national we group as a way of counteracting Israeli attempts to sow divisions among them whether through Israeli politics or through the dominant public discourse in Israel. However, a closer look reveals the fragility of this homogenizing we image which masks a variety of internal tensions and conflicts. By applying methods and concepts from biographical research and figurational sociology, the articles in this volume offer an analysis of the Middle East conflict that goes beyond the polar opposition between Israelis and Palestinians. On the basis of case studies from five urban regions in Palestine and Israel: Bethlehem, Ramallah, East Jerusalem, Haifa, and Jaffa, the authors explore the importance of belonging, collective self-images, and different forms of social differentiation within Palestinian communities. For each region, this is bound up with an analysis of the relevant social and socio-political contexts and family and life histories. The analysis of locally different figurations means focusing on the perspective of Palestinians as members of different religious, socio-economic, political, or generational groupings and local group constellations, for instance between Christians and Muslims or between long-time residents and refugees. The following scholars have contributed to this volume: Ahmed Albaba, Johannes Becker, Hendrik Hinrichsen, Gabriele Rosenthal, Nicole Witte, Arne Worm, and Rixta Wundrak. Gabriele Rosenthal is a sociologist and professor of Qualitative Methodology at the Center of Methods in Social Sciences, University of Göttingen. Her major research focus is the intergenerational impact of collective and familial history on biographical structures and actional patterns of individuals and family systems. Her current research deals with ethnicity, ethno-political conflicts, and the social construction of borders. She is the author and editor of numerous books, including The Holocaust in Three Generations (2009), Interpretative Sozialforschung (2011), and together with Artur Bogner, Ethnicity, Belonging, and Biography (2009).

Franks and Saracens Avner Falk, 2024-11-29. Franks and Saracens is the first and only book to examine the Crusades from the viewpoint of psychoanalysis, studying the hidden emotions and fantasies that drove the Crusaders and the Muslims to undertake their terrible wars. Using original documents as well as secondary sources, Avner Falk demonstrates that the deepest and most powerful motives for the Crusades were not only religious or territorial or the quest for lands, wealth, or titles, but also unconscious emotions and fantasies about one's country, one's religion, one's enemies, God, and the Devil. Us and Them. The book demonstrates the collective inability to mourn large group losses and the collective needs of large groups, such as nations and religions, to develop a clear identity, to have boundaries, and to have enemies and allies. Falk investigates the unconscious dynamics of the Crusades both on the individual and on the collective level to understand why the Crusading fantasies persisted for nearly two centuries and why the northern Crusades went on until the early fifteenth century. This updated edition adds a new chapter on collective trauma, both as cause and as consequence of the Crusades, and has been fully revised to include literature on trauma and other psychological aspects of the Crusades. Franks and Saracens will be of great interest to historians, political scientists, medievalists, psychologists, psychiatrists, psychoanalysts, anthropologists, and sociologists interested in questions of conflict, fantasy, and identity, collective psychological processes, and to academics of the
