Art and technology have been converging rapidly in the past few years an important example of this convergence is the alliance of neuroscience with aesthetics which has produced the new field of neuroaesthetics Irving Massey examines this alliance in large part to allay the fears of artists and audiences alike that brain science may explain away the arts The first part of the book shows how neuroscience can enhance our understanding of certain features of art The second part of the book illustrates a humanistic approach to the arts it is written entirely without recourse to neuroscience in order to show the differences in methodology between the two approaches The humanistic style is marked particularly by immersion in the individual work and by evaluation rather than by detachment in the search for generalizations In the final section Massey argues that despite these differences once the reality of imagination is accepted neuroscience can be seen as the collaborator not the inquisitor of the arts A
