Nussbaum, Juha Sihvola, 2013-08-02 Sex is beyond reason and yet we constantly reason about it So too did the peoples of ancient Greece and Rome But until recently there has been little discussion of their views on erotic experience and sexual ethics The Sleep of Reason brings together an international group of philosophers philologists literary critics and historians to consider two questions normally kept separate how is erotic experience understood in classical texts of various kinds and what ethical judgments and philosophical arguments are made about sex From same sex desire to conjugal love and from Plato and Aristotle to the Roman Stoic Musonius Rufus the contributors demonstrate the complexity and diversity of classical sexuality They also show that the ethics of eros in both Greece and Rome shared a number of commonalities a focus not only on self mastery but also on reciprocity a concern among men not just for penetration and display of their power but also for being gentle and kind and for being loved for themselves and that women and even younger men felt not only gratitude and acceptance but also joy and sexual desire Contributors Eva Cantarella Kenneth Dover Chris Faraone Simon Goldhill Stephen Halliwell David M Halperin J Samuel Houser Maarit Kaimio David Konstan David Leitaio Martha C Nussbaum A W Price Juha Sihvola Classical Myth Barry B. Handbook of Diachronic Narratology Peter Hühn, John Pier, Wolf Schmid, 2023-07-24 This handbook brings together 42 contributions by leading narratologists devoted to the study of narrative devices in European literatures from antiquity to the present Each entry examines the use of a specific narrative device in one or two national literatures across the ages whether in successive or distant periods of time Through the analysis of representative texts in a range of European languages the authors compellingly trace the continuities and evolution of storytelling devices as well as their culture specific manifestations In response to Monika Fludernik s 2003 call for a diachronization of narratology this new handbook complements existing synchronic approaches that tend to be ahistorical in their outlook and departs from postclassical narratologies that often prioritize thematic and ideological concerns A new direction in narrative theory diachronic narratology explores previously overlooked questions from the evolution of free indirect speech from the Middle Ages to the present to how changes in narrative sequence encoded the shift from a sacred to a secular worldview in early modern Romance literatures An invaluable new resource for literary theorists historians comparatists discourse analysts and linguists

Novel Translations Bethany Wiggin, 2011-06-15 Many early novels were cosmopolitan books read from London to Leipzig and beyond available in nearly simultaneous translations into French English German and other European languages In Novel Translations Bethany Wiggin charts just one of the paths by which newness in its avatars as fashion novelties and the novel entered the European world in the decades around 1700 As readers across Europe snapped up novels they domesticated the genre Across borders the novel lent readers everywhere a suggestion of sophistication a familiarity with circumstances beyond their local ken Into the eighteenth century the modern German novel was not German at all rather it was French as suggested by Germans usage of the French word Roman to describe a wide variety of genres pastoral romances war and travel chronicles heroic narratives and courtly fictions Carried in large part on the coattails of the Huguenot diaspora these romans nouvelles amours secrets histoires galantes and histories scandaleuses shaped German literary culture to a previously unrecognized extent Wiggin contends that this French chapter in the German novel's history began to draw to a close only in the 1720s more than sixty years after the word first migrated into German Only gradually did the Roman go native it remained laden with the baggage from its French origins even into the nineteenth century The Young Wife's Cook Book Hannah Mary Peterson, 2008-08 Hannah Peterson's 1870 The Young Wife's Cook Book is designed to be a complete source of recipes and information for the inexperienced cook a book that she can use to start her household and continue to use as she raises her family The Deserted Wife Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth, 1855

Chaucer and the Early Writings of Boccaccio David Wallace, 1985 David Wallace's examination of the aims and literary affiliations of Boccaccio's early writings provides an indispensable preface to and context for an informed appraisal of Chaucer's usage of Boccaccio Previous studies of the relationship between the work of the two poets have tended to consider Chaucer's borrowings without making a thorough study of the traditions which shaped the Italian writer's work Wallace argues that Boccaccio was not primarily concerned with winning recognition at the Angevin court but was chiefly concerned with fashioning an identity for himself as an illustrious vernacular author Chaucer recognised that both the Filostrato and Teseida derived their basic narrative capabilities from popular tradition analogous to that of the English tail rhyme romance Following a detailed analysis of Chaucer's translation practice in Troilus and Criseyde Wallace concludes that it was Boccaccio's attempt to develop a narrative art occupying the middle ground between popular and illustrious domestic and European traditions that Chaucer found so uniquely congenial and instructive New Jersey Library Bulletin, 1911

The Epic Film Derek Elley, 2013-12-04 As Charlton Heston put it There's a temptingly simple definition of the epic film it's the easiest kind of picture to make badly This book goes beyond that definition to show how the film epic has taken up one of the most ancient art forms and propelled it into the modern world covered in twentieth century ambitions anxieties hopes and fantasies This survey of historical epic films dealing with periods up to the end of the Dark Ages looks at epic form and discusses the films by historical period showing how the cinema reworks history for the changing needs of its audience much as the ancient mythographers did The form's main aim has always been to entertain and Derek Elley reminds us of the glee with which many epic films have worn their label and of the sheer fun of the genre He shows the many levels on which these films can work from the most popular to the specialist each providing a considerable source of enjoyment For instance spectacle the genre's most characteristic trademark is merely the cinema's own transformation of the literary epic's taste for the grandiose Dramatically it can serve many purposes as a resolution of personal tensions the chariot race in Ben Hur of monotheism vs idolatry Solomon and Sheba or of the triumph of a religious code The Ten Commandments Although to many people Epic equals Hollywood throughout the book Elley stresses debt to the Italian epics which often explored areas of history with which Hollywood could never have found sympathy Originally published 1984 Chaucer's Early Poetry

(Routledge Revivals) Wolfgang Clemen, 2013-09-13 First published in 1963 this book provides an account of Chaucer's poetry written before The Canterbury Tales W H Clemen gives full comprehensive and intriguing accounts of three major poems including The Book of the Duchess The House of Fame and The Parliament of Fowls in addition to some other more minor poems from Chaucer's oeuvre The American Catalogue, 1891 American national trade bibliography Poetics of Arabesk in Turkish-German Cinema Nazlı Kilerci-Stevanović, 2025-06-16 This book challenges Eurocentric interpretations of the so called Turkish German cinema from a transnational perspective advocating for a comprehensive reevaluation to encourage enriched dialogues The first part critically assesses dominant media discourses on guest workers and migrants in the historiography of Turkish German cinema arguing for a shift from traditional identity focused narratives to a broader exploration of shared emotions The second part explores Arabesk which while originating as a hybrid musical genre has evolved into a significant cultural force encompassing a range of emotional phenomena Arabesk embodies the visceral often painful expressions of migration and dislocation characterized by a profound emotional intensity It articulates a painful passion and longing for the homeland left behind providing an invaluable method for understanding aesthetic nuances of Turkish German films Arabesk serves as an analytical tool for deconstructing cinematic expressions revealing complex emotional ties and cultivating a feeling of familiarity through the dynamic circulation and exchange of cultural media Thus Arabesk's poetics significantly shape transnational cinema practices and contribute to global cinema discourse Petrarch and the Literary Culture of Nineteenth-century France Jennifer Rushworth, 2017 A consideration of Petrarch's influence on and appearance in French texts and in particular his appropriation by the Avignoneses Was Petrarch French This book explores the various answers to that bold question offered by French readers and translators of Petrarch working in a period of less well known but equally rich Petrarchism the nineteenth century It considers both translations and rewritings the former comprise not only Petrarch's celebrated Italian poetry but also his often neglected Latin works the latter explore

Petrarch's influence on and presence in French novels as well as poetry of the period both in and out of the canon Nineteenth century French Petrarchism has its roots in the later part of the previous century with formative contributions from Voltaire Rousseau and in particular the abbé de Sade To these literary catalysts must be added the unification of Avignon with France at the Revolution as well as anniversary commemorations of Petrarch's birth and death celebrated in Avignon and Fontaine de Vaucluse across the period 1804 1874 1904 Situated at the crossroads of reception history medievalism and translation studies this investigation uncovers tensions between the competing construction of a national French Petrarch and a local Avignonese or Provençal poet Taking Petrarch as its litmus test this book also asks probing questions about the bases of nationality identity and belonging Jennifer Rushworth is a Junior Research Fellow at St John's College Oxford

Theory of Film Siegfried Kracauer, 1997 This study explores the distinctive qualities of the cinematic medium It includes an introduction which examines Theory of Film in the context of Kracauer's extensive film criticism from the 1920s and provides a framework for appreciating its significance in contemporary film theory
