Major Black Religious Leaders Since 194:

James H. Cone and Black Liberation Theology Rufus Burrow, 1994 Since Cone's Black Theology and Black Power was first published in 1969 he has been recognized as one of the most creative contemporary black theologians. Roundly criticized by white theologians, the book and Cone's subsequent writings nevertheless gave voice and viability to the developing black theological movement of the late 1960s. Despite his influence on the African American religious community, scholars have written very little about his works in part because of the sharp rhetoric and polemics of his first two books. Discussed here are some of his major writings from his first essay Christianity and Black Power 1968 through the major work Martin Malcolm America 1991. The systematic development of his themes: social and economic analysis, black sexism, relations between black feminist and so-called third world theologies etc. is fully explained. Black Religion in the Madhouse Judith Weisenfeld, 2025-04-29 Black Religion in the Madhouse traces the encounter between African Americans and American psychiatry in the decades after the end of slavery and into the twentieth century, showing how white psychiatrists pathologized African American religion and exploring the implications of these theories and practices for Black patients.
