Landscapes of Mobility Jennifer Johung,2016-04-22 Our world is unquestionably one in which ubiquitous movements of people goods technologies media money and ideas produce systems of flows Comparing case studies from across the world including those from Benin the United States India Mali Senegal Japan Haiti and Romania this book focuses on quotidian landscapes of mobility Despite their seemingly familiar and innocuous appearances these spaces exert tremendous control over our behavior and activities By examining and mapping the politics of place and motion this book analyzes human beings embodied engagements with their built world and provides diverse perspectives on the ideological and political underpinnings of landscapes of mobility In order to describe landscapes of mobility as a historically socially and politically constructed condition the book is divided into three sections objects contacts and flows The first section looks at elements that constitute such landscapes including mobile bodies buildings and practices across multiple geographical scales As these variable landscapes are reconstituted under particular social economic ecological and political conditions the second section turns to the particular practices that catalyze embodied relations within and across such spaces Finally the last section explores how the flows of objects bodies interactions and ecologies are represented presenting a critical comparison of the means by which relations processes and exchanges are captured depicted reproduced and re embodied

The Migrants Table Krishnendu Ray,2004-09-16 To most of us the food that we associate with home our national and familial homes is an essential part of our cultural heritage No matter how open we become to other cuisines we regard home cooking as an intrinsic part of who we are In this book Krishnendu Ray examines the changing food habits of Bengali immigrants to the United States as they deal with the tension between their nostalgia for home and their desire to escape from its confinements As Ray says This is a story about rice and water and the violations of geography by history Focusing on mundane matters of immigrant life for example what to eat for breakfast in America he connects food choices to issues of globalization and modernization By showing how Bengali immigrants decide what defines their ethnic cuisine and differentiates it from American food he reminds us that such boundaries are uncertain for all newcomers By drawing on literary sources family menus and recipes for traditional dishes interviews with Bengali household members and his own experience as an immigrant Ray presents a vivid picture of immigrants grappling with the grave and immediate problem of defining themselves in their home away from home

Body Matters Luci Attala, Louise Steel, 2019-05-01 Body Matters approaches the material world directly it seeks to remind people that they are the matter of their bodies This volume offers an assortment of contributions from anthropology archaeology and medieval studies with case studies from northern Europe the Near East East Africa and Amazonia which variously draw attention to the multiple shifting materials that comprise impact upon and co create human bodies This lively collection foregrounds myriad material influences interacting with and shaping the human body the chapters come together to illustrate the fundamental fleshy bony suppurating leaky and oozing physicality of being human Ultimately by reminding readers of their indisputable materiality Body Matters seeks to draw people and the rest of the material world together to illustrate that bodies not only seep into and are part of the landscape but equally that people and the material world are inextricably co constitutive Small Town Capitalism in Western India Douglas E.

Haynes,2012-03-12 A history of artisan production in colonial and post independence India and its role in the country s society and economics Reading Cultural Representations of the Double Diaspora Maya Parmar,2019-08-08 Reading Cultural Representations of the Double Diaspora Britain East Africa Gujarat is the first detailed study of the cultural life and representations of the prolific twice displaced Gujarati East African diaspora in contemporary Britain An exceptional community of people this diaspora is disproportionately successful and influential in resettlement both in East Africa and Britain Often showcased as an example of migrant achievement their accomplishments are paradoxically underpinned by legacies of trauma and deracination The diaspora despite its economic success and considerable upward social mobility in Britain has until now been overlooked within critical literary and postcolonial studies for a number of reasons This book attends to that gap Parmar uniquely investigates what it is to be not just from India but too Africa how identity forms within as the study coins the double diaspora Parmar focuses on cultural representation post twice migration via an interdisciplinary methodology offering new contributions to debates within diaspora studies In doing so the book examines a range of cultures produced amongst or about the diaspora including literary representations culinary dance and sartorial practices as well as visual materials The Lives of Others Neel Mukherjee,2025-04-25 Shortlisted for the Man Booker Prize this dazzling Entertainment Weekly saga of epic scope is both a family and a political drama The aging patriarch and matriarch of the Ghosh family preside over their large household made up of their five adult children and their respective children unaware that beneath the barely ruffled surface of their lives the sands are shifting Each set of family members occupies a floor of the home in accordance to their standing within the family Poisonous rivalries between sisters in law destructive secrets and the implosion of the family business threaten to unravel bonds of kinship as social unrest brews in greater Indian society This is a moment of turbulence of inevitable and unstoppable change the chasm between the generations and between those who have and those who have not has never been wider The eldest grandchild Supratik compelled by his idealism becomes dangerously involved in extremist political activism an action that further catalyzes the decay of the Ghosh home Ambitious rich and compassionate The Lives of Others anatomizes the soul of a nation as it unfolds a family history at the same time as it questions the nature of political action and the limits of empathy It is a novel of unflinching power and emotional force      Fashion and Cultural Studies Susan B. Kaiser, Denise N. Green, 2021-11-04 Bridging theory and practice this accessible text considers fashion from both cultural studies and fashion studies perspectives and addresses the growing interaction between the two fields Kaiser and Green use a wide range of cross cultural case studies to explore how race ethnicity class gender and other identities intersect and are produced through embodied fashion Drawing on intersectionality in feminist theory and cultural studies Fashion and Cultural Studies is essential reading for students and scholars This revised edition includes updated case studies and two new chapters The first new chapter explores religion spirituality and faith in relation to style fashion and dress The second offers a critique of beauty and considers dressed embodiment inclusive of diverse sizes shapes and disabilities Throughout the text Kaiser and Green use a range of examples to interrogate the complex entanglements of production regulation distribution consumption and subject formation within and through fashion      Creative Destruction Tyler Cowen, 2009-01-10 A Frenchman rents a Hollywood movie A Thai schoolgirl mimics Madonna Saddam Hussein chooses Frank Sinatra's My Way as the theme song for his fifty fourth birthday It is a commonplace that globalization is subverting local culture But is it helping as much as it hurts In this strikingly original treatment of a fiercely debated issue Tyler Cowen makes a bold new case for a more sympathetic understanding of cross cultural trade Creative Destruction brings not stale suppositions but an economist's eye to bear on an age old question Are market exchange and aesthetic quality friends or foes On the whole argues Cowen in clear and vigorous prose they are friends Cultural destruction breeds not artistic demise but diversity Through an array of colorful examples from the areas where globalization's critics have been most vocal Cowen asks what happens when cultures collide through trade whether technology destroys native arts why and whether Hollywood movies rule the world whether globalized culture is dumbing down societies everywhere and if national cultures matter at all Scrutinizing such manifestations of indigenous culture as the steel band ensembles of Trinidad Indian handweaving and music from Zaire Cowen finds that they are more vibrant than ever thanks largely to cross cultural trade For all the pressures that market forces exert on individual cultures diversity typically increases within society even when cultures become more like each other Trade enhances the range of individual choice yielding forms of expression within cultures that flower as never before While some see cultural decline as a half empty glass Cowen sees it as a glass half full with the stirrings of cultural brilliance Not all readers will agree but all will want a say in the debate this exceptional book will stir      Aphrodite's Tortoise Lloyd Llewellyn-Jones, 2003-12-31 Greek women routinely wore the veil That is the unexpected finding of this meticulous study one with interesting implications for the origins of Western civilisation The Greeks popularly and rightly credited with the invention of civic openness are revealed as also part of a more Eastern tradition of seclusion Llewellyn Jones work proceeds from literary and notably from iconographic evidence In sculpture and vase painting it demonstrates the presence of the veil often covering the head but also more unobtrusively folded back onto the shoulders This discreet fashion not only gave a privileged view of the face to the ancient art consumer but also incidentally allowed the veil to escape the notice of traditional modern scholarship From Greek literary sources the author shows that full veiling of the head and face was commonplace He analyses the elaborate Greek vocabulary for veiling and explores what the veil meant to achieve He shows that the veil was a conscious extension of the house and was often referred to as tegidion literally a little roof Veiling was thus an ingenious compromise it allowed women to circulate in public while maintaining the ideal of a house bound existence Alert to the different types of veil used the author uses Greek and more modern evidence mostly from the Arab world to show how women could exploit and subvert the veil as a means of eloquent sometimes emotional communication First published in 2003 and reissued as a paperback in 2010 Llewellyn Jones book has established itself as a central and inspiring text for the study of ancient women
