Staats,1999-04-01 Former debutante Margaret Hunter Bridges finds the social skills and personal values she has so carefully cultivated throughout her life becoming increasingly irrelevant in the face of her husband s infidelity and her daughter s accidental death Looking Outward James Shuler,2010-12-01 With all the success of Looking Inward many have asked me for additional poetry and lyrics As I continue traveling down my path of adventure and intrigue Looking Outward shares with the reader some of the many places adventures thoughts and dreams that I have experienced While Looking Inward was more introspective Looking Outward captures the extroverted side of my life The Postsouthern Sense of Place in Contemporary Fiction Martyn Bone,2014-01-13 For generations southern novelists and critics have grappled with a concept that is widely seen as a trademark of their literature a strong attachment to geography or a sense of place In the 1930s the Agrarians accorded special meaning to rural life particularly the farm in their definitions of southern identity For them the South seemed an organic and rooted region in contrast to the North where real estate development and urban sprawl evoked a faceless raw capitalism By the end of the twentieth century however economic and social forces had converged to create a modernized South How have writers responded to this phenomenon Is there still a sense of place in the South or perhaps a distinctly postsouthern sense of place Martyn Bone innovatively draws upon postmodern thinking to consider the various perspectives that southern writers have brought to the concept of place and to look at its fate in a national and global context He begins with a revisionist assessment of the Agrarians who failed in their attempts to turn their proprietary ideal of the small farm into actual policy but whose broader rural aesthetic lived on in the work of neo Agrarian writers including William Faulkner and Eudora Welty By the 1950s adherence to this aesthetic was causing southern writers and critics to lose sight of the social reality of a changing South Bone turns to more recent works that do respond to the impact of capitalist spatial development on the South and on the nation generally including that self declared international city Atlanta Close readings of novels by Robert Penn Warren Walker Percy Richard Ford Anne Rivers Siddons Tom Wolfe and Toni Cade Bambara illuminate evolving ideas about capital land labor and class while introducing southern literary studies into wider debates around social cultural and literary geography Bone concludes his remarkably rich book by considering works of Harry Crews and Barbara Kingsolver that suggest the southern sense of place may be not only post Agrarian or postsouthern but also transnational

Beyond the Looking Glass Robert N. Quinn, 2002-08-20 Beyond the Looking Glass is the story of a young boy who dared to venture outside the boundaries of his small world by stepping through a looking glass that promised not only escape from his rural surroundings but adventure beyond his limited horizon Unlike Alice who found a Wonderland when she passed through her looking glass the author found looking glasses at each turn in the road mirrors that did not reflect the wonders that lay beyond or the Mad Hatter characters he was to encounter along the way Beyond the Looking Glass provides an unique tale of the author s journey through the Rite of Passage toward manhood during the difficult times so many suffered from the Great Depression and World War II The reader experiences the author s immaturity then his gradual maturation as he overcomes many obstacles in his quest to join the navy At the age of sixteen he succeeds in his quest and spends the war years in the Pacific Theater where he participates in the Saipan and Guam amphibious landings and later the re taking of the Philippine Islands where his aircraft carrier suffers a kamikase attack At age fourteen Bob Quinn s travels begin with the encounter of his first looking glass a slow moving freight train
