Religion In Leeds:

Religion and Place in Leeds John Minnis, Trevor Mitchell, 2015-04-01 Religious and cultural diversity has been a key feature of the city of Leeds for almost 200 years and has resulted in the building of many fine churches chapels and synagogues these are now joined by mosques gurdwaras and a mandir Tracing the architectural response to the changing conditions of the inner city and suburbs this book examines the buildings associated with the groups of newcomers to Leeds thus charting a great change in the city's religious life It is suggested that both the brand new purpose built places of worship and the way in which existing buildings have been adapted also reveal significant continuities with how Christian groups expanded in the 19th century The alterations made to Leeds churches to adapt them to changing liturgical requirements and to the pastoral and social requirements of the present day are discussed The context of the architectural expression of faith in Leeds in the 20th and early 21st centuries will also assist those concerned with the conservation of places of worship

Counting Religion in Britain, 1970-2020 Clive D. Field, 2021-12-09 Counting Religion in Britain 1970 2020 the fourth volume in the author's chronological history of British secularization sheds significant new light on the nature scale and timing of religious change in Britain during the past half century with particular reference to quantitative sources Adopting a key performance indicators approach twenty one facets of personal religious belonging behaving and believing are examined offering a much wider range of lenses through which the health of religion can be viewed and appraised than most contemporary scholarship Summative analysis of these indicators by means of a secularization dashboard leads to a reaffirmation of the validity of secularization in its descriptive sense as the dominant narrative and direction of travel since 1970 while acknowledging that it is an incomplete process and without endorsing all aspects of the paradigmatic expression of secularization as a by product of modernization

Secular Theories on Religion Tim Jensen, Mikael Rothstein, 2000 Scholars of religious studies from Europe and North America explore what a secular or scientific study of religion should be like what methods it should apply what aims and what kind of scientific thinking should be pursued They also consider scholars as public intellectuals operating within and influenced by general societal developments The 18 essays provide a survey of current thinking in the field Distributed in the US by ISBS c

The South Asian Religious Diaspora in Britain, Canada, and the United States Harold Coward, John R. Hinnells, Raymond Brady Williams, 2012-02-01 This book explores the experience of religious communities that have migrated from South Asia India Pakistan and Bangladesh to live in Britain Canada and the United States three countries sharing a common language English and an interwoven history The work introduces the migration history of Hindus Muslims and Sikhs along with the cultural nuances of these traditions The contributors discuss the various communities experiences that grow out of or are related to religion The book shows how traditions are reformed or reinvented and how they are passed on both through the family and through institutions Issues related to public policy and minority status are also addressed While the main focus is on the Hindu Muslim and Sikh communities specific sections also cover South Asian Christians the Zoroastrian diaspora and new religious movements in the West led by South Asians The book strikes a balance between stories and statistics in order to emphasize the narrative of the immigrants experience Contributors include Roger Ballard Judith Coney Harold Coward Diana L Eck Yvonne Yazbeck Haddad John R Hinnells Kim Knott Gurinder Singh Mann Sheila McDonough J rgen S Nielsen Joseph T O Connell and Raymond Brady Williams

Religion L. M. Barley,C. D. Field,B. A. Kosmin,J. S. Nielsen,2014-06-28 This volume reviews the publicly available sources of statistical information on religion The majority of this data relates to the Christian churches and is split between the serial or recurrent sources in the first review and the ad hoc survey data in the second The third sets out the available Jewish data which comprise the best recorded and the most extensive of the sources in the non Christian sector and the final review brings together statistical sources on the remaining religions practised in the UK This book will be an invaluable source of information for researchers and practitioners in the field      Secularization in the Long 1960s Clive D. Field,2017-03-16

Secularization in the Long 1960s Numerating Religion in Britain provides a major empirical contribution to the literature of secularization It moves beyond the now largely sterile and theoretical debates about the validity of the secularization thesis or paradigm Combining historical and social scientific perspectives Clive D Field uses a wide range of quantitative sources to probe the extent and pace of religious change in Britain during the long 1960s In most cases data is presented for the years 1955 80 with particular attention to the methodological and other challenges posed by each source type Following an introductory chapter which reviews the historiography introduces the sources and defines the chronological and other parameters Field provides evidence for all major facets of religious belonging behaving and believing as well as for institutional church measures The work engages with and largely refutes Callum G Brown s influential assertion that Britain experienced revolutionary secularization in the 1960s which was highly gendered in nature and with 1963 the major tipping point Instead a more nuanced picture emerges with some religious indicators in crisis others continuing on an existing downward trajectory and yet others remaining stable Building on previous research by the author and other scholars and rejecting recent proponents of counter secularization the long 1960s are ultimately located within the context of a longstanding gradualist and still ongoing process of secularization in Britain      Community Identity Sebastian

Kim,Pauline Kollontai,2007-09-01 The understanding of identity in relation to community has been a focus of academic studies in recent years An exclusive self understanding of the identity of one s own community coupled with a hostile attitude toward other communities often leads to communal conflicts In particular it is important to notice the significance of religion in the re shaping of community identities in this process This volume focuses first on communal or corporate understanding of identity Secondly this volume will assess the topic of identity from the perspectives of theology and religious studies Thirdly the volume will seek to address the issue of interaction between religious communities and wider society by looking at case studies from the Yorkshire area      In Good Faith Marie Parker-Jenkins, Dimitra Hartas, Barrie A. Irving, 2019-05-23 First published in 2005 this timely volume challenges those who see faith schools as contributing positively to the well being of society and responding to parent choice to think through the implications of September 11 for our multi ethnic and multi faith society without taking a position on the ultimate necessity of faith schools The authors conducted research in several faith based schools representative both of older religious traditions in England and Wales and of those which have been more recently established The focus was on state funded faith based schools but a range were visited to provide an overview of issues facing all faith based schools as well as those specific to newly funded institutions      Religion: Empirical Studies Steven J. Sutcliffe, 2017-03-02 Treating religion as a fully social cultural historical and material field of practice this book presents a series of debates and positions on the nature and purpose of the Study of Religions or Religious Studies Offering an introductory guide to this influential and politically relevant academic field the contributors illustrate the diversity and theoretical viability of qualitative empirical methodologies in the study of religions The historical and cultural circumstances attending the emergence defence and future prospects of Religious Studies are documented drawing on theoretical material and case studies prepared within the context of the British Association for the Study of Religions BASR and making frequent reference to wider European North American and other international debates and critiques      Pluralisation of Theologies at European Universities Wolfram Weiße, Julia Ipgrave, Oddbjørn Leirvik, Muna Tatari, 2020 This publication assumes that the modern context of plurality requires universities and higher education to support studying plural religious traditions in depth giving due consideration to plural religious and secular perspectives and providing opportunities for interaction between them There are various ways to realise these aims Success may be supported or hindered by various structures and concepts prevalent in universities or by different schools of thought on the nature of religions on their relation to each other and on their place in society Religions and theologies can be studied in parallel in cooperation in dialogue or through integrative approaches The differing theoretical positions and contextual conditions institutional social political within which inter religious learning takes place are an important focus of this publication both for the possibilities they open up and the limitations they pose This publication builds on the presentations and discussions of scholars participating at a conference at the University of Hamburg in December 2018 with some additional contributions from others in the field who were unable to attend in person      Faith Movements and Social Transformation Samta P. Pandya, 2018-12-11 This book examines the role of Hindu inspired faith movements HIFMs in contemporary India as actors in social transformation It further situates these movements in the context of the global political economy where such movements cross national boundaries to locate believers among the Hindu diaspora and others In contemporary neoliberal India HIFMs have become important actors and they realize themselves by making public assertions through service The four pillars of the contemporary presence of such movements are gurus sociality hegemony and social transformation Gurus who spearhead these movements create a matrix of possible meanings in their public discourses which their followers pick up to create messages of personal and social change. Sociality is a core strategy of proliferation across such movements and implies social service which is qualified by memories of the guru and what they are believed to embody. Hegemony is reflected in the fact that social service in such movements often ominously imbibes right wing or far right Hinduism. They propose a model of Hindu inspired social transformation involving faith building into and transforming the civil society. The book discusses in a nuanced way several Hindu inspired faith movements of various hues which have made national and international impact. This topical book is of interest to students and researchers in the fields of sociology, anthropology, social work and social psychology with a special interest in the study of religious movements.

Writing the City in British Asian Diasporas Sean McLoughlin, William Gould, Ananya Jahanara Kabir, Emma Tomalin, 2014-07-11. In 1962 the Commonwealth Immigrants Act hastened the process of South Asian migration to postcolonial Britain. Half a decade later now is an opportune moment to revisit the accumulated writing about the diasporas formed through subsequent settlement and to probe the ways in which the South Asian diaspora can be re conceptualised. Writing the City in British Asian Diasporas takes a fresh look at such matters and will have multi disciplinary resonance worldwide. The meaning and importance of local, multi local and trans local dynamics is explored through a devolved and regionally accented comparison of five British Asian cities: Bradford, the East End of London, Manchester, Leicester and Birmingham. Analysing the writing of these differently configured cities since the 1960s, its main focus is the significant discrepancies in representation between differently positioned texts reflecting both dominant institutional discourses and everyday lived experiences of a locality. Part I offers a comprehensive yet still highly contested reading of each city's archives. Part II examines how the arts and humanities fields of History, Religion, Gender and Literary Cultural Studies have all written British Asian diasporas and how their perspectives might complement the better established agendas of the social sciences. Providing an innovative analysis of South Asian communities and their multi local identities in Britain today, this interdisciplinary book will be of interest to scholars of South Asian Studies, Migration, Ethnic and Diaspora Studies as well as Sociology, Anthropology and Geography.

Towards Religious Competence Hans-Günter Heimbrock, Christoph Th. Scheilke, Peter Schreiner, 2001. In this book, scholars around Europe reflect on the changing role of religious education in a time of growing pluralism in Europe and across the world. The various contributions from different European countries (England and Wales, Germany, Netherlands and Norway) focus on the debate about the existing multicultural and multireligious situation in European societies. Difference and diversity, especially of religion, is seen as a challenge for education in Europe. The chapters mention trends and common challenges for religious education. As a key term of religious education, religious competence is introduced. It includes the ability to deal with religious pluralism and differences in a constructive way. It is argued that contextual religious education facilitates a new religious competence. The book also contains detailed information about current developments in the field of religious education in some European

Valenze,1985-12-01 In a study important to the fields of women s studies and English literature as well as to the religious and social history of Britain Deborah Valenze argues the significance of a cottage based evangelicalism that responded to the transformation of England in the nineteenth century She goes beyond previous treatments of popular religion by offering a glimpse into the lives of humble people for whom a domestic form of religion became the focal point of daily activity In addition she opens up a hitherto unknown aspect of the history of nineteenth century women by demonstrating the importance of working class female preachers vigorous ministers who risked their physical well being and reputations by traveling widely on their own and speaking publicly to audiences of both sexes Using local histories memoirs and the history of Methodist sectarianism to explore conditions confronted by evangelicals Dr Valenze concludes that cottage religion provided the basis for domestic and spiritual ideals of laboring families during a period of tremendous upheaval She shows how this ideology enabled women to challenge the institutions and values of industrial society and to exercise their power in both private and public spheres Originally published in 1985 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
