Larson, 1983

International Bibliography of Business History Francis Goodall, Terence Richard Gourvish, Steven Tolliday, 1997 Covers the depth and breadth of research in business history Iron Ore Transport on the Great Lakes W. Bruce Bowlus, 2014-01-10 The availability of inexpensive steel so crucial to the United States emergence as a leading industrial power in the late nineteenth century relied upon the rise of an ore transport system on the Great Lakes that would feed American industry as a whole and come to alter the face of the region This detailed history recounts innovations in shipping the improvement of channels and harbors the creation of locks technical advances in loading and unloading equipment and the ability to attract capital and government support to fund the various projects When government support was lacking reinterpretations of the Constitution were introduced to justify federal involvement These changes which often functioned symbiotically represent one of the key untold stories in the spectacular rise of American industry

Negotiating a River Daniel Macfarlane,2014-03-01 It was a megaproject half a century in the making a technological and engineering marvel that stands as one of the most ambitious borderlands undertakings ever embarked upon by two countries The planning and building of the St Lawrence Seaway and Power Project is one of the defining episodes in North American history The project began with transnational negotiations that spanned two world wars and the formative years of the Cold War and included a failed attempt to construct an all Canadian seaway which was scuttled by US national security fears Once an agreement was reached the massive engineering and construction operation began as did the efforts to move people and infrastructure away from the thousands of acres of land that would soon be flooded Negotiating a River looks at the profound impacts of this megaproject from the complex diplomatic negotiations political manoeuvring and environmental diplomacy to the implications on national identities and transnational relations

A Canal Bibliography with a Primary Emphasis on the United States and Canada ,1991

Natural Allies Daniel Macfarlane,2023-08-15 No two nations have exchanged natural resources produced transborder environmental agreements or cooperatively altered ecosystems on the same scale as Canada and the United States Environmental and energy diplomacy have profoundly shaped both countries economies politics and landscapes for over 150 years Natural Allies looks at the history of US Canada relations through an environmental lens From fisheries in the late nineteenth century to oil pipelines in the twenty first century Daniel Macfarlane recounts the scores of transborder environmental and energy arrangements made between the two nations Many became global precedents that influenced international environmental law governance and politics including the Boundary Waters Treaty the Trail Smelter case hydroelectric megaprojects and the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreements In addition to water fish wood minerals and myriad other resources Natural Allies details the history of the continental energy relationship from electricity to uranium to fossil fuels showing how Canada became vital to American strategic interests and along with the United States a major international energy power and petro state Environmental and energy relations facilitated the integration and prosperity of Canada and the United States but also made these countries responsible for the current climate crisis and other unsustainable forms of ecological degradation Looking to the future Natural Allies argues that the concept of national security must be widened to include natural security a commitment to public national and international safety from environmental harms especially those caused by human actions
