Satyajit Ray was India's first film maker to gain international recognition as a master of the medium, and today he continues to be regarded as one of the world's finest directors of all time. This book looks at his work. Satyajit Ray: The Inner Eye Andrew Robinson, 2021-09-23. Akira Kurosawa said of the great director: "Not to have seen the cinema of Ray means existing in the world without seeing the sun or the moon." Martin Scorsese remarked on Ray's birth centenary in 2021: "The films of Satyajit Ray are truly treasures of cinema, and everyone with an interest in film needs to see them." Satyajit Ray: The Inner Eye is the definitive biography, based on extensive interviews with Ray himself, his actors, and collaborators, and a deep knowledge of Bengali culture. Andrew Robinson provides an in-depth critical account of each film in an astonishingly versatile career, from Ray's directorial debut Pather Panchali (1955) to his final feature Agantuk (1991). The third centenary edition includes new material, an epilogue, A century of Ray, about the nature of his genius, a wide-ranging conversation with Ray drawn from the author's interviews, and an updated comprehensive bibliography of Ray's writings.

Now, for the first time, Ray's storyboard is available. Together with interviews by both Ray and Ravi Shankar on various aspects of their collaboration and a scholarly introduction, this is truly a collector's edition.

Satyajit Ray: An Intimate Master Santi Das, 1998-10-16. Satyajit Ray: An Intimate Master is an invaluable source work for studies in the work of Satyajit Ray and offers fascinating reading at the same time. Specially commissioned articles by experts and some of Ray's closest associates, relations, and friends provide insights into the entire range of the creativity of Satyajit Ray, one of the world's greatest filmmakers as artist and designer, writer and filmmaker, and the environment that nurtured him. The contributions unravel features never before touched upon, all those subterranean elements that went into the making of his films and his artistic character. They should serve to open up new approaches to and possibilities for fresh readings of Ray's works in fiction, design, and filmmaking alike. The 400 odd illustrations, several of them appearing in print for the first time, bring together a wide range of film stills, working stills, book illustrations, early drawings and sketches, layouts for advertisement insertions, film posters, brochures, portraits, caricatures, jacket designs, giving viewers a rare chance of studying the entirety of Ray's visual imagination and artistic craftsmanship. The memoir and analytical and critical pieces are supplemented by a comprehensive and thoroughly authenticated documentation covering Ray's biography, a chronology of his films, filmography, synopses and cast credits, awards and honours, his contributions to works by others, discography, bibliography, citations received on several occasions, the text of his earliest literary work, reproductions of his earliest artistic works and portfolios on the making of Pather Panchali, his masterwork, and his involvement with Sandesh, the popular children's periodical launched by his grandfather that Ray revived in 1961 from a passionate concern for the enlightenment of children, a project that grew to be a passion of his in his last years. A selection of reviews of Ray's films, national and international, arranged chronologically and filmwise, offer a record of the world's perception of and response to his films over four decades in historical perspective. The volume, as a whole, the product of several years' research, has drawn on the rich collection of relevant documentary and archival material and memorabilia lying with the Ray family, and with the thoroughness that has gone into its documentation, it will be for several years to come the most authoritative and exhaustive and reliable work on Satyajit Ray.

Speaking of Films Satyajit Ray, 2005-07-25 India's greatest film maker on the art and craft of films. Exactly fifty years ago, in 1955, the release of Pather Panchali heralded the arrival of a master in the world of cinema. Over the next forty years, Satyajit Ray came to be regarded as one of the world's finest film makers ever. Today, more than a decade after his death, he continues to be India's most respected name in international film circles. Apart from his achievements as a director, Ray was also a prolific writer of novels, short stories, and essays on cinema. Speaking of Films brings together some of Ray's most memorable writings on film and film making. With the masterly precision and clarity that characterize his films, Ray discusses a wide array of subjects: the structure and language of cinema, with special reference to his adaptations of Tagore and Bibhutibhusan Bandopadhyay; the appropriate use of background music and dialogue in films; the relationship between a film maker and a film critic; and important developments in cinema, like the advent of sound and colour. He also writes about his own experiences, the challenges of working with rank amateurs, and the innovations called for when making a film in the face of technological, financial, and logistical constraints. In the process, Ray provides fascinating glimpses of the people who worked with him: the intricacies of getting Chhabi Biswas, who had no ear for music, to play a patron of classical music in Jalsaghar; the incredible memory of the seventy-five-year-old Chunibala Devi Indir Thakrun of Pather Panchali; and her remarkable attention to details. This first-ever translation of Bishay Chalachitra, a seminal collection of essays on cinema, Speaking of Films retains the lucidity and simplicity that is a hallmark of Ray's writing and gives an invaluable insight into the mind of a genius.
