Inside Early Music Bernard D. Sherman, 2003-10-09 The attempt to play music with the styles and instruments of its era commonly referred to as the early music movement has become immensely popular in recent years For instance Billboard's Top Classical Albums of 1993 and 1994 featured Anonymous 4 who sing medieval music and the best selling Beethoven recording of 1995 was a period instruments symphony cycle led by John Eliot Gardiner who is Deutsche Grammophon's top selling living conductor But the movement has generated as much controversy as it has best selling records not only about the merits of its results but also about the validity of its approach To what degree can we recreate long lost performing styles How important are historical period instruments for the performance of a piece Why should musicians bother with historical information Are they sacrificing art to scholarship Now in Inside Early Music Bernard D Sherman has invited many of the leading practitioners to speak out about their passion for early music why they are attracted to this movement and how it shapes their work Readers listen in on conversations with conductors Gardiner William Christie and Roger Norrington Peter Phillips of the Tallis Scholars vocalists Susan Hellauer of Anonymous 4 forte pianist Robert Levin cellist Anner Bylsma and many other leading artists The book is divided into musical eras Medieval Renaissance Baroque and Classic and Romantic with each interview focusing on particular composers or styles touching on heated topics such as the debate over what is authentic the value of playing on period instruments and how to interpret the composer's intentions Whether debating how to perform Monteverdi's madrigals or comparing Andrew Lawrence King's Renaissance harp playing to jazz the performers convey not only a devotion to the spirit of period performance but the joy of discovery as they struggle to bring the music most truthfully to life Spurred on by Sherman's probing questions and immense knowledge of the subject these conversations movingly document the aspirations growing pains and emerging maturity of the most exciting movement in contemporary classical performance allowing each artist's personality and love for his or her craft to shine through From medieval plainchant to Brahms orchestral works Inside Early Music takes readers whether enthusiasts or detractors behind the scenes to provide a masterful portrait of early music's controversies challenges and rewards

The Ballad-Singer in Georgian and Victorian London Oskar Cox Jensen, 2021-02-18 For three centuries ballad singers thrived at the heart of life in London One of history's great paradoxes they were routinely disparaged and persecuted living on the margins yet playing a central part in the social cultural and political life of the nation This history spans the Georgian heyday and Victorian decline of those who sang in the city streets in order to sell printed songs Focusing on the people who plied this musical trade Oskar Cox Jensen interrogates their craft and their repertoire the challenges they faced and the great changes in which they were caught up From orphans to veterans prostitutes to preachers ballad singers sang of love and loss the soil and the sea mediating the events of the day to an audience of hundreds of thousands Complemented by sixty-two recorded songs this study demonstrates how ballad singers are figures of central importance in the cultural social and political processes of continuity contestation and change across the nineteenth century world

François Couperin and 'The Perfection of Music' David Tunley, 2016-04-15 François Couperin's contribution to the literature of baroque keyboard music has long been recognized François Couperin and The Perfection of Music updates and expands upon David Tunley's valuable 1982 BBC Music Guide to the composer and examines the whole of Couperin's output including the organ masses motets and chamber music in addition to the well known works for harpsichord Taking as its focal point Couperin's concept of the perfection of music through the union of the French and Italian styles this book takes a more analytical approach to Couperin's work Early chapters outline the main contrasting features of the two schools in the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries and it becomes clear that Couperin's expressive power owed much to his fusion of the polarities of the French classical tradition with that of the Italian baroque The book features a number of appendices including the prefaces to Couperin's work both in the original French and in English translation and a glossary of dances of the French baroque

The Supernatural Voice Simon Ravens, 2014 The use of high male voices in the past has long been one of the most seriously misunderstood areas of musical scholarship and practice In opening up this rich subject to readers of all sorts with refreshingly clear perspectives and plenty of new material Simon Ravens well researched book goes a very long way to rectifying matters Ravens writes damnably well and if the story that emerges is necessarily a complex one his treatment of it is always engagingly comprehensible

ANDREW PARROTT Tracing the origins influences and development of falsetto singing in Western music Simon Ravens offers a revisionist history of high male singing from the Ancient Greeks to Michael Jackson This history embraces not just singers of counter tenor and alto parts up to and including our own time but the castrati of the Ancient world the male sopranists of late Medieval and Renaissance Europe and the dual register tenors of the Baroque and Classical periods Musical aesthetics aside to understand the changing ways men have sung high it is also vital to address extra musical factors which are themselves in a state of flux To this end Ravens illuminates his chronological survey by exploring topics as diverse as human physiology the stereotyping of national characters gender identity and the changing of boys voices The result is a complex and fascinating history sure to appeal not only to music scholars but to performers and all those with an interest particularly in early music Simon Ravens is a performer writer and director of Musica Contexta with whom he has performed in Britain and Europe regularly broadcast and made numerous acclaimed recordings Ravens had previously founded and directed Australasia's foremost early music choir the Tudor Consort Between 2002 and 2007 his regular monthly column Ravens View appeared in the Early Music Review to which he still regularly contributes
