God's Daughters R. Marie

Griffith, 1997-10-08 In recent decades religious conservatives and secular liberals have battled over the appropriate role of women in society In this absorbing exploration of Women's Aglow Fellowship the largest women's evangelical organization in the world R Marie Griffith challenges the simple generalizations often made about charismatic or spirit filled Christian women and uncovers important connections between Aglow members and the feminists to whom they so often seem opposed Women's Aglow is an international interdenominational group of spirit filled women who meet outside the formal church structure for healing prayer worship and testimony Aglow represents a wider evangelical culture that has gained recent media attention as women inspired by the Christian men's group Promise Keepers have initiated parallel groups such as Praise Keepers and Promise Reapers These groups are generally newcomers to an institutional landscape that Aglow has occupied for thirty years but their beliefs and commitments are very similar to Aglow's While historians have examined earlier women's prayer groups they've tended to ignore these modern day evangelical groups because of their assumed connection to the religious right God's Daughters reveals a devotional world in which oral and written testimonies recount the afflictions of human life and the means for seeking relief and divine assistance A relationship with God envisioned as father husband or lover and friend is a way to come to terms with pain dysfunctional family relationships and a desire for intimacy Griffith's book is also valuable in showing the complex role that women play within Pentecostalism a movement that
