knut A. Jacobsen, Mikael Aktor, Kristina Myrvold, 2014-08-27

Objects of worship are an aspect of the material dimension of lived religion in South Asia The omnipresence of these objects and their use is a theme which cuts across the religious traditions in the pluralistic religious culture of the region Divine power becomes manifest in the objects and for the devotees they may represent power regardless of religious identity This book looks at how objects of worship dominate the religious landscape of South Asia and in what ways they are of significance not just from religious perspectives but also for the social life of the region The contributions to the book show how these objects are shaped by traditions of religious aesthetics and have become conceptual devices woven into webs of religious and social meaning They demonstrate how the objects have a social relationship with those who use them sometimes even treated as being alive The book discusses how devotees relate to such objects in a number of ways and even if the objects belong to various traditions they may attract people from different communities and can also be contested in various ways By analysing the specific qualities that make objects eligible for a status and identity as living objects of worship the book contributes to an understanding of the central significance of these objects in the religious and social life of South Asia It will be of interest to students and scholars of Religious Studies and South Asian Religion Culture and Society

Religion and Violence in South Asia John Hinnells, Richard King, 2007-01-24 Do religions justify and cause violence or are they more appropriately seen as forces for peace and tolerance Featuring contributions from international experts in the field this book explores the debate that has emerged in the context of secular modernity about whether religion is a primary cause of social division conflict and war or whether this is simply a distortion of the true significance of religion and that if properly followed it promotes peace harmony goodwill and social cohesion Focusing on how this debate is played out in the South Asian context the book engages with issues relating to religion and violence in both its classical and contemporary formations The collection is designed to look beyond the stereotypical images and idealized portrayals of the peaceful South Asian religious traditions especially Hindu Buddhist Jain and Sufi which can occlude their own violent histories and to analyze the diverse attitudes towards and manifestations of violence within the major religious traditions of South Asia. Divided into three sections the book also discusses globalization and the theoretical issues that inform contemporary discussions of the relationship between religion and violence.

Health, Culture and Religion in South Asia Assa Doron, Alex Broom, 2013-09-13 Health Culture and Religion in South Asia brings together top international scholars from a range of social science disciplines to critically explore the interplay of local cultural and religious practices in the delivery and experiences of health in South Asia. Metcalf, 2009-09-08 This volume of Princeton Readings in Religions brings together the work of more than thirty scholars of Islam and Muslim societies in South Asia to create a rich anthology of primary texts that contributes to a new appreciation of the lived religious and cultural experiences of the world's largest population of Muslims. The thirty-four selections translated from Arabic, Persian, Urdu, Bengali, Tamil, Gujarati, Hindavi, Dakhani and other languages highlight a wide variety of genres many rarely found in standard accounts of Islamic practice from oral narratives to elite guidance manuals from devotional songs to secular judicial decisions arbitrating Islamic law and from political posters to a discussion among college women affiliated with an Islamist organization. Drawn from premodern texts, modern pamphlets, government and organizational archives, new media and contemporary fieldwork, the selections reflect the rich diversity of Islamic belief and practice in South Asia. Each reading is introduced with a brief contextual note from its scholar translator and Barbara Metcalf introduces the whole volume with a substantial historical overview.

Health and Religious Rituals in South Asia Fabrizio Ferrari, 2011-03-07 Drawing on original fieldwork, this book develops a fresh methodological approach to the study of indigenous understandings of disease as possession and looks at healing rituals in different South Asian cultural contexts. Contributors discuss the meaning of disease possession and healing in relation to South Asian religions including Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism and Sikhism and how South Asians deal with the divine in order to negotiate health and wellbeing. The book goes on to look at goddesses, gods and spirits as a cause and remedy of a variety of diseases, a study that has proved significant to the ethics and politics of responding to health issues. It contributes to a consolidation and promotion of indigenous ways as a method of understanding physical and mental imbalances through diverse conceptions of the divine. Chapters offer a fascinating overview of healing rituals in South Asia and provide a full-length sustained discussion of the interface between religion, ritual and folklore. The book presents a fresh insight into studies of Asian Religion and the History of Medicine.

Spaces of Religion in Urban South Asia István Keul, 2021-02-25 This book explores religion in various spatial constellations in South Asian cities including religious centres such as Varanasi, Madurai and Nanded and cities not readily associated with religion such as Mumbai and Delhi. Contributors from different disciplines discuss a large variety of urban spaces, physical and imagined, institutional and residential, built and landscaped, virtual and mediated, historical and contemporary. In doing so, the book addresses a wide range of issues concerning the role of religion in the dynamic interplay of factors which characterise complex urban social spaces. Chapters incorporate varying degrees and forms of the religious, spiritual ranging from invisible and incorporeal to material and explicit, embedded in and expressed as spatial politics, works of fiction, mission, pilgrimage, festivals and everyday life. Topics examined include conflictual situations involving places of worship in Delhi, inclusive religious practices in Kanpur, American Protestant mission in Madurai, the celebration of the Prophet's birthday in Lahore, gardens as imaginative spaces, the politics of religion in Varanasi and many others. Illustrating and analysing ways and forms in which religion persists in South Asian urban contexts, this book will be of interest to researchers and students in the fields of cultural studies, the study of religions, urban studies and South Asian studies.

Religion in South Asian Anglophone Literature Sk Sagir Ali, Goutam Karmakar, Nasima Islam, 2021-09-23 This volume studies the representation of religion in South Asian Anglophone literature of the twentieth and twenty first century. It traces the contours of South Asian writing through the consequences of the complex contesting forces of blasphemy and secularization. Employing a cross disciplinary approach it discusses various key issues such as religious fundamentalism, Islamophobia, religious majoritarianism, nationalism and secularism. It also provides an account of the reception of this writing within the changing conceptions of racial Others and cultural difference, particularly with respect to minority writers in terms of ethnic background and lack of access to social mobility. The volume features chapters on key texts including The Hungry Tide, The Enchantress of Florence, In Times of Siege, One Part Woman, Anil's Ghost, The Book of Gold Leaves, Red Earth and Pouring Rain, The Black Coat and Swarnalata among others. An important contribution to the study of South Asian literature, the book will be indispensable for students and researchers of literary studies, religious studies, cultural studies, literary criticism and South Asian studies.
